The engagement is announced of Miss Amy Weston to Pte. Percy Lacy of the 125th Batt., now stationed at Borden camp.

The engagement has just been made public of Miss Olwen Elizabeth Lloyd George, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Lloyd George, to Captain T. G. Carey Evans, of the Indian Medical service, eldest son of Dr. Evans, of Festiniog, North Wales.

Lieut.-Col. C. S. Jones, of the Parliament Buildings, formerly a well-known resident of Brantford, and for many years Colonel of the 38th Dufferin Rifles, has just received a cable from his son, Lieut. H. D. Jones, who is also well known in this city. The cable states that though he is suffering from shell-shock and shrapnel wounds, he is doing well.

Princess Arthur of Connaught has only to show herself to score a success, and, daintily crowned in a light of summer suit, she proved the most popular of waitresses on a recent occasion. The place was the Victoria Station Buffet for Soldiers and Sailors, the day was Dominion Day, and certainly her most eager customers were a party of Canadian soldiers.

Captain A. W. Agnew, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Agnew and nephew of Mr. C. H. Waterous of Brantford, was seriously hurt in a recent engagement, but is practically in normal health again. One of the misfortunes which he has sustained is the loss of his left eye, which had to be removed, and a glass eye substituted. Captain Agnew was an exceptionally clever engineer and has been offered an appointment as staff major in the general staff over all the British Engineers—(Daily Colonist, Victoria, B.C.).

There is something more than usually appealing about the engagement of Miss Lloyd George. In the first place she has met many men of various nationalities since her "coming out" a few years ago, yet she has chosen a countryman of her own and a neighbor. In the second place, the nice-looking daughter of the most remarkable man in English political life, the new Minister of War, might have made a particularly brilliant marriage, yet she prefers to marry a man whom she might have known and married had Mr. Lloyd George remained content with the practice of law at Criccieth.

Miss Hilda Hurley, Lorne Crescent, returned to the city yesterday, after spending a few days at Grimsby beach.

Lieut. E. Lorne Miller of the 125th Battalion spent Friday with Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hurley, Lorne Crescent, before leaving for Borden Camp and overseas.

Miss Coralie Jones of Galt, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Hurley, Lorne Crescent, returned to Galt last Monday.

Mr. Thomas Darwin, organist and choirmaster of Wellington St. Methodist Church, commences his vacation on Monday. During his absence Miss Annie Crocker and Mr. Kingsley Ireland will preside at the organ.

Li.-Col. and Mrs. Howell Mr. and Mrs. John Ferguson, of Hamilton, and Mr. Clarkson Howell of Virginia, motored up from Hamilton and spent the week-end with Mrs. Charles Ramsay, Mr. Clarkson Howell remaining for a few weeks with his niece, Mrs. Ramsay.

Lady Maud Cavendish, the eldest daughter of our next Governor-General, made her debut in the memorable gay London season that preceded the war, and the next daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Devonshire, Lady Blanche, would have made her appearance about now, had this been a normal season. She will be privately presented to their Majesties before her departure for Canada. The daughters of the Governor-General, who have been brought up on simple, almost old-fashioned lines, and with their graceful, rather shy manners, and their love of the open air, are sure to be appreciated in this country.

"The London Daily Express" says that "the task of writing the life of Lord Kitchener is to be taken in hand at once, and has been entrusted to Sir George Arthur, Bart., the War Secretary's personal secretary at the War Office, and he is to have the co-operation and advice of Lord Derby, who was one of Kitchener's personal friends. Sir George Arthur is an accomplished writer as well as a soldier, and his two volumes on the "Story of the Household Cavalry" prove him to be fully qualified for the important task of writing the biography of one of the most eminent soldiers in our history. Lady Arthur, wife of Sir George Arthur, is well known in Brantford and has many friends here.

Considerable speculation goes on as to who will succeed the Duchess of Devonshire as Mistress of the Robes to the Queen. The young and beautiful Duchess of Sutherland, for whom their Majesties have a considerable liking, may be chosen, but if someone other is desired, there are the Duchess of Montrose, a dignified lady who fills every role well; the Duchess of Hamilton, who was one of the canopy ladies at the Coronation, and for whose youngest daughter the Queen is sponsor; and either the Duchess of Abercorn or the Duchess of Buccleuch is a "possible" each, by the way, is married to a cousin of the Duchess of Devonshire, the present Mistress of the Robes.

BRITISH FORCES SHARPLY PUSHING GERMANS BACK

Local Village Taken Yesterday by the Advancing Hosts.

July 29.—One of the most important features of the war is being played out on the five mile Poznan front, where the British troops have been fighting a bloody struggle for more than a week.

The British troops are continuing to make special comment upon it in their official report, the British yesterday continued their onward swing attacking the Germans at Longueval, the fortified village which has been the scene of the heaviest fighting of the war.

With the Germans already driven in from most of their outlying positions, the British troops yesterday tackled the main defence works of the village, carrying several of the strongest.

"Our Success Continues." At the same time on the opposite tip of the day's battle front, the British engaged the Germans in a hand-to-hand fighting in the neighborhood of Pozieres. Berlin reports that repulses were inflicted on the British troops in this sector during the night, but the home and Australian corps returned to the assault yesterday.

"Our success of yesterday continues," was the word last night from General Sir Douglas Haig, commanding the British army.

On the whole front both British, French and Germans are bringing the full weight of their artillery to bear, and one of the most colossal air-gun battles of the war is raging along the greater part of the forty-mile Peadar front.
