GREEN GRASS GREW TALL AND HID THE TARGETS

One Reason Why Good Scoring Was Interfered With at Long Branch.

The one objectionable feature to which failure to put on large scores at the Long Branch Rifle Ranges could be blamed was the fact that the grass had not been cut from the tops of the firing mounds, which lie between the scratch and the rows of targets. An attempt had been made during the week to obviate the nuisance, but the man who drove the mower overlooked the very spots where his labor was most needed. The mounds are three feet or more in height and it requires but a slight growth of grass and weeds to obscure the bottoms of the targets.

THE WORLD'S HOME MAGAZINE FOR WOMEN

Edited by LAURA E. McCULLY, B.A.

A RAIN MOOD.
By Wm. Bradley in McClure's. We prayed for a day of rain. In the sunny summer weather. And for long hours spent together. Of the heavy hush and gloom. Of a dusky silent room. And the patter of drops on the pane. And the swish of rain in the eaves. And the tremulous trouble and start of the wind in the great trees' heart.

Etiquette in Shops.
The subject seems at first very simple, because the relation of buyer and seller is necessarily brief and business-like. But it is not so simple on inspection. If you want to see human nature in some of its worst aspects, permit people to wander where they choose to look at what interested them, and to buy only if they felt like it.

WHAT TO WEAR
One English journal for women prophesies the disappearance of women's sports because the kind of clothes suited to sport have gone out of fashion. The writer adds that Englishwomen simply will not attempt out-door exercise in unsuitable attire. Very arbitrary, very false and pernicious indeed would any fashion be which denied the right of woman to exercise and free movement.

Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Tessier, Sask., tells of her experience in the following words: "I wish to tell you of the good I have found in Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. Last summer my little girl, aged two years, was taken ill with Summer Complaint, and as my mother always kept Dr. Fowler's in the house, when I was a child, I seemed to follow her example, as I always have it also. I at once gave it to my baby as directed and she was at once relieved, and after a couple of doses were taken was completely cured."
