Afraid of Doing Too Much.

BY RUTH CAMERON.

At five minutes of nine the other morning I met a little stenographer lady whom I know just leaving the shopping district, about a half mile away from her office. "Won't you be late?" I asked. "Oh, Yes, I suppose I will," she said, cheerfully. "I stopped to do a little shopping. I often do. You see," she added, faling into step beside me with no appearance of haste whatever. "I don't get paid half what I ought and so I'm not going to work my head off. If I were paid properly I'd try to be prompt, but as it is I take my own time."

You can imagine, can't you, just how likely that little stenographer is to ever get "paid properly?"

And yet her attitude toward business is extremely common.

The fear of doing too much work is not confined to foolish, little rattle-brained stenographers. It is to be found everywhere—that is, everywhere in the ranks of the failures. The successful man is too busy and too fond of work for accomplishment's sake, and not merely for the sake of the money it brings, to be always weighed and balancing lest he give his employer overweight.

A man who is close to the top of the business ladder said to me the other day, "I never worked any harder in my life than I did when I was getting $8 a week. I often stayed at that office until 10 or 11 at night. The other boys would kick. They'd say they weren't going to work themselves to death for $8 a week. But I didn't work myself to death, and I didn't have to do it very long for $8 a week. Everywhere I've been I've done my best work, no matter what I was paid. If I found I wasn't getting ahead, I got out and went where I could make more progress, but so long as I stayed in any place I did my best work."

No man with that spirit and any brains at all could fail.

Of course it is not right for any man to continually give the full force of his brains and energy to an unappreciative and stingy employer. But the solution is not for the worker to become slack in his methods and do an inferior grade of work; that it hurts him as much as it does his employer.

He should make himself valuable, give his employers a chance to recognize and appreciate that value, and if they do not, find someone who will. They are always enough openings for a man who is willing to put the whole of himself into his work.

Household Notes

To prevent needles from rusting, keep them in waxed paper.

When making salmon salad add a hard-boiled egg or two, carefully sliced.

Never stir a sponge cake batter. If this is done, the air is allowed to escape.

To overcome the habit of biting the finger nails, soak them in liquid quinine.

Underwear should be ironed on the right side; colored clothes on the wrong side.

To keep a veil crisp, dip it several times in alcohol and hang it up indoors to dry.

Green peppers, stuffed with fresh green corn and baked, make a dainty luncheon dish.

Apples and onions shredded together make a sandwich filling that many people like.

Cold-saw, served in green pepper shells, is a suggestion for a dainty luncheon addition.

A fine grater is better than a knife for removing the surface of anything that is burned.

It is much easier to climb stairs if the head is held erect and deep, regular breaths are taken.

To quickly prepare horseradish or cocount, pare it and put it through the chopping machine.

In sleeping, keep the head as low as possible, so that the blood may have unimpeded circulation.

A mixture of cream cheese and eggs makes a delicious filling for a brown bread sandwich.

When a recipe calls for a cupful of milk, it means a half pint—an ordinary cup filled level.

In ironing fine silks and muslins, place a piece of fine cambric between the iron and the material.

Peas and almonds may be chopped coarsely and sprinkled over dressed lettuce for a dinner salad.

Old hot-water bags, split open and cut into circular pieces, are good to make mats for house plants.

To freshen stale cake, dip it for a moment in cold milk and then rebake it in an oven at low temperature.

Try serving macaroni with a simple cream sauce, as one would asparagus or cauliflower. It is delicious.

Handles of table-knives should never be immersed in water, or they will inevitably discolor and become loose.

When next scrambling eggs add just a few slices of sweet green pepper, chopped fine, and cook in a little butter.

Vegetables like beets and green corn that contain sugar do not keep

An Address and Reply.

TO MR. L. E. F. ENGLISH.

The following address was presented to Mr. L. E. F. English on the eve of his departure from Branch. Mr. English had been Principal of Branch Superior School for three years, and lately resigned that position to take charge of the boys' school at Torbay. He is one of our best, outport teachers and has done good work at Branch. The whole community there deeply regret his loss to the children. The address was worded as follows:

Dear Teacher.—We cannot allow you to sever your connection with us without expressing our deep regret that you have found it necessary to resign your position at Branch. Ever mindful of your fatherly solicitations and unceasing anxiety for our advancement, we should be very wanting in gratitude and affection if your departure would not elicit from us sentiments of heartfelt sadness.

