Uncle Sam's Forces Meet Stubborn Resistance-Entire Police Force of a Town Captured

Manila, Oct. 11 .- A detachment of the 21st Company of Macabebes today encountered a large force of insurgents near Lipa, Province of Batangas, Lieut Beau, of the Macabebes, was killed, and one of the force was wounded. The enemy was strongly entrenched. After two hours' fighting the Americans re-treated to await reinforcements. The insurgents numbered over 300, were armed with Remington and Mauser rifles and apparently had plenty of am-

Martin, a teacher at Mauban, was captured by the insurgents while visiting a neighboring town under an escort of native police. The next day his captors, relenting, tied him in a hammock and carried him to a point within a mile of the town, and released him, saying he was a non-combatant. The entire police force of Catang, Province of Tayabas, numbering eleven, have been carried off by insurgents, armed only with bolos. Presumably the police made no resistance, as they were well armed with carbines and revolvers.

MODERN WRECKERS

The Immense Sums of Money Invested and Scientific Methods Used.

[Pearson's Magazine.] Although the work of destroying derelicts at sea falls upon government shoulders, it is not a little remarkable that the work of salvage-the work of raising wrecks and of rescuing deres licts, when possible, from destructionis entirely in the hands of private corporations. It is an interesting experience to spend the morning in the offices of one of the great salvage or "wrecking" companies, which have now became so essential for the welfare of a maritime nation, not only because they save the majority of fine vessels that are driven into positions of peril, but because they keep clean channels in all the Instructions flash over the wires; specially constructed boats, fitted with very necessity, from divers to derricks, are dispatched with all haste to the scene of the accident; officials hurry to the fatal spot, while the company's photographer puts his traps together to be able to provide pictoral reports of the work as it progresses. From rendering assistance to harbon tugs which have run aground-a task which occupies only a few hours-the work ranges to saving great liners or disabled ships of war, involving opera-tions on gigantic scales, not likely to be completed within weeks, or even

"DOLLY VARDEN" TONIGHT. Canadians have the honor of first setting the stamp of approval on the new comic opera, "Dolly Varden."When a manager launches an expensive venture like the Lulu Glaser Opera Company, it is not altogether the plaudits of the audience that he counts, but he turns to his box office receipts to see if he is liable to be compensated for investment. In both of these respects have Toronto and more than reassured Mr. F. C. Whitney, the manager. The attendance at the opening was unusually large for an untried attraction, and the most gratifying feature of it all, from a business standpoint, was that night by night the box office receipts grew. The which is a very strong company, one, arrived this morning at 11 o'clock. In spite of the enormous rush for seats there are a number of good ones left.

AT THE LONDON TONIGHT. Tonight at the London Opera House the Burrill Company will produce the leng-looked-for versiou of Joe Jef-ferson's success, "Rip Van Winkle." The piece will be mounted and staked with special scenery and handsome costumes for the great demon scene in the third act, and the production is promised to be given second to none and should be greeted by a large house. At the close of tonight's performance another amateur contest will be held, and those whose names had to be struck off on account of the large number will be given first chance. The contest is for $5, offered by the management, and doubtless the same large list of entries will be booked for it. The performance will be given at 8 o'clock sharp on account of the amateur con-Tomorrow night, Duke of York day, a souvenir matinee will be given for the children of "Uncle Tom's presenting every ticket holder with a beautiful four-colored photo of their royal highnesses, and at night a farewell performance of "Ten Nights in Lovers of music who enjoy high-class presentations of comic opera by the greatest opera company in America, will be delighted to learn that the longlooked-for engagement of the Bostonlans here is announced at the New Grand next Wednesday, Oct. 16. This company needs no second introduction to theater-goers, as it is pre-eminent in the lyric field. The organization numbers nearly 100 people, including a large chorus of fresh young voices and a trained orchestra of selected musicians. The singers this year in the ranks of The Bostonians include those ranks of The Bostonians include those prime favorities and famous artists Henry Clay Barnabee, W. H. ## MILITIA ARE CONSTABLES

Act of Parliament Invests Them With Police Powers.

The Public Must Observe Their Orders or Arrest and Punishment May Follow.

Chief Williams desires to call the attention of the public to the provisions of an act passed in 1881, which enacts that when militia are called on to assist the civil authorities they become for the time being constables, and are vested with the same powers The public as the city policemen. The public will therefore do well to remember that members of the militia can place them under arrest for any disobediance of orders or any obstruction to the performance of duty, and this may be followed by the same penalties as though the arrests were made by the police themselves.

