Australia. It had entered into a definite contract for a period of ten years after the war to take a minimum of 100,000 tons of Australian concentrates at a price which was entirely satisfactory, and was practically independent of the vagaries of the market."

That is action. But the poor old British Government has had to free itself, unaided by the Canadian Government, from the yoke of the Merton Metal Trust, by dealing direct with Canadians to effect the same result for Canadian nickel, as Hughes did for Australian zinc concentrates; that is, unless Hon. Mr. Cochrane has been responsible for bringing about the existence of the new British-Canadian Co, to mine and refine Canadian nickel in Canada, and throw over the International Nickel Co., Henry R. Merton & Son, and all and singular of the German ilk.

And then the anonymous apologist for Merton's, who broke out in The Telegram a week ago Saturday, the quite disinterested citizen, who had two brothers at the front, and who was, so he said, non-partisan, and who told us that Merton's were reorganized, that is, turned British, in 1914. What has he to say to Premier Hughes, and to The Mining and Scientific Press, which puts it August, 1916, and to Mr. Pretyman, who says it has not been accomplished yet, because the re-organization consisted only of naturalizing these German enemy traders, and giving them an ALIAS.

And these are the agents entrusted with the exclusive export of Canadian nickel!

Unofficial reports from Petrograd, based on the despatches forwarded by Russian correspondents from the front; say that the new Russian drive into the wooded district of the Carpathians is gathering momentum as it proceeds. It has now developed into an operation on a large scale, on a line of 200 miles, from Korosnezo in the Carpathians to the River Dovtian on the Roumanian-Hungarian frontier. The Russians have secured control of the important line of communications from Kirlibaba to Maramos Sziget by occupying the neighboring heights. These communications possess special value on account of the scarcity of railways and good roads in the region of the Carpathians.

Wanted---A Bridge

on Mount Pleasant road. This can only be done by constructing a bridge over the Rosedale Ravine. The city council, on the advice of Commissioner Harris, consented to do this in conjunction with the C.P.R. Now the railway is ready, some of the members of the Board of Control and one Alderman is trying to block the scheme, Why? A meeting of the Moore Park and North End Ratepayers' Association will be held on Saturday night, at the Deer Park School, to discuss this matter, and a large attendance is desired. Ratepayers should be present and express their this brand of civic integrity
