Ten Dollar Fee for Small Autos

An increase from $6 to $10 in the minimum charge for automobile licenses, with increases upon about the same basis for higher powered cars are now receiving the consideration of the

As intimated in the report of the incorporation of the auto license branch with the Highways Department, the expenditure upon highway impovement in Ontario will be largely determined by the revenue from license fees, and the increases proposed, if carried into effect, would give the department a revenue of approximately $550,000.

The proposed increase of $4 in the license fees of cars of 25 horse-power or less would contribute the bulk of Warren. the new revenue, a very large pro-portion of the cars used in Ontario coming under that heading. This would be an increase of 60 per cent, and the revenue aimed at—$550,000 would be over 60 per cent, more than that secured during the past year. This would be enough not only to make the 20 per cent, increase provided for toward county road construction and pay the 20 per cent. toward maintenance, but would finance the Government's share for the year of the Toronto-Hamilton highway and still leave a margin for other Lighway undertakings.

Be Tolerant and Neighborly The people of country places, much more than city folks, are dependent upon one another. The city man may, and very often does, find his business and social associates in a part of the city remote from his place of residence; but the man who lives in the rural locality is almost wholly dependent in both business and social matters upon those who might properly be called his neighbors. It would seem, therefore, that such people ought to be on the best of terms. As a matter of fact, they are not always. They know each other too well. In a small community everybody knows everybody else, and a large topic of conserva-tion is the faults and failings of the absent neighbors. In reality they do not know each other as well as they think they do; their acquaintance is superficial because it is the result of association and not friendliness. Some people make themselves and others miserable because they insist on putting the worst possible interpretation upon the words and acts of their neighors, when as a matter of fact the chief fault lies in themselves. People should try to interpret the conduct of those about them sympathetically, and when possible attribute good motives to them. People in rural communities would find life much more enjoyable if they cultivated a Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Booth Lyn at spirit of friendly helpfulness. There Mr. J. D. Bigfords. are such communities, and it is a pleasure to live in them. What are you doing to cultivate such a spirit in your neighborhood? Folks can't be hateful and happy too .- Ex.
