HER LITTLE BROTHER.

That Mr. Brown 'at comes to see
Our Nell most every night,
He thinks an awful lot 'o me—
'At's what he does, all right,
'Cause when I stayed 'las' night in there
Where him an' her was at
He made me sit up on his chair
To have a little chat.
It's late fur me to be about,
He sez, an' pats my head,
An' asks me ain't I tired out,
An' want to go to bed.
I told him "No indeedy, sir,
I'd rather be with you."
He laughed, and then he sez to her:
'I've won yer brother, too."
Nell smiled at him. It made her look
Real pleased. I guess 'at she Wuz really truly glad he took
An' interest in me.
'My boy," he sez, "I thank you for
Your splendid compliment.
Just run 'round to the candy store
An' spend this bright new cent!
Here, take it, don't you hesitate."
Sez he, an' gev me one.
I tell ye what, I didn't wait,
But jist sez "Thanks!" an' run.
But while I was a loakin' for
The place I left me hat,
I couldn't help look in the door
Where they was sittin' at.
Nell had her lips turned up to his
An' his wuz close ter Nell's,
An' then, first thing you know, gee
whizz!
I seen 'em kiss theselves.
I guess Nell kissed him jist ter show
How pleased she wuz 'at he
Had been so very nice an' so
Real generous to me.

Mary had a little lamb,
Likewise an oyster stew,
Balad, cake, a piece of pie
And bottle of pale brew—
Then a few hours later
She had the doctor, too.

CZAR WON'T VISIT ROME.

Hostility of Italian Socialists Makes Nicholas Think He Would Not Be Welcomed.

PARIS, Oct. 11.—The Figaro this morning publishing from "an authoritative source," the statement that the Czar's visit to Rome has been postponed, adds: "This decision will not affect the good relations existing between the courts of Rome and St. Petersburg. The mere raising in certain political circles of the question whether the Czar would be welcomed suffices to would Russian susceptibilities. Czar Nicholas is not afraid of hostile demonstrations, but he cannot carry out the plans for his visit while the socialist party is discussing its attitude towards a sovereign who is not merely visiting a friendly court, but the whole Italian nation. It is hoped in Russia that the circumstances compelling the postponement of the Czar's visit to Rome will soon cease, enabling His Majesty to make the visit he so greatly desires.

FIRE THIS MORNING.

An alarm was rung in from box 24, between nine and ten o'clock this forenoon for a fire in Barker's candy factory on Princess street. The blaze was started by the explosion of a lamp and from the amount of smoke pouring out of the windows it looked much worse than was really the case. The fire department reached the scene without any accidents and the fire was soon extinguished. The damage was slight.

LITTLE HE KNOWS.

English Clergyman Recommends His Gov't. to Follow Canada on Temperance Question.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—Cumming McDoan, M. P., writing to the Field, from British Columbia, says that there are no finer types of sportsmen in any part of the world than in Vancouver and Victoria.

At the conference of the Lancashire and Cheshire Temperance Union Canon Hine, presiding, said he would be glad if the government would go straight to Canada or New Zealand and take from either its system of temperance legislation and try it in Britain. He could not imagine a better eye-opener for some of our ditory statesmen than the study of the temperance question in the colonies. The more we know of colonial life and politics the better it will be for the advance of the temperance cause in England.

Home Greenwood has been invited to address an overflow of the Roseberry meetings at Sheffield on Tuesday.

The Westminster Gazette, commenting on Westminster's letter to the Oldham conservatives, says that the policy which would finally emerge if Chamberlain had his way would result in a great number of difficult and delicate negotiations with the colonies, of which neither Chamberlain nor any one else could force the outcome. What would eventually be done could be decided by the colonies quite as much as by the home government.

Roach has resigned the pastorate of the Tabernacle church and has accepted a call to Main street. He will take charge of the latter on November 8th. Rev. D. Long begins his seventh year as pastor of the Victoria Street Free Baptist church. The committee on programmes chosen for the year consists of the chairman and secretary, with Dr. Gates, C. T. Phillips and J. C. B. Appel. Rev. C. T. Phillips gave a talk on Baptist union as discussed at the Free Baptist conference.

On Thursday there will be a united Baptist thanksgiving service in the Tabernacle church. A meeting of Sunday school workers in Douglas avenue church on Friday evening will be addressed by Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, one of the speakers at the Sabbath school convention at Chatham.

LOOKS LIKE A DRY SPELL.

Mr. Hugh McIntosh carries out the awful threat he made in police court this morning he is going to have a pretty dry spell and will understand the full meaning of a long time between drinks. McIntosh declared that he had not taken a drink for five years, and if the magistrate would only give him a chance he would promise "right for the rest of his life" that he would not have another drop for six years more. Eight or ten months for being loaded on Water street.

Henry Addison and William Kearney also wanted chances. They were both sorry for what they had done and promised to be better if they were only let go this once. They were each fined eight dollars for drunkenness, and Thomas Nelson forfeited a similar amount.

MARK TWAIN'S FIRST EARNINGS.

