that the business before the committee was a nullity on the ground that the Prime Minister's motion consisted of the words "at this sitting of the committee", and since those words had reference to Thursday's sitting the motion was not valid at today's sitting; that the validity of the notice given on Wednesday expired in Thursday's sitting, and further it was essential that due notice be given of a motion to be made under the provisions of standing order 33. I ruled that the notice of motion given by the Prime Minister at Wednesday's sitting was effective, and that the motion decided on this day was and is effective in regard to the committee's proceedings. Whereupon Mr. Churchill appealed to the house from the ruling of the chairman.

Mr. Speaker put the question as follows:

Mr. Applewhite reports that in committee of the whole when it was considering clause 4 of Bill No. 298, Mr. Fleming raised a point of order to the effect that the business before the committee was a nullity on the ground that the Prime Minister's motion consisted of the words "at this sitting of the committee", and since those words had reference to Thursday's sitting the motion was not valid at today's sitting; that the validity of the notice given on Wednesday expired in Thursday's sitting, and further it was essential that due notice be given of a motion to be made under the provisions of standing order 33.

The chairman ruled that the notice of motion given by the Prime Minister at Wednesday's sitting was effective, and that the motion decided on this day was and is effective in regard to the committee's proceedings. Whereupon Mr. Churchill appealed to the house from the ruling of the chairman.

The house divided on the question: Shall the ruling of the chairman be confirmed? And the ruling was confirmed on the following division:
