MULLIN WILL AGAIN PITCH AGAINST ADAMS.

Cold and Rainy Weather For Tigers and Pirates in Seventh and Decisive Game of World's Series.

ETROIT, OCT. 16.—
The seventh and decisive game of the great world's championship series between Pittsburg and Detroit will be played here to-day, weather permitting. Last night it rained, with high winds and the thermometer hovering about the freezing point. A continuance of the same sort of weather is expected, and, if the game is played, it will probably be under conditions which will prevent good baseball by either team. Despite the untoward weather conditions, it is freely predicted that if the game is played it will be witnessed by the largest crowd that ever saw a game in this city. The reserved seats were put on sale at Bennett Park yesterday, and a wild rush ensued. The National Commission regulated the sale and everything possible was done to prevent speculators from securing the coveted pasteboards. Long lines extended from the ticket windows and waited for hours to get the opportunity to buy reserved seats. The supply was practically sold out before nightfall.

Under the present weather conditions the pitchers will be George Mullin for the ded willin for fielding behind the Detroit twirler contributed to his defeat, as he held Pitts burg to one hit less than was made by Detroit. Adams again defeated Detroit in the fifth game at Pittsburg, and this time he clearly outpitched Summers and Willett. Mullin has pitched three games and won two, while Adams has worked in only two and both were victories for him.

It is almost certain the three Detroit cripples—Tom Jones was at Bennett Park for the morning practice, but did not participate in the workout. He is bewailing the loss of his pet glove more than his injury. In the confusion after he was nijured yesterday his glove disappeared. He has offered a reward for its return. Schmidt and Moriarity are certain to start the game.

Both teams practiced at Bennett Park in the morning and went to the races at Windsor in the afternoon.

Large amounts of money have been wagered on the game, and while the bulk is being placed at even money, Detroit has been made an reserved seats were put on sale at Bennett Park yesterday, and a wild rush ensued. The National Commission regulated the sale and everything possible was done to prevent speculators from securing the coveted pasteboards. They are matched tributed. He resembles Sharkey in build near San Francisco. They are matched to go twenty rounds at catch weights, a side bet of $10,000 and 60 per cent. of the gross receipts, which may amount to $30,000. Jack Welch, a California referee, will be the third man in the ring. Johnson, 6 feet 1 3-4 inches tall, says he will weight 195 pounds when he steps to the scratch. Ketchell's height has been announced as 5 feet 11 inches, but he is fully an inch shorter. He will tip the beam at about 176 pounds, being heavier by sixteen pounds than when he knocked out Jack O'Brien in Philadelphia last spring. Ketchel is 22 years old, and Johnson is 31.

COMMENT AND GOSSIP

Owen Moran, the English featherweight, will probably arrive in New York from the other side to-day prepared to make a match with Abe Attell. pared to make a match with Abe Attentife articles are signed they can secure a big purse for a forty-five round bout at Colma. Moran was matched to meet Jem Driscoll in a twenty round bout in England not long ago, but it was finally declared off because the purse of-Driscoll will come over soon and will be ready to fight either Moran or Attell.

"Wonder those fellows don't get their brains kicked out," remarked the un-initiated at the football game. "Can't," responded his instructor, "no man with brains plays the game."

To-day J. Johnson and S. Ketchell will exchange swats for a consideration, and the public will await anxiously the fate of the Senegambian and the Assassin. It's another case of a great little man up against a good big man, and the rest should be easy. Stanley may be good to his mother, but it looks as if he might be a bad selector of scrapping partners.

Battling Nelson has agreed to accept a $10,000 bonus to box twenty rounds with Ad Wolgast in Frisco on November 12. Several months ago Wolgast outpointed Nelson in a rattling ten round bout at Los Angeles and has been anxious for another content ever since. Freddie Welsh, the English lightweight champion, will box twenty rounds with Johnny Summers in London, Monday night, after which he will make arrangements to come to this country to renew his attempt to force Nelson into a battle for the world's title.

Explorer Ketchell says he will present his proofs to-day.

lion's courage, and fears nothing. While Ketchel is not much of a boxer, he knows enough about ring tactics to be dangerous, while as a two-handed fighter he bears the reputation of being the greatest puncher of his weight and inches in the world.

