Mrs. Calbiok, of Brussels, spent a few days in town last week prior to her leaving for British Columbia, where she intends joining her husband.

Miss Benjamin, of Belleville, sang in fine artistic style in St. George's church last Sunday evening. She possesses a remarkably fine soprano voice.

The popular teamster, Hopper, is now doing a rushing trade. A short time ago he invested in a more speedy horse so that he could overtake the business that was crowding him. Push will tell.

Dr. M. Nicholson, the West-st. dentist, makes the preservation of the natural teeth a specialty. Gas administered from 9 a. m. to the painless extraction of teeth.

Messrs. Swanson & Graham have taken the contract for re-shingling North-st. Methodist church, and commenced operations on Tuesday last.

A number of men were arguing religion on the Square on Sunday, which proved to be a picnic for the boys. The "jazz" was terrible, and such disturbances should be stopped by the police especially on Sunday.

Capt. Wiggins, with a party of our local sports, left for Johnston's Harbor, on the peninsula, for two weeks' fishing and shooting. The party was composed of Messrs J. Grant, H. Ball, F. Humber, H. Watson, N. Bobier, and P. Sheppard.

Mr. A. J. Macdonald, for some years back a resident of Chicago, but formerly of Goderich, spent a week or so in town recently getting a sniff of Goderich pure air. He likes the old town yet, and believes closer trade relations between Canada and the U. S. would build Goderich up.

The contract for remodeling the temperance hall has been let to Jameson Reid, mason, and Jas. Buchanan & Son. The wing on the north side is to be extended to the road and the wall between torn down and replaced by folding doors; the floor is to be made level and the platform to be moved to the centre on the south side.

KEPT NO COWS.—A little boy from one of the American cities, while visiting in town was watching his aunt milking when he asked her what she was doing; on hearing her reply that she was getting milk he started laughing, saying, "That's a funny way to get milk, we get ours from the milkman and he don't have any of them things."

At the Quarterly Board meeting Monday evening in Victoria-street Methodist church, George Green was appointed representative to the District meeting to be held next Tuesday at Seaford. The usual business was transacted. The attendance of officials was the best in the history of the church, and the meeting was one of great harmony.

Mr. A. O. Pattison, the well known station agent at Clinton was in town Tuesday. He has recently been appointed consular agent at Clinton, which has been made an outpost of Goderich. Up to date none of the "truly lofi" around Clinton have manifested any disposition "hang him on a sour apple tree" for being in league with the States.

SEMPER PARVO YOUNG PEOPLE.—During the past year Rev. Mr. Hutton in his church gave quarterly sermons specially for young ladies and gentlemen which to judge by the attendance were much appreciated. Next Sunday evening he preaches a special sermon for young men. "The Wandering Boy—Where is He?" is the theme, and Mr. Hutton cordially invites the young men of the town.

The number of tickets issued is limited to the carrying capacity of the boat, which is strong, powerful and fast—she having come from Kincardine to Goderich on a recent occasion in 2 hours and 40 minutes. At a dance in McKillop township recently the staid, old-fashioned Brussels lost is authority for the statement that there were 101 gentlemen and 8 ladies present. In pioneer days this would have been called a stag dance.

THE LONDON BICYCLES.—By error last week we announced that the London Bicycle Club would visit Goderich Sunday. The date of their arrival is the 16th inst. The other particulars of their proposed visit are correct.

Mr. R. P. Wilkinson and sister have gone to the American Canoe Association's meet at Jensen's Neck Point, Long Island, U. S. They will join the Ontario's Canoe Club, of Galt, at Toronto, and thence proceed to their destination via New York by the Erie R. R.

COMMUNICATIONS.

We do not hold ourselves responsible for the opinions of our Correspondents. Contributors to this department must confine themselves to public questions, and be brief.

"Where ignorance is bliss, etc."
To the Editor of the Signal.

Sir.—A correspondent of a Clinton paper in his Goderich items says that during the offertory at St. George's church last Sunday Miss Benjamin, of Belleville, sang a sacred solo most melodiously, but that being in Latin, a language he did not understand, he could not tell the name of the hymn. What?—a talented newspaper correspondent, and a constant editor not having heard of Byron's beautiful hymn to the Mother of our Saviour, commencing:
"Ave, Maria!
Tis the hour of prayer."
Enough said. ANGLICAN.

John Adams was a Tory.
To the Editor of the Signal.

