SERBIAS WRONGS

A Deeply Interesting Address Given by Mlle. Lafonitch.

Victoria Hall was comfortably filled last evening by a most appreciative and attentive audience, which had assembled to hear the illustrated lecture given by Mademoiselle Lafonitch, daughter of the Minister of Agriculture of Serbia.

Rev. Mr. Woodside, who acted in the capacity of chairman, in a few well chosen words, introduced the speaker of the evening.

Mlle. Lafonitch proved herself to be most charming in her address, and from start to finish held the rapt attention of those present. Speaking in a clear, well modulated voice, with just that faint touch of foreign accent which lent a charm to her words, she told of the terrible sufferings of her homeland, Serbia. The hardships and scenes which she, herself, had witnessed, of the poor refuges fleeing before the advance of the Austro-German troops, flocking into the towns and cities, with scarcely any clothing in their possession, barefooted, and with food so scarce throughout the land that hundreds died of starvation and cold. She told of the terrible epidemic of typhus which had invaded Serbia in the early stages of the war, and which threatened at one time to nearly wipe the Serbians completely out of existence. The horrible sufferings of the wounded soldiers were vividly depicted, when she declared that at one time there were no surgical instruments to be had with which to perform necessary operations. Serbia, she said, had a population of nearly five million people, at the commencement of the war, but to-day there were thousands of little orphans in that land who were without either father or mother. Still the people of Serbia were filled with the unquenchable trust and faith that righteousness and truth and honor would in the end prevail. There was also told the frightful cruelties practiced by the Austro-German troops on the defenceless women and little children of Serbia. One instance she gave of an Austrian soldier, when their troops entered a village, of meeting a Serbian mother with her little child in her arms, took the child away from her and deliberately hacked it to pieces, finally killing the mother as well. In proud terms she referred to the patriotism of the Serbian soldiers; also its women, during all the trials through which they had passed. In closing, she said that she wished, on behalf of the people of Serbia, as well as herself, to heartily thank the people of Canada for all that they had done, and were doing to help alleviate the sufferings and to mitigate the hardships of the brave people of Serbia.

At the close of the lecture, pictures of Serbia, depicting the people of that country, their homes, the women and their national dress, as well as pictures of the generals in command, together with King Peter and other notables, were thrown on a screen, and each one described in their turn in a most interesting manner. Altogether, the evening's entertainment proved most enjoyable, as well as intensely interesting, and it is safe to say the audience came away thoroughly satisfied, both with the charming personality of the speaker, and the lecture itself.

Rev. Mr. Woodside spoke a few words at the close, and a hearty vote of thanks to Mme. Lafonitch for her able discourse was moved by Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., which was seconded by Mr. Jones, and most heartily carried by the large audience present. The meeting then closed with the singing of the National Anthem. The silver collection was most gratifying, and will go to help the people of Serbia in their present distress.

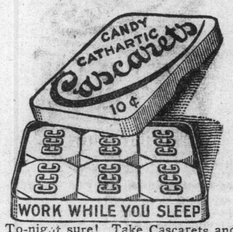
BEST FOR LIVER, BOWELS' STOMACH, HEADACHE COLD



To-night sure! Take Cascarets and enjoy the nicest, gentiest liver and bowel cleansing you ever experienced. Wake up with your head clear, stomach sweet, breath right and feeling fine. Get rid of sick headache, biliousness, constipation, furred tongue, sour stomach, bad colds. Clear your skin, brighten your eyes, quicken your step and feel like doing a full day's work. Cascarets are better than salts, pills or calomel because they don't shock the liver or gripe the bowels or cause inconvenience all the next day.

Mothers should give cross, sick, bilious, feverish children a whole Cascaret anytime as they can not injure the thirty feet of tender bowels.

NO LOOTING ALLOWED

Even amid the grim horrors of war there is occasionally to be found a humorous element. In an amusing causerie, entitled "Week-Ends at the War," in the "Outlook," Mr. Charles G. Harper presents some quaint pen pictures of British soldiers. For example, recently he came across some of the York and Lancasters in a railway train, and of course started a talk on the dominant theme, thus giving a colour-sergeant the opportunity of confidential talk:

"'Money won't buy much out Wipers way,' he remarked, 'an' when we wants luxuries we just goes out an' forages for them. 'Course no lootin's allowed, but supposin' you want a change from bully-beef an' 'ash, an' you see deserted farms with the live-stock wanderin' about, with no visible means of support"—he was a reservist and a policeman, and had got the last conventional phrase by heart—"why, then——" He broke off with more eloquence than the completed sentence would have given and lit a cigarette.

"There was that calf," said his comrade, "what we was skinning in a farmyard. One of our officers comes up.

"'How was that calf killed?'

"'It with a shell, sir.'

"Remarkable thing,' 'e says, 'all the cattle you men find have been killed by shell-fire.'"

The others smiled broadly at the recollection of it.

"Plenty poultry too," added the colour-sergeant; "gettin' rather thin and scarce, though, as time goes on. Every one's a fair mark on fowls and ducks. One day we was plucking some fowls be'ind a barn, when our Major happens along.

"'Looting?' he asks.

"'No, sir, the pore things was starving. No one left to feed 'em, an so——'

"'Ah, well: When you've finished plucking them you might send me along a feather or two to my quarters as pipe-cleaners.'

"We sent 'im the finest bird of the lot, with half a dozen feathers stuck in it, an' our compliments."

"You understand a hint as well as anybody?"

"Well," agreed the colour-sergeant, with a modest confidence, "I reckon by this time we knows what's what, even supposin' we didn't before."

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of danlruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.