We avail of this opportunity to express to you, our teacher, our deep sense of gratitude for all you have done for our welfare. The zeal which you have displayed in our regard has endeared you to all, we have learned to know you, to respect you, and to love you as one whose like we may not look upon again. Our school during the three years you have spent with us has taken its place amongst the best in our country and you leave behind you a magnificent record of which you may feel justly proud.

We ask you to accept the accompanying gift as a token of our gratitude and esteem. We wish you many years of happiness and fervently hope that you will rise to still greater eminence in your profession.

Signed on behalf of the pupils of Branch School—

Lena Power, Rose Power, Katie Nash, Ellen English, Alex. English, Joe English, Philomena Power.

The following was Mr. English's reply on the occasion:

My Dear Children—I sincerely thank you for your expressions of affection and your handsome present.

During the years that I have spent with you I am only conscious of having tried to do my duty. This was made easy for me through your good conduct and not through any excellence on my own part. Usually a teacher's task is not a very pleasant one, but mine has been lightened by your love of school and exceptional abilities. I have had also the unceasing co-operation of your parents and this has been a great cause of your progress. The results of the C.H.E. exams. are the splendid reward of your good attendance at school. And we must not forget our esteemed pastor, Rev. A. Fyde, who took such an interest in us during these three years. Our school owes much of its success to his untiring zeal for our welfare.

As it is a teacher's duty to create a liking, not an aversion to school work, I have tried to be kind in all dealings with you. And there has grown up between us a bond of affection which brings keen pangs of regret at parting.

I sincerely trust that you will live up to the good standard you have maintained at school and make honest and useful citizens. I shall ever recall with pleasing memory those days at Branch School.

I remain, dear children,

Your affectionate teacher,
L. E. F. ENGLISH.

Cheap Poultry for This Xmas.

Or the Pullet, Wiggles, and de Man Wat. B.H. de Barge.

It is a well known fact that poultry will be cheap this Christmas as "Pullets" will be slaughtered pretty freely about October 20th.

There will be no scarcity of fresh meat either for the whole Morris herd will also be slaughtered, and even though the weather be mild the Grabballs will get such a freezing out that cold storage will not be necessary.

While on the subject of cold storage (so dear to the knight of the drooping moustache) it must be remarked that it certainly is a strange time of the year for silver thaw, yet last Sunday the Pullet (prize winner Salt Lake City Poultry Exhibition) thawed out so much as to give a little boy on Torbay Road a five cent piece—no exaggeration, a whole big nickel. The little fellow said, "Hallo, Mr. Howley."

Of course it's easy for the "Pullet" to be generous (?) just now after that nice little "grab" of fourteen hundred dollars for arbitrations which he got on the 12th of September.

The Salt Lake City "bird" just now is assailing fishermen with all the might and main of his little crowing and with much flapping of wings is denouncing the Fishermen's Union. Wiggles is also strong on the same stunt. Of course the "silver tongued" orator is incapable of expressing his opinions in English that can be understood so he can't say much about it.

Now it's a peculiar fact that some years ago the "Pullet" was strong for Unions, and to use his own words in a speech made to the Longshoremen in the Mechanics' Hall, on the night of Tuesday, April 14th, 1900, "Union is strength, and it is only by Unions you can exert the command and respect due you and the obtaining of your rights; therefore, all workers and toilers, fishermen and labourers should affiliate and have their Union."

Now he is eating his own words. In his opinion everyone should be united but the fishermen—the bone and sinew of the country. Why, might we ask him, is it wrong for everyone to have their interests affiliated and protected but the fishermen? Surely you don't imagine that the fishermen and honest toilers of Pouch Cove, Torbay, Outer Cove, Logy Bay, Flatrock, and Portugal Cove see through you and your two pawns—Wiggles and the Orator.

Their good friends, the labourers of St. John's have not forgotten how you deserted them when the Longshoremen's Union was in dire straits; how because you thought it was going to burst up you did not want to be in as the finish; how you rattled just in the hour of their trouble when as their solicitor and adviser you should have stood to your guns.

What guarantee have you to give to the fishermen of St. John's East that you would not desert them as you did the labourers if you were placed in a position of trust?

