

PICKARD'S BARGAINS

Remnants, Berlin Shawls, Clouds, and all kinds of Winter Goods.

Feb. 1st, 1887.

REDUCED PRICES!

During the month of February I will give a discount of 10 per cent. on Women's Felt Boots and Slippers, Women's Chamois-Lined Face and Button Boots, Misses' Lace Skating Boots.
Overshoes of all kinds lower than usual. Women's Oil Goat Button Boots at reduced prices.

Snow Shoes and Fancy Moose Moccasins.

A. G. SMITH.
Next Door to Merchants' Bank of Halifax.

New and Fashionable Furs

ETTER & PUGSLEY'S

The low prices of Furs this season have induced us to lay in an immense stock, comprising

Ladies' Black Astrachan Jackets, Fur Lined Circulars and Tippets.
Men's Coon and Lamb Coats.
Ladies' Gents' and Boys' Fur Caps, in South Sea Seal, Baltic Seal, Persian Lamb, Astrachan Lamb, Coney, Otter and Beaver.
Ladies' and Gents' Fur Gloves.

Japan Wolf Robes. Buffalo Robes.

Call and See the Low Prices.

RAW FURS WANTED.

ETTER & PUGSLEY.

Amherst, Dec. 9, 1886.

Receiving this Week:

READY-MADE CLOTHING.

25 SUITS.

SUGAR IS LOWER.

J. A. McQUEEN.
Point de Bute, Feb. 3rd, 1887.

SPECIALS.

MUFFS. In Seal, Martin, Mink, and other kinds, which we are bound to clear irrespective of cost.

HALL LAMPS. We have received another lot, same as last, considered the cheapest ever offered in Amherst.

SKATES. A full line of Acme Skates, and separate parts of the same.

FURNITURE. Our stock of Furniture is very large, including a lot of Rattan
Chairs intended for the Christmas trade, but came too late. Be sure and see it.

DUNLAP BROTHERS & COMPANY.

Amherst, Jan. 12, 1887.

MORE LIGHT.

50 bbls. American Kerosene,
Water White, Prime White and Standard.

—ALSO—
CANADIAN OIL, 19c. per imp. gallon.
NO CHARGE FOR CASK.

CHAPMAN BROTHERS.

Amherst, Jan. 12th, 1887.

Trustee's Notice.

NOTICE is hereby given that John Read and William Read, surviving members of the firm of John Read & Sons, doing business as Woolen Manufacturers under the name and firm of John Read & Sons, at Fort Elgin, in the County of Westmorland, have this day assigned all their real and personal estate and effects to me, the undersigned Trustee, for the benefit of their creditors.

The Trust Deed now lies at the office of W. W. Wells, Solicitor to the Trustee, Dorchester, N. B., for inspection and execution. All persons desirous of participating in the benefits thereof are requested to call and execute the same within three months from this date.

Dated the 1st day of January, A. D. 1887.

WILLIAM F. GEORGE, Trustee.

White Chester Boar.

THE subscriber has a superior thoroughbred White Chester Boar for service. W. E. LAWRENCE.
Dorchester, Dec. 15, 1886.

Advertisements this Day.

For "Property for Sale or Let," &c., see fourth page. "Business Cards" on first page.

Bargains.—C. Pickard Reduced Prices.—A. G. Smith Ready-Made Clothing.—J. A. McQueen To Advertisers.—Geo. P. Rowell & Co. Lectures, &c.—C. Harper & Co. Notice.—Advertisements are requested to be sent to this Office before Wednesday noon if wanted to appear the same week they are sent.

Special Locals.

"HACKMETACK," a lasting and fragrant perfume. Price 25 and 50 cts. Sold only by C. G. Hart.

Found—A number of Trunk Keys, which the owner can have by applying to Wm. J. Hart, Druggist.

SHILOH'S CURE will immediately relieve Croup, Whooping Cough, and Bronchitis. Sold only by Charles G. Hart, Druggist.

