Rev. Mr. Adams Slandered the Halifax Garrison and Mak's Confession. HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 27.—Rev. H. F. Adams, who created a great sensation by his charges of gross immorality against the British officers and men in this garrison, publishes an apology to-day. He says: "My statements last Sabbath evening, were made on hearsay, for which I had no facts. In the fervor of the meeting I became excited and, without thinking of my grounds, uttered rash words involving the reputation of many persons. To-day I have learned many good things from those who know of the military which I never knew before, and which disprove my statements of Sabbath evening. With the conviction that I made a grave mistake in speaking as I did in the excitement of the moment without facts, and now possessing knowledge which proves my statements untrue, I most humbly apologize to all persons attacked in that speech for misrepresenting them, and ask their forgiveness."
