

CAGGED MAIL CLERKS THEN WENT THRU MAIL

Cool Bandits Posed as the Men
They Robbed to Avert Suspicion
Till Their Work Was Done.

REDDING, Cal., Jan. 5.—The mail car of the Oregon Express, on the Southern Pacific, was robbed early today of all eastern registered mail by two masked men. Three mail clerks were bound and gagged by the robbers, who entered the car while the train was between Redding and Red Bluff. The train pulled into Redding at 6:40 a.m., and the robbers, carrying their loot, dropped off and escaped.

The train left San Francisco at 8:30 last night. When it stopped at Red Bluff, 3 miles south of this city, early today, mail sacks were thrown out and others taken on. One of the three mail clerks was about to leave the car, when the two men moved past him into the car and closed the door. "What's up?" exclaimed Charles J. Rhin, a clerk.

"This is a hold-up," he replied, and he threw a sack into the car with a revolver. Rhin, Robert B. Warner and his assistant, were bound and gagged by the second bandit.

When the train reached Cottonwood, 11 miles north of Red Bluff, the bandits acted as clerks in exchanging mail, without arousing suspicion. At Anderson, five miles further, they repeated the performance, showing familiarity with the clerks' duties.

When the train stopped at Redding, at 6:40, Geo. Westlake, the local clerk, was waiting to receive the mail. The bandits threw open the doors on each side of the car and walked in opposite directions. Westlake thought they were the regular mail clerks.

He threw a sack into the mail car and was surprised that no one received it. A moment later he heard a feeble cry and discovered the plight of the clerks. Mail sacks had been piled on them, but Rhin had managed to loosen his gag.

Strewed over the floor were the wrappings of hundreds of mail packages. Every sack of registered mail had been looted. Posses are seeking the bandits.

Invest in Athabasca Landing—The Great Distributing Centre of the Rich Northland

At last the great Northland is going to come into its own. The steel rails now meet its 4,000 miles of waterways at Athabasca Landing. An outlet is now open for the vast riches of the mine, the forest, the stream and the land. Settlers are pouring in, eager to develop the resources of this wonderful country. Right within the radius of 75 miles of Athabasca Landing, land is being taken up as fast as a dozen surveying parties can subdivide it.

Naturally, Athabasca Landing is experiencing growing pains. It will take a big city to supply the needs of its own immediate territory when fully developed. But Athabasca Landing is destined to be more than a local distributing point. It is designed by Nature to be the distributing centre of the vast Northland. It is the Gateway to the Mackenzie River Basin, the Grand Prairie and Peace River districts. Through Athabasca Landing the incoming thousands of settlers will pass on their way to the last great Northwest. It will be the great purchasing centre of that vast territory, the distributing point for the wholesale trade.

On account of its ideal location and cheap fuel (coal is mined right close to the town) nothing can stop it from becoming a great manufacturing city. Now that the railway is here and shipping facilities to the south secured, Athabasca Landing will become a great fishing port, as the northern lakes abound with superb white fish.

The centre of the best mixed farming country in the West, that alone will make Athabasca Landing a big city. But in addition it is to be the centre of the greatest mineral district in the West, and the distributing centre of the Northland; that means that Athabasca Landing will be one of the biggest cities of the West—a city that will return big profits to the men who secure choice locations before they are held at prohibitive prices.

Far-sighted real estate investors agree that one of the choicest blocks of property in Athabasca Landing was secured by us. We have had our eyes on Athabasca Landing for years, and as soon as railway facilities were assured, we got busy and secured a fine piece of property.

This property will be sold very rapidly, because of its splendid location. Up to January 15th prices will be $125.00 for inside lots and $150.00 for corners. After that date $25.00 will be added to price of each lot. By holding a lot only for a short time you should clear a neat sum.

January 21 has been fixed as the date for the day of prayer throughout the Dominion for the success of this year's plans of the Canadian Laymen's Missionary Movement.

A meeting of the members of the special committee on the plans of work will be held to-night, preceded by a supper at McConkey's. S. J. Moore will preside. General Secretary H. K. Caskey, and the secretaries of the denominational boards will attend.

The vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. W. Anderson, secretary of the Presbyterian Laymen's Missionary Committee, who is taking up pastoral work at Orillia, will be one of the matters to be considered.

Watson has just been appointed secretary of England. He is coming here to study the organization methods which have been so successful in Canada.

DISPENSARY IS OPENED TO TREAT CONSUMPTIVES

Praiseworthy Operations Commenced To Stop Ravages of White Plague in Toronto.

An aggressive campaign against the ravages of tuberculosis has begun in Toronto, and every citizen is urged to be on the lookout for incipient cases of the dread disease.

An innovation has been brought about in preventive treatment in Toronto by the opening of a free dispensary at 347 West King-street, where poor patients will be examined and treated. Nobody can tell the extent of the ravages of tuberculosis until the place is actually visited.

It is a work that should receive the earnest support of everybody who has the least interest in humanity at heart.

In the reception room, where the patients are admitted, is a striking method of showing how the ravages of tuberculosis spread over the city during the year 1910. A large map of Toronto is stretched on the table, and the map is almost covered with black-headed pins, each pin representing a Toronto patient who has actually been in residence at the Western Sanatorium during the seven years of its existence. In the area bounded by Carlton and College on the north, Broadview-avenue on the east, and Bathurst-street on the west, the cases of tuberculosis are much more numerous than in the less-congested areas of the city.

Another striking method of comparison—the number of deaths from tuberculosis with those of other diseases is done by means of a number of long glass tubes, containing beads. The beads in each tube are of different colors and each bead represents a death from the disease the tube represents. Tuberculosis has every other disease outclassed during the year 1910. The death records of 1911 have not yet been completed.

A Preventible Disease.

That the white plague is largely a preventable disease is a fact which doctors in charge of the new dispensary are endeavoring to emphasize. The main object in view is to "educate patients how to live," so as not to renounce their own lives or the lives of others. Fresh air, pure milk and good nourishing food are the essentials in the restoration of health. The new dispensary is entirely for the use of the poor.

Some of the work may be described briefly as follows:

1. Cases which have been in the sanatoria and hospitals will be kept under supervision, so that they may be encouraged to live as much as possible under proper conditions, and carry out the instructions given them while in the institution. They will be shown how best to adopt the methods of the sanatorium to the home.

2. Cases which have been given instruction and aid while awaiting admission to the hospital and sanatoria, and in some suitable cases will be given assistance in home treatment.

3. Colateral cases will be brought to the attention of the homes in which cases have been found. If patient is too sick to come, and too poor to have a physician, one of our doctors will be sent.

4. Instruction will be given in proper methods of living, as to the value of fresh air, proper food, etc., with illustrations.
