DR. HELEN M'MURCHY MADE INSPECTOR OF FEEBLE MINDED

Appointed To a New Office Created By the Provincial Government.

Toronto, June 19.—Hon. W. J. Hanna, Provincial Secretary, has created a new position in the hospital branch of his department, that of inspector of feeble-minded and assistant inspector of hospitals and charities. To this work Dr. Helen M'Murphy, of Toronto, has been appointed.

The duties of this office, Mr. Hanna explained, will be to inspect all prisons and public charities and give particular attention to the custodial care of the feeble-minded. Dr. M'Murphy will visit county houses of refuge, industrial houses of refuge and orphanages in different parts of the province.

"The movement set on foot within the last two years and that received a considerable impetus in the convention last winter, urging upon the municipalities co-operation in the care of the feeble-minded, will get all the support the Government can give it," said Mr. Hanna.

Infant Mortality.
 "Dr. MacMurphy," he went on, "has given special attention to the question of infant mortality, and in her inspection of orphanages, infant homes, etc., the special facilities afforded of meeting people in her new position will give her an opportunity of following this up."

Dr. Bruce Smith has been in charge of this work heretofore, and Mr. MacMurphy's appointment will enable him to give more attention to the medical side of asylum and hospital practice than he has been able to in the past. When interviewed last night Dr. MacMurphy stated that she had not been officially advised of her appointment. Dr. MacMurphy has given much study to the question of caring for the mentally deficient, especially women and children, and her various reports have awakened widespread interest among many who have been impressed with the need of remedial steps being taken for providing more advanced treatment for this class. Dr. MacMurphy intimated last night that it was rather premature to say anything about her plans, but she thought the duties of such an office would demand the major portion of her time. Dr. MacMurphy's appointment is among the first, if not the first, of its kind on this continent that has gone to a woman. In her work she will have charge of male as well as female patients.

A Useful Career.
 A daughter of the late Archbishop MacMurphy, LL. D., Dr. MacMurphy herself holds many high academic honors. She is a graduate of the University of Toronto, an M. B. of the Medical College for 1900, and an M. D. for 1901. For some years before taking her medical degrees she was a teacher in the Toronto Collegiate Institute (near Jarvis street), of which her father was rector. Subsequently she studied in the Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, and the Women's Medical College at Philadelphia and at the end of 1901 became resident medical assistant at the Toronto General Hospital. During the intervening years until the present she has carried on a general practice and has lectured as well on anatomy, physiology and kindred subjects at the Toronto Conservatory School of Expression, Haverhill College, St. Margaret's College and Branksome Hall in this city. In 1906 she prepared a course of the feeble-minded in Ontario, was elected president of the Women's University Club in 1905, and vice-president of the Charities and Correction Association in 1908. A member of the British Medical Association Congress in 1909, Dr. MacMurphy was appointed by the Provincial Government to represent Ontario at the first international conference on infant mortality at Baltimore in 1911. Dr. MacMurphy was appointed medical inspector of girls in Toronto public schools, but resigned the following year after a heated controversy arising out of her condemnation of the methods employed.

JURY RETURNS OPEN VERDICT IN GALT CASE

Jas. Bruce's Friends Took Him Down to the River Bank.

Galt Man May Have Rotted Into the Water While Intoxicated.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
 Galt, June 18.—Coroner J. H. Radford's jury inquiring into the death of James Bruce, whose body was last Thursday taken from the Grand River, completed their duties by bringing in an open verdict. After an hour's deliberation over the evidence of twelve witnesses, Foreman J. Spooner reported, "That in the opinion of the jury the deceased James Bruce came to his death from a severe blow or fall on the head and how produced we had no evidence to show. We also strongly censure the parties who led him to the river bank."

The Chief Witness.
 Elven Gerrard, who was arrested by Chief Gorman, with Bruce's watch in his possession, was the chief witness. His story was that on Saturday night, June 7, he saw deceased step off a Guelph, Berlin and Hespeler car in an intoxicated condition with another man carried him to the river bank, so as to evade the police. Three other friends also joined them and drinks were passed around from flasks. It was agreed to relieve Bruce of his watch, so that it would not be stolen, and as witness knew Bruce best he was given charge of it with the understanding that it would be returned when Bruce sobered up. After going down town, Gerrard said he returned to where Bruce was and found him sleeping on the high bank of the river. He had left him and did not see him again.