You sadly neglected St. George's and Placentia when you had the honour of being their representative; you made it your boast that you weren't going to be bothered with every lit, the petition and request your clients in the districts would send you. Why are you notorious all over the country for the neglect of your constituents, and for this and innumerable other offences you will have to pardon, as for telling you straight we don't want you, and you'd better go out to the Mormons (as you did before) and see if they require your services.

As for Reid's Lawyer, Wiggles, and the Silver Tongued orator "not dilly" have nothing to do with building a barge" we would advise them to stick to their jobs for they also are stinking in the nostrils of the electors of the East End.

When we tire of our present representatives we will select a new trio, but we don't want any self-appointed candidates in this end of the town. Higgins has been sent down to his doom by his masters the Reids, white Bartlett it is said has been promised the position of stevedoring superintendent at the Dock for coming out.

Strange isn't it? These three bastards are all traitors. We showed last night how Higgins wigged like a slippery eel 4 times; Pullet Howley was fired by Sir Robert Bond from the Liberal Party; while Harry Bartlett, the silver voiced turned over the months ago so as to get a job at the dock.

However, these three shunens can stay at home, for the gallant and noble District of St. John's East, which was the pride of the whole Island last election, is going to do the right thing and this time by electing KENT, DWYER and RYAN, for their slogan is:

Are Cheap Goods Usually Cheap?

That cheap or underpriced goods are not as good as similar articles much higher in price no one can truthfully deny. It is even questionable if the cheaper goods are really worth what is paid for them, but allowing that they are, one is only getting his money's worth after all.

Taking motor engines for example, we find some engines are sold at half the price of others of the same Horse Power. This difference in price is accountable for difference in quality of materials and mechanical precision. In the cheaper engine the materials used are not the best and cannot stand up to hard work, whilst the mechanical part is not the result of highly paid experts.

The Fairbanks Morse Engine which is an honest price engine, is made of the best materials, designed by gas engine experts, and is the product of a concern who build up to a quality standard, and not down to a price. Being the largest and oldest gas engine concern they are in a position to offer their engines as the product of the cleverest gas engine brains available. NOT ONE COMPLAINT from any of our large number of Fairbanks users in NEWFOUNDLAND, is pretty good proof that their gasoline motors are all right, and their kerosene operating engine is of the same high class and reliable order.

Agent.

Pointers.

The East End Liberal Committee, accompanied Messrs. Kent, Dwyer and Ryan, continued their canvass last night. The visitors were greeted with a warm and hearty reception everywhere. Cheers for Sir Robert Bond and the Liberal Party made the hills resound.

The Liberal sentiment is much stronger than it was in the last election. To give you an exact idea of how things are going, in the city Kent and his colleagues will have a complete walk over. From King's Bridge all along the shore to Cape St. Francis fully 85 per cent of the people are strictly Liberal.

The Pullet, the Wiggles and Barge Bartlett will meet the worst defeat on record.

A singular and striking feature of the campaign in the East is that Mr. Ryan, the new candidate is exceedingly popular. This gives rise to the slogan:

Morris's day is waning in the West End. Nobody can deny that.

Ellis, Cowan and Scott are surely gaining ground.

Last night betting was done that Ellis would head the poll in the West. More wagering was done that Scott would beat Morris.

The stirring and eloquent address made by Harry Cowan last Monday night in the T. A. Hall was a masterpiece. His able criticism of the wanton extravagance and misrule of the Picnic Party has enthused the people and made them wake up to a sense of duty and turn the bootlers out.

All through the district a tremendous change has taken place.

The flowing tide is with the Liberal Party.

Despite the dirty tactics that are being used, the electors of St. John's West will help to save the country from disaster by voting the straight ticket for Ellis, Cowan and Scott.

Ends Backache and Kidney Disorders.

Croxone Helps Lifeless Organs Regain Health, Strength and Activity.

It is useless, dangerous and unnecessary to be tortured with the digging, twisting pains of backache or suffer disagreeable kidney and bladder disorders when Croxone is guaranteed to promptly and surely relieve all such misery.

Croxone masters these troubles because it quickly reaches the cause of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the membranes and linings; cleans out the little filtering glands; neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and makes the kidneys filter and sift from the blood that waste system and cause such troubles.

It does not matter whether you have but slight symptoms or a chronic, aggravated case, it is practically impossible to take Croxone without results.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if you are not entirely satisfied the very first time you use it.