Sleigh Robes—A few choice Dark Grey Robes, $7.75 and $8.75 to clear, large sizes. C. Pickard.

SPECIAL INDUCEMENTS in the Remnant line at C. Pickard's. Call early before the assortment is broken.

A NARVAL INSECTOR free with each bottle of Shilo's Catarrh Remedy. Price 25 cts. Sold only by Charles G. Hart, Druggist.

Buy the best Harness in the Province for the smallest amount of money, at Johnson's Harness Shop.

ARE YOU MADE miserable by Indigestion, Constipation, Bile, Loss of Appetite, Yellow Skin? Shilo's Catarrh Remedy. Sold only by Charles G. Hart, Druggist.

Don't Forget—The Tailoring Department at J. L. Black's has over 100 pieces of cloth of latest fashion to select from, and Mr. Peterson makes the choice of Suits and Overcoats.—nov25

LOCAL MATTERS.

DENTAL NOTICE.—Dr. W. C. Hewson will be in Port Elgin to-day to practice dentistry for one week.

PERSONAL.—Mr. S. J. King, Post Office Inspector, made his first official visit to Sackville yesterday.—Dr. B. A. Marvin, of Albert, is in town.

A New England Tea will be held in the basement of the Methodist Church, on Wednesday evening, 9th inst. Proceeds in aid of the Sunday School.

BRANCH HARNES SHOP.—Mr. Joseph W. Dobson, has opened a branch harness shop at Dorchester in charge of Mr. John N. Maxwell, harness shop at that place.

GRAND RALLY.—A general meeting of the Liberal-Conservatives of this parish will be held in the commodious Rooms, Music Hall Block, this evening at 7 o'clock. A large attendance is requested.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.—Under the control of Mr. Allison Y. M. C. A. an evangelistic service is held every Sabbath afternoon at 4 o'clock in Chignecto Hall. As this work is undenominational every person is earnestly invited to attend.

PIE SOCIAL.—A pie social will be held at the residence of Mr. W. W. Fawcett, Upper Sackville, next Monday evening at 7 o'clock. Mr. F. de Anguera will favor those present with choice musical selections. Proceeds will be used to defray expenses of the Methodist church, Upper Sackville.

THE ICE-BOT SERVICE.—The first trip of the ice-boats for this season was made on Tuesday when fifteen passengers crossed from Island to the mainland by this route was forwarded by the N. B. & P. E. Railway on Monday and consisted of eighty-one bags. Six passengers crossed from Cape Tormentine to the Island yesterday. There are two lines of ice boats, besides the Government line and the competition for passengers is very sharp. The time of crossing averages from four to five hours.

A PARLOR CONCERT under the direction of Prof. Mack, assisted by Miss Mack, Mr. Chisholm and other talented musicians, will be given at the residence of Senator Boudreau, last Saturday evening. An excellent programme has been selected and the reputation of the leading performers ensures a first-class rendition of the parts. In addition to the musical features, arrangements have been made for a series of Tableaux Vivants which will undoubtedly be worth seeing. The price of admission is only 25 cents, and the proceeds are for Church purposes.

More Light.

The lecture by Rev. H. Boal, which is causing so much interest wherever it has been given, was conceived by Rev. C. H. Spurgeon. He first gave it before his collection and three thousand people in the large tabernacle in London, and afterwards in several places in England. Mr. Boal heard the lecture twice, and has taken pains to bring it before the notice of the public in the Province. It is not a discourse on candles, but an excellent piece of objective teaching. About twenty luminous objects are used to enforce truths. Covering a candle in a dark hall with a bushel renders the Saviour's words in a manner that cannot be forgotten. Quite an excitement arises when the bushel takes fire showing that after all truth cannot be suppressed. The nature and consequences of prejudice, the cause of scandal, and the quarrels that arise from truths and dogma of the main features of the lecture. The spluttering candle is the cause of much laughter in connection with the highly amusing incidents related. The lecture closes with a beautiful object illustrating the unity in diversity seen among Christians. A large number of candles of various sizes and colors, in the form of a pyramid, are lighted with the same flame. Persons of various opinions in religion or other matters are urged to unite in the one purpose of seeking the glory of God in promoting the welfare of their fellow men. The lecture was delivered with much interest at Dorchester on Monday. See adv.

