John F. Watts Loses House LUMBER OUTLOOK and Furniture in a Midnight

John F. Watts, a farmer of Oak Point, who arrived in the city this morning, tells of a fire on Tuesday night last, as a result of which his pretty home with all its furnishings is now a heap of ashes and his wife and children were forced over which he presided. The judge, however, identified himself as the person against whom the attack was intended, and his contention was upheld by the to Chipman on a brief visit to Mrs.

THE FIRST PICNIC.

Next Saturday the Brussels street Baptist church and Sabbath-school will hold their annual outing on the grounds at Westfield Beach.

AN INTERESTING VISITOR.

Stephen Taylor, who visited St. John 16 years ago arrived in the city Thursday, not from the far off west, the Pacific coast or even Boston, but just 16 miles this side of Fredericton. He came down on the steamer Elaine and said he was amazed at the changes in Indiantown since his last visit. Mr. Taylor did not even take time to look the city over but returned Thursday evening. For a man 75 years old he is as lively as a cricket and often walks from his home to Fredericton.
