Considering the very busy time (a considerable number of farmers not being quite through harvesting) there was a pretty good attendance. As usual, the young ladies and gents did their share in providing estables, which were in abundance and of excellent quality, also of great variety; they deserve great praise. There was also a mental supply of food on the occasion, the speakers being Rev Geo. Richardson, of Goderich, and W. F. Campbell, of Holmesville, and recently of Dungannon. We are told that Mr Campbell delivered an excellent speech, which was highly appreciated by all present; it was pronounced to be the speech of the evening. Financially, as well as in every other respect, the Harvest Home was a success, upwards of ninety dollars being taken up.
The committee of management and others who assisted in making the affair a success deserve the encomiums of the congregation. Weather was all that could be desired for such an occasion,

SEARLE THE WINNER

Kangaroo Defeats the Reaver in the LONDON, Sept. 9.—William O'Connor's effort to win the highest sculling honors of the world has failed, and an honest and well-rowed race resulted in an easy victory for Searle. The contest was decided under the most favorable conditions. It was a lovely September day, with bright sunshine, and the only drawback results and the only drawback.

back was a moderate head wind.

The betting the first thing this morning expressed the general feeling that the race would be a very close thing. En route to Putney a hundred and five to one hundred was freely offered on Searle. At Patney before the start O'Connor's friends came with a rush. After evens had been taken O'Connor became the favorite at 100 to 80 against Searle, and this was the ruling quotation for the last ten minutes. Both men appeared a few minutes before the time appointed, each receiving a hearty greeting. Searle won the toss and chose the Surrey side. Very little delay was experienced in starting.

THE START.

When word to go was given, like the wings of two great birds the oars flashed and the men were away, O'Connor gain The water was smooth and the tide just at the etb. For a hundred yards the nose of Searle's boat was only even with the Cauadian's body. Then a great roar arose from the crowd as the Australian was seen to be creeping slowly up on the other O'Connor realized it and put that purpose.

A few days ago, when shooing a horse at the smithy, our blacks in the got his hand badly bitten by the wayward steed.

A few days ago, when shooing a horse another hundred yards his young antagonist was even with him, and then for twice that distance both strained every nerve. The pace was the most rapid ever rowed, as was proved by the cir-cumstance that the Australian beat the record to Hammersmith Bridge, half the distance, by four seconds, when he led O'Connor by a length and a half. It was Searle's race after that. The knowing ones feared that the Canadian had lost his nerve, when, as Searle began to draw away from him at the end of the first mile, he kept glancing across at his opponent, and when he missed a stroke with his right oar and caught a crain the spectators delightedly applauded Searle, who rowed steadily from start to finish without any indication of nervousness. From Hammer-smith Bridge the Australian continued to increase the distance between the two boats, and O'Connor could be seen to be nearly spent. A great many of the spectators did not expect to see him finish the race, but he stuck to his oars pluckily, though his strokes were uneven and his strength momentarily failing. At the bridge at Barnes the Australian was six lengths in the lead. and O'Connor was so nearly played that before the line was crossed his opponent had increased the distance to 10 lengths. The opinion of professional and non-professional spectators was that it was a good race fairly won. THE TIME. The first mile was done in 4:53, Searle then rowing 32 strokes to O'Connor's 33.

At Hammersmith Bridge Searle's time was 8:38 and O'Connor's 8:44, when the tion, the amputation of her arm, is pace told on both, and O'Connor slack-ened down to 28 strokes to the other's 30. Searle's time at the finish was 22