If Ketchel beats Jyhnson it will be wholly due to his power to deliver a terrific blow. He has been fighting all comers since he was sixteen years old, and in tackling Johnson he seems to think that he has not assumed an arduous task. He says Johnson cannot hit hard enough to hurt him, and that if he finds an opening either for the head or body he will send home a wallop that "I have been employed by persons who do not wish their identity known," said Berry, "and to date I have obtained enough evidence to prove that the charge is far from being unfounded. Since the championship series first was started I have ascertained that two of 'the 'Pittsburg players, Leach and Miller, went to Manager Clarke and almost implored of him that a certain member of the team, who had played fairly consistent ball all season, be eliminated from the Pittsburg line-up, and that Abbatachio or Hyatt be substituted for him. I am not prepared at this time to say that either Leach or Miller had any suspicions that this man was in league with the gamblers of Pittsburg or if they feared he would blow up at crucial moments. However, I know it to be true that they did endeavor to have this man barred from

ITTSBURG, OCT. 16.

—Ira A. Berry, an operative in the employ of a private detective agency here, has been retained to obtain the proof that one of the members of the Pittsburg Baseball Club, in league with local gamblers, had agreed to throw several games of the championship baseball series to Detroit, should the opportunity offer itself. According to Berry, he has obtained enough proof to give every credence to the charge which has been almost rampant in Pittsburg yesterday.

"I have been employed by persons who do not wish their identity known," said Berry, and to date 1 have obtained charge.

TIGERS ARE FAVORITES FOR THE FINAL GAME.

Despite Inclement Weather Condition Record Breaking Crowd Turning Out to See Deciding Game in World's Series.

Detroit, Mich. Oct. 16 .-- What is beieved to be the largest crowd that ever ! saw a baseball game in Detroit went out to Bennett Park to-day to witness the seventh and decisive game of the world's championship series between Pittsburg and Detroit. The weather was cold, with the thermometer registering between 35 and 40 degrees above zero.

The sky was clear, although the weather forecast promised snow flurries.

Detroit turned out en masse for the final game of one of the greatest baseball battles that has ever been fought. The great majority of the crowd that went to Bennett Park was confident of a victory for the American League champions. Many wagers were made at even money, and several were recorded with Detroit a slight favorite at 5 to 4 or 10 to 7.

Detroit a single ravoree as a lot of 7.

Geo. Mullin, the hero of the series in the eyes of the Detroit supporters, was confidently expected to be the choice of Manager Jennings as the man to pitch the crucial game. The day was too cold for Donovan. Mullin warmed up in fine shape, and the crowd sent up a great cheer when it was seen that he to-day he will be in a position to at least make the great Ty Cobb share his niche in the hall of buseball fame.

Manager Clarke refused to make any definite announcement concerning his selection for pitcher. He had Adams, Maddox and Phillippe working this morning, and the three showed up well.

The three Detroit players who were injured in the ninth inning of Thurslay's game were all in the line-up during the practice. Tom Jones was apparently none the worse for his collision with Wilson, and worked snappily around first base. Schmidt was behind the bat, and showed no ill effects of the spiking he had received, while Moriarity's sore kneed did not appear to cause him any knee did not appear to cause him any trouble. The regular Pittsburg team was in the field, and practiced in brilliant style. The infield worked well, with Wagner making some clever stops and catches. O'Loughlin was the umpire behind the bat, with Johnston on the bases, and Klem and Evans along the outfield foul lines.

Italian Runner

What do you know about this Emilo Lunghi person who came here from Italy, trained on a dief of spaghetti and chainti, and romped off with the half-mile championship of the United States, cutting three-fifths of a second from the half-mile record?

Pretty tough to see Kilpatrick's great performance of 14 years ago smashed to everifacting emithereens and by "one of them foreignes," as Martin Sheridan put is. But as "Kilwas the first to congratuate Emilio, etc. about all the rest of us can do is to come. http://doi.org/10.1001/j.j.com.

as RI was the lifet to congratuate and is to come in.

The half-mile is killing distance. It is almost a sprint, and it takes the heart out of the best of them to go the route. For 25 or thirty years the best half-milers have been Americans. Prior to 1831 England had the cream of the performers at this distance, and now Italy forges, to the front with Lunghi.

An interesting little table showing how the world's record has been sliced from time to time by the 880 yard men is appended. It tells a story of athletic development hard to refute.
