November 10th, 1923.

My dear Sir Arthur:

Let me assure you that I very much appreciate your kind note of the 2nd instant. Like yourself, I am very proud of being one of the small group of Doctors of Law of the University of the State of New York; and it is needless to add that I am also very proud of having received at your hands a similar degree from McGill University in 1921. I have always looked back to that occasion with the greatest pleasure and satisfaction.

Believe me to be, always with best wishes,

Ever faithfully yours,
