

NO MILK TOMORROW IF PRICE NOT MET

Producers Demand Increase
From Dealers; Letter Offer
Smaller Sum.

Unless the dealers agree to pay 80 cents for an eight quart can, 1.0 shipping point by tonight the producers will not ship any milk to Saint John tomorrow morning, according to a decision made by the producers at a meeting of the Kings County Milk and Cream Producers' Association on Saturday evening at Apohaqui, with A. Ben Smith presiding.

The price paid during the summer was 80-1-2 cents and the dealers are offering a 40 cent rate for the winter. The new rate asked is to supply from Sept. 1, 1925, to May 31, 1926. The dealers have so far rejected the producers' proposals.

No settlement had been reached up to this afternoon in the milk matter, and the local dealers were unable to state definitely whether or not the supply would come down tomorrow morning. One local dealer said this afternoon that he did not anticipate a drop in tomorrow morning as the can in the city has contracts for 300 cans of milk at 40 cents until Dec. 1. If the local dealers must pay 80 cents a can, it is, he said, that he would be forced to increase the retail price to 15 cents a quart.

MANY ACCUSATIONS ARE MADE IN COURT

Family Differences Keep Magistrate Busy Till He Ends Case With Dismissal.

The attention of Magistrate Henderson was occupied this morning in hearing a family difficulty brought to court when Robert J. Walker had his wife charged with assaulting him. Accusations flew back and forth at a lively rate, and the magistrate finally, dismissed the case on account of conflicting evidence.

Mr. Walker said his wife had threatened to kill him and put him in the hospital that once she threatened him with a club and another time with a large rock, again with a butcher knife. Yesterday, the witness declared, she jumped at him and at the same time told him she would kill him. He said he caught her arms and then pushed her away, so that he could secure his coat and hat and leave the house. He added that he was afraid to eat food in the house. He said she had taken poison some time ago.

WOMAN'S STORY

Mrs. Walker swore that her husband had threatened to "pay a doctor to say she was crazy and put her in an asylum." She showed a black and blue spot on her arm, where she claimed her husband struck her. She said that he threw her to the floor and then she bit him. She added that she would bite him again under the same circumstances. She denied striking him in the face with her fist.

On one occasion, she admitted, she had chased her husband into the house with a club. She said that she objected to attentions he was giving another woman. It was over a dispute about this woman, she declared, that he struck her yesterday.

At this point the verbal tittle became such that the magistrate ended matters with "Case dismissed."

SAINT JOHN CASES

Four are Heard Here Today by Federal Pensions Appeal Board.

Four cases, all concerning Saint John men, were heard by the Federal Pensions Appeal Board at a session here this morning in the Board of Trade rooms with the three members, Colonel John H. Roy, M. C., C. B. Reilly, K. C., and Dr. B. L. Wickwire, all of Ottawa. The cases were appeals from decisions of the Board of Pensions Commissioners. The first case, that of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hodgson, manager for New Brunswick, was heard first. The case concerned the history of the company, T. B. Macaulay, president for Canada, excelled himself in his closing address. The courtesy and interest shown by J. M. Woodman and G. Bruce Burpee of the C. P. R. were made an occasion of a special resolution. The delegates for Halifax and for all points west came this way, and the Algonquin closed its doors for the season as the last guest departed.

The Saint John delegation was composed of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Hodgson, Robert Reid, Roy Shanklin, R. A. Cross, W. R. Armstrong and Lt.-Col. George Keefe. C. D. MacCreedy of Seabrook and R. J. Lyles of Bathurst were in the Saint John party.

Mr. and Mrs. Macaulay went to Woodstock for the week-end, to visit Mrs. Macaulay's sister, Miss Caroline Palm. Mr. Hodgson said this morning that he thought nearly 40 of the delegates registered at the Admiral Beatty for Sunday, and he held an impromptu reception all morning in his office, meeting the western and eastern agents, who were unimpressed in their praise of all they had seen and of the hospitality of this section of Canada. The preliminary post mortem disclosed that solidating water had been poured over Mrs. Jacobson's arms, legs and hands until the flesh dropped off. Lighted matches or a torch of some kind had been used to sear her back and other parts of her body. No water was found in her lungs, showing she was dead before being thrown in the lake.

A Fresh Note in Design

It's nice to know you have hit upon a Chesterfield suite with no other quite like it. The happy freedom of line in this suite is hardly reached in the above suggestion—the arms actually have less top curve but more swing out at the bottom. Which makes a great difference as you'll decide at the window.

All upholstery is Bronze Mohair, but one reverse of cushions provides effective contrast in a cameo cut motif. Large Heenan flower on Old Gold, deep tone foliage and smaller blooms touched by Old Rose and Old Blue. $282 for entire suite.