Sir.—I knew John Adams intimately from the day he came to town until the day he left here, and after, and state distinctly that he never was a Grit, a Reformer, or in any way leaned toward Liberalism. Time and again he discussed the political situation with me, and invariably pinned his faith to the Tory party on the ground that it was the "high-toned" party. He never polled a Reform vote while a resident of this section, and I know it; and I might further say that in the election of 1867 he came all the way from Stratford to vote against Cameron and Gibbons. It is all well enough for some individual whose word might not be taken in a commercial transaction to try to gain credence for a statement regarding Adams' politics by signing a bogus name, but if he has faith in his opinion, and believes his fellowmen would credit his statement if they do not sign his name like a man, instead of slandering the dead and abusing the living from behind the skulker's hedge, I'll venture the statement that if "Verity" undertakes to declare himself as an anecdotalist, the people will laugh so loudly at the idea of him coming forward as a public mentor that the little bird will not chirp so blithely in the future. Yours truly,
W. G. SMITH,
Goderich, Aug. 6, 1890.

the agency and office rent, but, sir, I not only again assert, but can prove, that from that day forth, John Clark was a staunch Tory. As to John Adams I shall only at present state that whatever he may have "claimed to be" when with his friend "Verity" and their joint confederates, I am at this moment prepared to name at least a baker's dozen of our most respectable citizens, and old-time Reformers who knew Adams well, and who will tell you that they never looked upon him as a Reformer, and that he was never seen at a Reform meeting.

"Verity" seems to pile on the agony with great grace about the squeezing and robbing the poor settlers out of "enormous sums;" he reiterates it in four different places and in varied phraseologies, and then adds that the head of the "purists" was Thomas McQueen. Now, sir, I should like to know how Mr. "Verity" justifies himself in naming the dead man, and emphasizing the other "five gentlemen all Grits" without naming them, and giving them a chance to defend themselves if able to do so. Is that "Verity's" idea of British fair play or English honor? Did not time and space prevent, it was my intention to tell you something of a Tory clique who had a hand in the Crown Lands deal, but of whom veracious "Verity" says nothing! but that must wait another opportunity; and in the meantime I earnestly beg of him to let us have the promised copy of the Commissioner's report. Yours truly,
CLAREN GARRETT.

Reply to the Star's "Verity."
To the Editor of the Signal.

DEAR SIR.—Please kindly oblige with space in your first issue to respond to the lengthy but somewhat vague and incoherent production of "Verity" in last week's Star. And please also to allow me to introduce it by an anecdotalist—a point of a sturdy farmer of long, long ago, who when on his morning rounds and the bull went at him, caught his bulship by the tail and addressed him energetically from that point of vantage as follows: "You're a damned sprig of shillalah, and when the bull bellowed at every blow, simply retorted with, 'Well, who's began it!' Now, sir, should any little unpleasantness arise from this matter I hold the author and the publishers of the "floating paragraph" responsible for the trouble, for had they used the word "anecdotalist" instead of "Grit," it would have answered every purpose of general information. But, that was not the object. No, sir, John A.'s election is looming in the near future, and the thin point of the wedge must be entered at all hazards, if possible to split or injure the Reform party in Huron. The Star's correspondent asserts that John Clark the then Crown Lands agent "ended his career in Scotland by fleeing from a charge of writing treasonable and traitorous articles in an Edinburgh paper." As well, sir, might this writer declare that every one who opens his mouth against the cowardly and iniquitous acts of gerrymandering, franchise and such like, which Sir John Macdonald invariably enacts before he dare face a general election, is liable to receive the highest punishment which the civil law of Canada can inflict! The several trades of Edinburgh, sir, are or were in some sort of way incorporated with rules and laws of their own, and with an annually elected Deacon as their head official. Now, at this particular time the Tory City council had enacted some civil law—I forget its title—which bore hard on the poorer classes generally, and especially on the bakers as a body; and, Clark as their leader pro tem was put forward to defend their cause through the columns of the New North British Reform newspaper; but, unfortunately, having used some strong words towards the Lord Provost, he was served with a writ for libel, and chose to take leg bail across the Atlantic rather than be utterly ruined for life by a wealthy corporation. Such, sir, was the head and front of poor Clark's offending while in the Land of Cakes; and who amongst us would have done otherwise? Are there no boundary jumpers even in Huron who would not have done so for even less justifiable reasons? But it would appear that the sea voyage had a deleterious effect on his political principles. He had barely been settled on his farm on the Bayfield road when the Canada Company's steamboat was declared to be ready for sea, and the Company advertised largely throughout the States that the Goderich steamboat would be at such a place in Buffalo weekly, for the reception of emigrants for Huron, and Clark was appointed as agent. I doubt, however, whether either Goderich or Huron, ever benefited sufficiently to pay

THE G. N. W. FAIR.

What the Directors are Doing for the Entertainment and Instruction of the Public.

The prize lists of the coming fall show to be held in Goderich on September 15, 16 and 17 are being distributed to all applicants, and members of the Society, and anyone desirous of procuring a copy should apply to the Secretary, at the Star office. The posters will be out next week giving some of the leading particulars.

Correspondence is in progress which it is hoped will result in securing a genuine Wild West Show, which would be a great novelty hereabouts.

The clever and popular acrobats and trapeze performers, Simcoe Brothers, have been engaged for two performances. The Cadets of Temperance, under charge of Mr. George Stewart, are to give an exhibition torch light drill, for which they are making preparations for several evenings a week.