Story Corroborated.
 In the main this story was corroborated by the other men who were with Bruce on the Saturday night. Dr. Vardon, who assisted in the post-mortem examination, was recalled and stated that, after viewing the precipitous bank, near which Bruce is said to have lain, and noting the nature of the wounds on his head, he believed it possible for such wounds as were found on the head of the dead man to have been sustained as the result of a fall.

Moving Picture Man Surprised Legislators by Taking Them Unexpectedly.

A REMARKABLE CHANGE

[Canadian Press.]
 Paris, June 19.—Reasoning that moving pictures of the Chamber of Deputies during important debates would stimulate pride and patriotism throughout France, the clerk, on his own responsibility and privately, gave permission to a cinematograph company to work its cameras in the legislative hall. While the three-year military service bill was under consideration a macho was installed and ran several hours before the deputies were aware of its presence. Alderman Anderson jumped to his feet, and answered the charges made by Alderman Hubbard.

Toronto Man Was Held by the Police For Blackmail.
 Toronto, June 18.—John Maloney, who was arrested yesterday, charged with levying blackmail on a man by telling him that he could square it only by paying $100, failed to turn up in the police court this morning, and his bail of $1,000 cash was exonerated. A warrant was issued for his arrest.

BOY IS MISSING

 Woodstock, June 18.—Ralph Coghlin, a 12-year-old boy, who disappeared last Thursday from his home here, has not yet reappeared, and his parents are anxious to know of his whereabouts. The police are making a thorough search for the lad, and both they and the boy's parents will be grateful for any news as to his location.

He denied the report published that he had contracted to build six airships for the Austrian army.

Followed Husband Even to Death

[Canadian Press.]
 Zurich, June 19.—The mystery surrounding the suicide last Thursday of Eugene Maggi, reputed one of the wealthiest men in Switzerland, and his wife, has been cleared up by the discovery among Maggi's papers of a letter to his family saying that he had been irretrievably ruined financially, and had decided to kill himself.

Underneath this message, in his wife's firm handwriting, was the following: "I believed myself rich, and I was happy. Eugene has just ruined, and announced his determination to die. My duty is to follow him in death. Adieu."

An investigation has confirmed the fact that M. Maggi had lost his all. When Maggi and his wife were found dead as a result of gas asphyxiation in their bedroom in their villa here it was believed that the suicide had been prompted by the fact that although their wealth was estimated at $10,000,000, they were greatly disappointed because they had no children. Maggi was the owner of extensive flour mills in Zurich and other parts of Switzerland, and had numerous other widespread interests.

OFFER FOR RY. TO BE GONE INTO BY APPRAISERS

Toronto Will Spend $10,000 Investigating Sir Wm. Mackenzie's Proposition.

Meeting Was the Stormiest That Present Council Has Yet Held.

Toronto, June 18.—After one of the stormiest sessions it has yet held, the city council today decided by a vote of 13 to 8 to expend $10,000 in investigating the offer of Sir Wm. Mackenzie to sell the Toronto Street Railway and Toronto Electric Company. A valuation will be made as soon as possible.

For five minutes yesterday afternoon it looked as if the fight over the purchase would assume serious proportions. The members indulged in epithets were hurled, and "bedlam" is perhaps the word which describes best the lack of decorum exhibited by the members. Controller Foster was the leader in the outburst.

Trouble Starts.
 The trouble arose over the putting of Alderman Dunn's motion for a vote on the clause in the report of the board of control for the appointment of R. A. Ross, B. J. Arnold and J. W. Moves and the value of the properties the city is negotiating for, the valuation to cost $10,000. Controller Foster, one of the chief opponents, had not had his say, and when the motion was made and put he alleged gas rule, closure and other unfair dealings.

Alderman Hubbard, in a lengthy speech, attacked the details of the proposition, and the experts suggested to do the work. He attacked particularly the last transportation report, and claimed that while it had cost the city $25,000, it had never been used, nor had it done anyone any good.

Wanted Details.
 More information was requested by Alderman Hubbard, Alderman Burgess and others before a vote was taken, and Controller McCarthy volunteered a few more details of the proposed purchase.

A vote was taken 13 to 8 in favor of having a valuation made.

Two Lonesome Ones Sent to the Cells

Two lonesome and lonesome drunks faced Police Magistrate J. C. Judd this morning. They didn't do the facing very long, for both drew the same sentence—10 or 21 days in jail, and it was left to them to choose any road to the cell-room for their.