At last he squatted on the Banks of a Stream where Fishing was good. He put up a log Shack and proposed to a broad faced Squaw, who gently but firmly gave him the Mitten. Bearing up under this Disappointment, he continued to pitch Horse-Shoes, hooray for Andrew Jackson and take Ague Medicine. One day he snaked a Piece of Calico off of a passing Emigrant Wagon. When they were spliced by a Horse Doctor they could not foresee that this was the beginning of the House of John. Soon after this he traded a Gallon of 40-Rod for 600 acres of Land, such as it was. The Steamboats came up the River and stopped at John's Landing. It was called John's Landing, not because of any desire to do honor to the low-down Trash, but because John was the whole Settlement. By and bye there was a Row of Log Houses called Main Street. Also a General Store. Then John's old Adversary, the Chills-and-Fever, got a jim-tree Coil on him and he cashed

John the Second fell into the 600 Acres of Scrub Timber because no one had been foolish enough to buy it from the Old Man. BELMONT.—A had property upon which there is a mortgage for $300, part due. He died and left it to his widow as long as she lives; at her death it goes to his three children. The widow wants to sell property or let the mortgage be closed. One of the children does not want to sign off. What can the man do that holds the mortgage? Can he compel him to sign off or can he foreclose mortgage, and give a clear deed of it without all signing off? What claim would B get, or could he hold against property by not signing off or could he get anything out of property by not signing off? Ans.—The holder of the mortgage can sell the property under the power of sale in the mortgage if the children are of age, and if not, he can do so by order of the court without any signing off by the widow or the children, who will have a right to the surplus price of the property after payment of the mortgage money, interest and costs in the same proportions as if the property remained unsold. After sale One Day a Stranger in town saw all the People falling off the Sidewalk and groveling in the Dust before the August Presence of John the Third. "Why does every one Kow-Tow to the Gentleman with the Aristocratic Features?" he asked.

"Sh-h-!" said his Friend. "He comes of a very Old Family." MORAL-Truth is stranger than Fiction, especially in a Democracy.

METHODIST MISSION BOARD. St. Marys, Oct. 11.-The annual meeting of the general board of missions of the Methodist Church of Canada was opened here yesterday. Only routine business was done during the afternoon. In the evening the anniversary was held. After religious service Dr. A. E. Mallory, of Colborne, was appointed chairman. Rev. James Henderson, D.D., associate secretary, presented an abstract statement of the annual report of the missionary society, and Rev. A. Sutherland, D.D., the general secretary, presented the financial report. Addresses were delivered by Rev. R. Whittington, D.D., The election of Mr. Thomas Gifford, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator effectually removes these pests, at once relieving the little sufference.

EDISON'S INVENTIONS

In His Own Opinion Incandescent Lights Are Best-Viewing His Old Home-Sold Papers and Peanuts:

"Thirty years ago I was peddling to Detroit." The speaker was standsteaming down the Detroit River, on the dustless highway that leads from Lake Erie to the City of the Straits. The greatest electrician of the age, who hung the industrial firmament of the closing century with millions of incandescent lamps, was di recting the attention of his wife, Capt Brown, and others, who were about him to the scene of his early struggles Pleasent indeed must have been the recollection of these events which ; kindly fate threw around the geniu of a boy to produce the matchlest Edison. There was lustre in his eye as he swept up and down the coun try across the channel, where once the "fast express" from Detroit to Port Huron carried the youngster whe was destined to light up the continents with the lanterns of his genius. There are many who do not hesitate to pronounce Thomas A. Edison the greatest man the century has produced. If we measure greatness by achievement, how can we compare Edison, the man who has kept the patent office busy for a quarter of a century, with other men? Surely you cannot compare a genius of such mental candle-power with politicians or so-called "statesmen." No politician ever hung the highways of human endeavor with lamps to guide the feet of men. A string of words, skillfully chosen, is a beautiful thing, and sometimes moves men to think, but you can't light a town with it at night.

"The incandescent electric lighting system," he promptly answered. not only invented the incandescent light, but I was compelled to work out all the complicated details of the machinery that is necessary to produce that light and distribute it in cities, towns and mercantile establishments.'

All this by way of preface to some observations concerning what may yet become Mr. Edison's most important contribution to the arts and industries of man. A few days ago he was granted a patent on his storage bat-tery, upon which he has been working for years. 'I knew this battery had to come," said Mr. Edison, "so I made up my mind I might as well be the one to work out the problem." It is not too much to say that the industrial world has been waiting for this storage battery. heretofore in use have been costly, bulky and short-lived. Batteries costing $250 have been known to wear out in twelve months. The electric automobile has been beyond the people of ordinary means. The traction interests of the country have had vast projects under suspension, waiting for some genius to supply a cheap, practicable, dependable storage battery. Without going into technical details it may be said that Edison has discarded lead in the construction of the storage battery-a metal garded as indispensable in these batteries-and has made use of iron and nickel. So incredulous were the electrical engineers over the announced results of Mr. Edison's experiments with these metals that the expert examiner in the patent office who first passed upon his application for a patent made the report: or at least improbable." "Impossible

CARS AND 120 SHEEP WENT DOWN Halifax, Oct. 11.-One hundred and twenty sheep are now at the bottom of the Strait of Canso, as a result of the upsetting of a raft off Mulgrave Wednesday afternoon. A flock of 127 sheep were on their way to Sydney the mainland. At Mulgrave, from where the sheep were being conveyed, they were placed on a raft to be tow-ed to Point Tupper. When near the middle of the strait the raft upset, and Dine at the Big House was given such cars and sheep were consigned to the water. Out of the number seven only were saved.
