According to a reliable farm paper we learn that Roumania has gone bankrupt and is unable to meet her obligations. This is the first time the country that borrowed twenty-five million dollars from us out of the last Victory Loan? Don't worry, Mr. Taxpayer, every dollar of that sum was spent to buy manufactured goods in Canada, and some of these "infant industries" make large profits.

EUPHEMIA

What if the world has gone to pot. An' crops are on the bum. A two-cent grain and a tilted chin Help some, my boy, help some.

Who was it prayed for rain? Hay was fine, wheat finer, oats extra good, and corn is coming on the jump in Euphemia generally.

Cousin Kate, Jim, Uncle Alec, grand-ma and the kids are all out from town these days getting a breath of pure country air, new potatoes, green corn, harvest apples and the colic.

Auction sales but a memory, socials a reminiscence, picnics an actuality, fall fairs an anticipation. So cometh the cycle of the years.

Owing no doubt to the destruction wrought this year by the Hessian fly a much smaller acreage of wheat will be sown for 1921 harvest.

Euphemia schools have all obtained teachers for the 1920-21 term, though at increased salaries. A couple of sections with judicious trustees endeavoring to be economical did considerable shunting, switching and firing and eventually they had dropped the substance for the shadow and still had to pay the price. These fellows no doubt in the old days attended school to a cheap teacher and one poor in arithmetic.

Many from here who found work the present summer too hard and strenuous are leaving to help off with the Western harvest.

Owing to the complete slump in wool (not woollens) we predict that ere the new year fifty per cent. of the sheep's throwship will be sold for Toronto or Buffalo. And furthermore we foresee that some of those big fellows who today snugly live behind their shoulders of wool will ere long be standing out on the mountain top clad in a cotton kimono, with voice uplifted in the tempest like the men of Caesarea, crying "Come over and help us."

Store butter, buttermilk and the milkman have in our advanced day been displaced by the cream man, in instant postum and oleo or creamery print, until the consumer finds it as hard to purchase dairy butter as it is to buy an all leather shoe. The reasons for this are obvious. Too many careless butter makers, too much loss to the merchant in handling such compound, and finally the housewife's reasonable desire to escape the work and worry.

Consequently we have the passing of another farm industry into the hands and pockets of the manufacturer.