A genuine surprise and delight awaits visitors in connection with the flower department. A large fountain, with a basin 12 feet in diameter, is being erected in the octagon formed by the centre of the main building, and around this will be ranged all the plants and flowers, the space allowed even more room than on the ordinary tables. The fountain will have a circular as well as a central spray, and a very pretty effect will be given in the evenings by means of an illumination through colored glass. A collection of fish has been promised for the basin, and cages of birds will be hung at intervals through the rotunda. This week the grounds are being cleared up and put in order, and such additional accommodation as may be required for stock will be provided in ample time for the fair. Several new and valuable importations of cattle and sheep are promised to be entered, and in every department there may be expected the finest exhibition ever seen in this county.

LONDON'S NEW BISHOP.

Rev. Denis O'Connor Appointed Successor to Archbishop Walsh.

A cable dispatch to the New York Catholic News from its Rome correspondent says that Rev. Denis O'Connor, of Sandwich, Ont., Canadian superior of Basilian Fathers and superior of Assumption College of Sandwich, has been appointed bishop of the diocese of London, Ont., to succeed the most Reverend John Walsh, who was appointed bishop of Toronto last year.

Father O'Connor is a Canadian by birth, 50 years of age. He early determined to devote his life to the Catholic faith, and entered St. Michael's College at Toronto, Ont., with the intention of fitting himself for the ministry. He graduated with high honors at the Toronto College, studied for two years in France, and after visiting all places in Europe important for their connection with religious history, took orders in the church.

Returning to America, Father O'Connor was made a professor of St. Michael's College, his alma mater, but soon resigned to accept the position of superior of the Assumption College at Sandwich. When he entered upon the duties of his new office the college was barely in existence. It was located in some deserted army barracks behind Sandwich, but under the guiding hand of his untiring energy Father O'Connor it steadily advanced in efficiency and prosperity until it has reached the position that it now holds among Catholic educational institutions.

The success of every project that Father O'Connor has undertaken has been due to his great ability as an organizer and the liberal view that he has taken of everyday affairs. Father O'Connor has continued at the head of Assumption College during a period of 22 years, up to the time of his present appointment, and his masterly efforts will soon be felt in the new position that his profound learning and liberal ideas have won for him.

Mr. J. Stark, Hensall, recently shipped a carload of fine horses for speculation to Brandon, Manitoba.

Mr. H. H. Burgess, who was a teacher in the vicinity of Holmesville some years ago, and who is now principal of the Meaford Model School, succeeded at the last University examinations at Toronto in obtaining his first-class provincial certificate, Grade A. All the more credit is due Mr. Burgess as he did the work by self-study while in performance of his arduous duties as Principal of the Model School.

The following pupils from the Garris public school, wrote at Wingham for the entrance examination and were successful, viz.: Jessie McLaughlin, 540; Maggie King, 490; Geo. King, 472; Fred Evans, 456. The highest marks obtained by any candidate in the county was 574 and the second 560. It will thus be seen that the Garris pupils, as usual, have held their own and taken a creditable position.

On Friday afternoon James Gillespie had a narrow escape of losing his life while working in A. Sloan's gravel pit, Blyth. A large quantity of gravel and dirt slid from the top, covering him to the waist before he had time to get out of its way. Unfortunately for him no one was in the pit at the time to assist in extricating him from his perilous position. He was there in that position a considerable time before the teamsters returned and rescued him. We are pleased to hear that he received no serious injury.

Mr. J. H. Broadfoot left last week for Manitoba, where he intends spending a few weeks in Virden and other parts of the province.

Mrs. Kellan, who was Friday week the subject of a dangerous and difficult operation for the removal of cancer in the breast, is recovering nicely.

The Morris and Grey cheese factory made a sale of the balance of June make, 260 boxes. They received 8 1/2 cents. The cheese will likely be shipped this week.

Messrs. Thos and Wm Pringle, of Milwaukee and Chicago, respectively, and former Seaford boys, are in Seaford this week, visiting their sister, Mrs. Chas Wilson.

Mr. D. D. Wilson and the Misses Wilson, Seaford, who have been spending the summer in the old country, are expected to sail for home about the 20th of this month.

Mrs. Connors, 16th con., Grey, had the misfortune to fall from the fence last Saturday, while after the cows and broke her left arm, just above the wrist. She is about 76 years of age.

Reeve Milne and J. C. Heffernan, Ethel, have their new saw mill in Carrick township running, and have made a shipment of lumber. They have arranged with the G. T. R. for a switch to the mill. They are pushers.

A sad accident occurred north of this place on Monday week. Robt Armstrong, youngest son of Mr. James Armstrong, was gored to death by a bull. He lived only one hour after being found, and never spoke a word. He leaves a sorrow-stricken wife of seven months to mourn his loss.

Mr. Gore, Goderich, your catarrh remedy, Brugnansia, has given me eight pounds during one week's use of it. It is a cure I can recommend to any one troubled with catarrh in any form. CHARLES ROBINSON.