Thomas Beasman was on the blotter as a plain drunk. He was a fancy variety, for he was an Indian hater. Thomas was making a second appearance, however. That drew for him the same sentence as the more fancy variety, re-presented by Gallagher.

NO ARRESTS IN BOMB OUTRAGE AT SHERBROOKE

Husband Declines to Answer Important Question at the Present Time.

Provincial Detective Will Start to Work On the Case at Once.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
 Collingwood, June 18.—The jury which is investigating the death of Ida Boyce Calbeck, alleged to have been killed by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of her four-year-old son, is not satisfied that all the facts in connection with the tragedy have been told, and after hearing the evidence of the woman's husband, James Calbeck, jun., and the latter's father, James Calbeck, sen., requested Coroner McFaul to adjourn the inquiry for ten days.

Nothing in Hands.
 The story of James Calbeck, father-in-law of deceased, was to the effect that the child was crying from toothache when he retired at 9 p.m. He heard a shot about 11 p.m. when only the mother and child were in the room. The father of the child had passed the door of this room about five minutes previous. The rifle produced was kept hanging up in a room off the living room. Witness stated that the child had put a shell in the rifle and had often played with it. When he heard the shot he jumped out of bed and saw the boy standing by the door, but he did not see anything in his hands.

Doctor Called.
 Later witness' son came in and he sent him to one Mrs. McLean's house to telephone for a doctor. He remembered telling the son that he had no right to give the boy the rifle. He did not remember making a statement to Constable Johnson, nor did he remember telling him that the younger Calbeck said "I gave the rifle, but not cartridges." He said to the child: "You must have shot your mother," and the child replied: "No, we killed mamma." The child knew how to put shells in the rifle.

Husband's Story.
 James Calbeck, jun., testified that he had been married about six years, and had two children. His father lived with them. He and the little boy went to bed about the same time, 10 p.m., and his wife a little later. The child woke up with toothache about 10.50 p.m., and he tried to pacify him, but failing he got up and took the child into the kitchen. The child's mother followed, and got the toothache drops. He walked about with the child, and later set him down. The child was then given some dishes to play with, and witness went to bed. He noticed a rifle on the east end of the house, which must have been put there by the child. He himself did not remember putting the rifle there. Witness did not see any loaded shells.

He heard a shot about five minutes after and rushed into the kitchen. He could not say if the child had the rifle in his hand, but thought he had. He had never bought any cartridges for that gun. He had been purchased by his brother, who died recently. Asked whether the child had the rifle in his hand, he said he did not know. He did not know where the loaded shell (produced) came from.

Cross-examined by Mr. Birnie, witness stated that all were on good terms in the house. He and his wife did not quarrel, and both were on good terms with the father. The little boy had played with the gun before, but witness had never shown him how to load it. Witness finally admitted he had given the gun to the boy to play with on the night.

Dr. Wynne, who was summoned the night of the tragedy, was also examined by Mr. Birnie. He testified that Mrs. Calbeck had gone directly through the body. In his opinion the wound could have been caused by a bullet shot from a rifle in position on the table pointed out by both the Calbecks. Dr. Wynne further testified that the boy was not visible when he went in, but later he saw him in his bed looking scared.

England to Withdraw Australian Ships

New Fleet Will Relieve British Ships at Present Stationed There.
 London, June 18.—The King will pay a strictly private visit to the new battle cruiser Australia at Portsmouth on June 30, prior to her departure for the antipodes. The Government of Australia has appointed Rear Admiral George Pate as rear admiral in the Royal Australian navy, to command his majesty's Australian fleet. This appointment may be regarded as marking the birth of the Australian fleet as a fighting force. By the end of August all the ships except one cruiser ordered under the agreement of 1909 will be in Australian waters and complete in all respects. They include the battle cruiser Australia, two light cruisers, Melbourne and Sydney, and a small torpedo boat.

When the present agreement between the British and Australian Governments terminate, the former will withdraw the ships of the Royal Navy from the waters of the Commonwealth, and the latter will cease to pay the subvention, originally amounting to $2,000,000, which has been its contribution towards the cost of maintaining the local squadron. In the present year the navy estimates $2,450 is shown as payable by this dominion. This is the last sum which will be received, as she will henceforth support her own fleet at a charge which, it is calculated, will in the early years of development amount to $75,000, apart from expenses of administration and training. Within a few years the Australian fleet will probably represent an annual charge of two or three millions sterling. This will tend to increase.
