FIVE MUST LEAVE THE PIRATE FOLD

New Law Enacted by the National League Compels Team to Cut Down to 25.

THE PITCHERS WILL GO

And Infielders May Be Weeded Out-Clarke May Direct Men From Bench.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Hot Springs, Ark., March 29.—As time passes, the thought begins to present itself to the Pirates that within a short time at least five of their number will have been turned adrift—traded, sold, farmed or released outright. Under the new rule recently enacted by the National League, no club can carry more than 25 men between May 1 and August 25; and as there are now about 30 men under contract with the champlons, it follows have to be let out.
Who Goes? pions, it follows that some of them will

To date, however, there is no means of ascertaining who the five will be.

It may be that the pitching department alone will suffer; and again it is possible that the infield and outfield will be called upon to contribute its pro rata share of sacrifices. Manager Clarke and President Dreyfuss, of course, will say nothing in this connection. They are both closely scrutinizing the work of the new men, and when the time comes for disposing of the surplus material, it is certain both will agree as to who are to be well to again look over the present material, and to hazard a guess as to the probable fate of the men now under contract. Say we take every man and make a guess? This is my idea of what Pitchers.

To be retained: Adams. Camnitz. Leever. Phillippe, Maddox. Leifield. Powell. Frock. Brandom. Webb, and either Harry Camnitz or Moore.

In doubt: Humphries. Cutting and either Harry Camnitz or Moore.

Webb seams to have made the team already, while Harry Camnitz, Cutting and Moore haven't shown up quite so brilliantly. All of these boys are good pitchers, but no club, not even the Pirrates, can afford to carry fourteen pitchers, and some of them will have to go elsewhere for a spell.

Tough?

chers, and some of them will have to go elsewhere for a speil.

Catchers.

Here is a difficult problem, indeed. With four high-class men in hand, it is hard to determine who should stay and who should go. Gibson of course, is a fixture—there never was any doubt in his case; and it may be that Manager Clarke will decide on retaining the other three. O'Connor and Simon are old-timers with the club, but Bridges has shown that he will be kept. So, if there Infielders.

Outfielders. There' will be no change in the outer gardens. Clarke, Leach and Wilson will stay, unless it turns out that Captain Fred Clarke decides on relegating himself to the bench, there to direct operations. In this case, Hyatt will probably be played regularly, with Vin Campbell as subed regularly, with Vin Campbell as substitute. Campbell is a good man, and I feel certain he will be held on to.
George Gibson is hitting the ball hard this trip. His batting in Thursday's game was terrific. Once when Leifield tried to pass him, Hack reached into the air and poled the ball out for three bags.
His next hit was a clean homer, but be-

Raffles Are Being Held and One Man of Every 300 Will Have All Expenses Paid.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

New York, March 29.—Books were opened today in half a dozen hotels here, by which "one sport in every 300" will be sent to California to represent the Broadway contingent at the Jeffries-Johnson battle on July 4.

Interest in the big mill has become so intense that all the ingenuity of the intense that all the ingenuity of the sporting public is being turned to the invention of means of accomplishing the transcontinental trip.

The new plan is along the line of the old-time rafile. There are tickets numbered from 1 to 300, to be sold at from 1 cent to $3. Personally Represented.

The ambitious fight fan draws a num per and pays the amount recorded on it After all the tickets are sold, then the lucky number will be drawn, and 299 will have to be satisfied with the knowledge that they are "at least personally represented at the ringside." Hundreds of fight followers already have sent their "hundred bucks" apiece to Tex Rickard and Jack Gleason to insure good seats close to the ringside.

No fight in many years has aroused anything like the amount of interest being displayed here.

"Opinions" Are Scarce. Old fighters and so-called fight experts, who have been out of the public view for many years, have suddenly reappeared. and the younger generation listens eagerly to all they have to say. But the fan looking for a straight tip may go up and down the line all day and all night without obtaining the slightest statisfaction. Both fighters have their admirers, but the so-caded authorities are extremely wary. The men who have "reputations as prophets at stake" are as silent as ciams.

In the absence of "expert information" there is practically no betting at this early stage.
