dinner hour, the fire bell rang out which, we are thankful to say, it not very frequently heard in our town. A crowd had gathered in the vicinity of Sergt. Dwyer's residence, where a slight fire was in progress. A quantity of Hay contained in an out house just behind his dwelling had, through some cause or other, caught fire and might have been quite a blaze, had it not been discovered when it was. The firemen with the hose were quickly on the scene, and after working for some time, succeeded in putting out the fire. The only damage done was to the barn and loss of hay, although there were many houses nearby, which would have been in danger it the fire had spread.

The Salvation Army Band from Car bonear, under Adjt. At night a Band Concert was held in the Citadel here, which was well attended. Candy was sold during the evening. An interesting and enjobable programme was rendered by members of the Band, which was concluded near 10 p.m., and the visitors left for Carbonear again, by train.

Barrymore as Barron in "Eternal City"

Lionel Barrymore, conceded to be one of the finest actors alive to-day has the geatest role of his career in "The Eternal City," a First National picture produced by George Fitzmaurice, which is coming to the Star Theatre on Monday. It is a picturization of the famous story by Sir Hall Caine, and was filmed entirely in Barrymore is cast as Baron Bonelli a titled profiteer, who has but two interests in life-money and pretty women. The first he acquired with such ease and readiness that it lost somewhat of its appeal to him. But there was one girl, noted for her beauty, who had repulsed him at every turn. This served merely to spur on his determination to conquer her, and he concocted a plot with the ntention of trapping her. Utilizing her talent as a sculptress as a subterfuge, the baron manipulated her "adoption" by a wealthy countess in Rome. Grief-stricken because she believed her lover flance had been killed on the battlefield, the girl accepted the offer, without suspecting that the baron was supplying he money for her support. The baron's plans of conquest were interrupted in a sensationally dramatic ter that appeared in one of our lecal I refer now to the letter that was written from Argentia to the Daily

now take it upon me to answer the letter from my own point of view. It must be borne in mind that I am not a resident of Port au Bras but I am interested in this particular place and

I like to see equal rights given to all. I will now take my friend's letter and give my views on the matter as if appears before me and let me remind you Mr. Editor I shall not refer to any particular person or place.

The first I notice is that "Interested" says; a ferry does the Burin work in carrying mails and passengers. True she does, if my friend is as much interested as he appears to be he will find that no ferry calls at Port au Bras, so that the mail must be brought from Burin overland, a distance of about three miles. If I remember ed to her owners, Messrs. McRae & rightly the ferry was taken from us

Then again he says; "It is found that quite often the Argyle has neither mail, freight nor passengers for such formation I shall here give a few facts that I have gathered from reliable sources; our Money Order Dept. here has on hand an average of about 350 eer's Department, St. John's, arrived or 400 dollars per month. I quite agree with my friend who vice. Yes by all means but give us St. John's Nurse all a square deal.

We are quite satisfied to do without the services of the Argyle if all other places of simflar size are treated the same. I venture to say there are not many

There are seventy-five families here altogether and they are mostly independent families. As in every locality n Newfoundland there are a few who are not so fortunate as others. Do you not think we should have a service of some kind?

We were informed by one of our

Just Rubs Away Throat Troubles

Miss England Endorses New Vaporizing Ointment for all

Miss Laura England, a nurse who lives at 20 Field St., after trying Vicks, writes: "Vicks is better than anything that I have ever used for rubbing. I was subject to a quinsy throat and a few applications cured me. I also used it for a heavy cold with good results, and would not be without it for general use.

For sore throat, chest colds, bronchitis or incipient pneumonia Vicks is rubbed over the throat and chest and covered with warm flannel. When so applied it's time tested ingredients-Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme, etc.—are vaporized by the heat of the y and inhaled directly into the affected air passages and lungs.

At the same time Vicks is absorbed ugh the skin like a liniment or ultice and thus helps the vapors inhaled to break up the congestion. It is a stubborn cold that can withstand this double direct action.