(Exchange.) Mark Twain thus tells the story of the first money he ever earned. "I have a distinct recollection of it. When I was a youngster I attended school at a place where the use of the birch rod was not an uncommon event. It was against the rules to mark the desks in any manner, the penalty being a fine of five dollars or public chastisement. Happening to violate the rule on one occasion, I was offered the alternative. I told my father, and as he seemed to be publicly punished, he gave me the five dollars. At that period of my experience $5 was a large sum, while a whipping was of little consequence, and so—(here the humorist reflectively knocked the ashes from his cigar)—well, he finally added, "that was how I earned my first five dollars."

BAIL REFUSED FOR ALLEN.

Boy Who Stabbed Alexander will be Held—Injured Lad's Condition Is Uncertain.

George Allen, aged thirteen, was arrested by Detective Killen on Saturday night on the charge of wounding Harry Alexander with a knife. It appears that about six o'clock on Saturday Allen, who for some time has been employed with Dr. Emery, was playing with William Short in Duffy's yard, on Richmond street, just opposite the tannery. Alexander entered the yard under the influence of liquor and struck Allen in the face. Allen pulled out a jack-knife and said that if Alexander did that again he would put the blade into him. Alexander did it again and Allen was as good as his word. The blade entered Alexander's left side near the heart, causing a considerable flow of blood. He was first taken to Dr. Baxter's office, but as the doctor was not in he was taken to the hospital, where Dr. Lunney attended him. Allen was arrested about eight o'clock near his home on Elliott row. He is a son of Fred Allen.

Reports from the hospital are to the effect that, while Alexander's wound is not considered serious, there is a possibility of danger from complications and the boy is being kept on a strong liquid diet.

In the police court this morning Scott E. Morrill appeared for the prisoner and asked that he be released on bail, adding that any amount would be furnished.

It was reported to the court from the hospital that, provided no complications arose, Alexander would be able to appear in two weeks. The magistrate refused to release Allen owing to the uncertainty of Alexander's exact condition. He ordered that the prisoner be placed in a separate cell and be made as comfortable as possible. Mr. Morrill will resume his application when more definite information is received from the hospital.

JOHN REDMOND DOUBTS.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—John Redmond, the Irish leader, speaking at Buss, Roscommon, expressed doubt whether the new Irish land act would prove successful in the congested districts of Connemara, but he said if the landlords refused to sell their grazing lands to the congested districts' board, it would be easy in the present conditions of the English party to get compulsory powers at the next session of parliament. He warned the Irish landlords and Irish government not to prove obdurate.

SON'S ANGER MADE HER WALK.
Mother, Helpless for Ten Years, Walks Down Stairs and to Police to Protect Husband.

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—When her son abused his dying father and kicked over a crucifix and candles that were a solace to him in his last days, a mother forgot that for ten years she had been a helpless invalid and unable to move from her room. Thoroughly aroused, she walked down a stairway she had not seen for a decade, and then unhalting went to a police station, where she caused the arrest of the young man.

Victim of rheumatism, Mrs. Ellen Hutton, 65 years old, lives at No. 433 Fifth street. Last night she told the police that her son, Samuel T. Hutton, had shamefully abused his venerable father, who lies on his death bed at their home. The son is 30 years of age and was described by his mother as a ne'er do well, who seldom worked and was generally a source of trouble and sorrow to his parents. In this their neighbors concided.

The mother is a Roman Catholic. The father has been indifferent in his religious belief. He is 71 years old. Yesterday he had a stroke of paralysis and the physician who attended him said he could not live more than a day or two.

When she heard this Mrs. Hutton urged her husband to think of his spiritual condition and to allow her to send for a priest. The aged man consented and a priest from the neighboring church visited him after the doctor had seen him. In preparation for this a crucifix was placed on a table near the bedside, with two candles on either side of it.

In the evening the son, who had been doing some work as a shirt sorter and had received his pay, came home in a morose and quarrelsome disposition. He staggered into the room where his father lay and at once began to abuse him.

"You ought to die," his mother says he shouted. "You got the 'cops' after me and had me arrested. But you won't do it again. You ought to die soon," and with this he kicked over the table and dashed the crucifix and candles to the floor.

The aged mother, a rheumatic invalid no longer, hurried down the stairs she had not used for ten years, and walked to the station house, where Sergeant McNaught heard her story and sent Policeman John H. Felschow to the house. There he arrested the son. At the station house a charge of disorderly conduct was made against him and he was locked up.

The sergeant said he knew the aged couple to be respectable and deserving of much sympathy for the sorrow they had endured.

CANADIAN TRADE WITH BERMUDA.

There has been a great increase of trade between Canada and Bermuda of late years. The total exports via Halifax have reached 125,000 barrels a year. E. J. Thompson, the leading baker of the island, says that he is using large quantities of Ogilvie's Flour and that he prefers it to any flour milled on the American continent. He finds that for quality and strength it is second to no flour milled in the United States, and his experience with United States flour is a long one.

The wife of Fred Sullivan, of Bangor, Me., would like to hear from him. When last heard of he was in Fredericton.
