

contemplated improvements of the present season, are a new Telegraph Office, a Post Office, and a Customs Office.

Five Series of Religious Meetings have been held upon the Ground,—the one reported in this pamphlet constituting the Sixth. All of the services have been marked by deeply hallowed spiritual influences, and the converting and sanctifying grace of God. Though none of the Religious Services have been uncrowned with the blessing of God in the conversion of men, yet the great advantage of the meetings has resulted from a quickening of the graces of God's people resulting in renewed consecration and a deeper baptism of the Spirit of Christ. Accordingly it has been found that members and ministers returning from these Meetings have almost invariably kindled the flame of revivals upon their respective charges, in which hundreds have been led to Christ.

The favor with which the Reports of the last Camp Meeting were received has induced the writer to prepare the present one, being assured that many hundreds who were unable to attend the Fall Camp Meeting will be both pleased and profited by a pamphlet Report of the same. Among the special attractions of the present publication will be found the Portrait and Sermon by Rev. T. DEWITT TALMAGE, the Jubilee Sermon of Rev. Dr. AYLSWORTH and an extended account of the Special Providence Meeting.

With the hope that the circulation of these pages may help to scatter the seed of life in human hearts, the writer commits this Second Report to the public.
