

- Q. Then they brought you in.
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. When did you pick up your tunic?
- A. I didn't get that, sir.
- Q. When arrested you were working in the field, is that right?
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Did they allow you to go and get your tunic?
- A. I had it on when I was working.

Re-examined by the Defending Officer.

- Q. Were you married in 1939?
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Have you been working more or less steadily from 1939 until when you were called up?
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. What have you got to show for it?
- A. Not much of anything, sir.
- Q. And in that time you say three children were born to you?
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Did you have hospital bills?
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Doctors bills?
- A. Yes, sir.
- Q. Did you say that you didn't have much of anything to show for it?
- A. Yes, sir. All I have is that house.
- Q. Did you say that house was incomplete?
- A. Yes, sir, incompleated.