RAISINS, NUTS, &c.

250 BOXES PRIME VALENCIA RAISINS;
25 bags Fresh Nuts, assorted;
12 cases Lunch and Oat Tongue;
50 barrels Beans;
10 puns P. R. Molasses;
50 boxes Electric Soap;
500 " Scaled Herring.

ST. JOHN, N. B.

LOST.

BETWEEN Sackville Station and Music Hall Block, one BUFFALO ROBE. Finder will be suitably rewarded by leaving at subscriber's store.

J. R. AYER.

Jan. 19, 1887.

ROUND TOWN.

—Good skating on the marshes.

—The new locomotive built by George Fleming & Sons, St. John, for the N. B. & P. E. Railway, arrived last night.

—The Pie Social at the residence of Mr. Harvey Phinney last Monday evening resulted $11, in aid of the funds of Salem Baptist Church.

—Mr. F. de Anguera, will only be in Sackville a few days longer. Persons wishing bargains in fine pianos, would do well to call at once.

—Sackville Lodge, No. 134, I. O. G. T., will meet on Friday evening, 4th inst., instead of Monday, 7th inst., the regular night of meeting. A full attendance is requested.

—Geo. B. Faulkner, tuner of the piano and organ, will make his regular visit to Sackville early this month. Orders can be left at the Music store of G. C. Fawcett, or at his residence.

—Rev. J. S. Coffin, of Amherst, will deliver the second lecture of the Mt. Allison Course to-morrow (Friday) evening, in Memorial Hall.

—A very interesting lecture is expected. Lecture to commence at 7.30, Standard time.

—Sackville people desiring or wishing to exchange their old piano or organ, or to buy a new Piano, should observe that Mr. de Anguera's stay here is very short and should improve the opportunity by seeing Mr. de Anguera immediately.

Never were there brought to this town such superior stock of high grade American Pianos as these, which Mr. de Anguera will offer at great bargains for the next few days only.

—We are in receipt of Prof. Hild's pamphlet showing how Fraudulent Table Reads are made up. It is a miracle of painstaking labour—and the result is what the classic poet calls "ridiculous muck." On pages 29 and 39 this Sisyphus tells us in effect that to obtain his desired results "some quantities are introduced in duplicate for special reasons." This is a ready resource for young bookkeepers, and their elders call it "fudge."

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since Tennyson's first volume of poems was published in 1830 the pulse of a generation had kept time to his music. Unlike Madeline, his poetry was "steeped in golden languages." "In Memoriam" must be regarded as his most distinctive English literature that was not there before. "The Idylls of the King" were also entitled to a place among Tennyson's masterpieces. The lecture abounded in quotations from "Mairans," "Maud," "The Princess," "The Palace of Art," "Locksley Hall," "The Brook," and a score of other poems, and contained a comparison of Tennyson's poetry, with the writings of Wordsworth, Byron and Shelley. A vote of thanks was unanimously moved by Prof. Burwash, seconded by Mr. McCann of the senior class, and the first lecture of the course was closed by singing the national anthem.

—The Mount Allison Lecture Course was successfully inaugurated last Friday evening. Notwithstanding the unpleasant weather, Memorial Hall was thronged with an appreciative audience to hear Rev. Dr. Lathern's course on the Masterpieces of Tennyson and of the course ended as well as began with his lecture, lovers of poetry would still be under an obligation to the Faculty for providing such a rich treat. The preparation of the lecture and evidently been a labor of love to Dr. Lathern, and his only difficulty appeared to be to make a selection of the Laureate's masterpieces amid such an opulence of poetical gems. Since T