Objective of 21 Dozen Eggs and Laying Hens From Mothers' Clubs Far Surpassed.

Hale Street Mothers Indulge in Oldfashioned Contest, Mrs. Schaef Winning.

Some time ago the executive of the London Union Mothers' Club decided to ask each individual club in the federation to donate a dozen eggs for Easter, the twenty-one dozen to be divided between the Children's Shelter and the Ronald Gray Memorial Home. A further gift was asked from each club of a laying hen for the Shelter coop. So far has each club up to the present exceeded its objective of a dozen eggs that the Day Nursery is now to be included in the distribution, and it begins to look as if the little ones will be able to live on an egg diet without much supplementing on Easter Sunday. Wortley Road Club, at the April meeting Tuesday night had a regular shower of eggs, ten dozen no less, with still another room in the school to report. Hale Street Mothers' Club got four dozen and nine eggs. Robert Wray of Briscoe street has donated the laying hen which the Wortley Road Club will give to the Shelter and Mrs. J. Dissing a hen on behalf of the Hale Street Club.

WORTLEY ROAD.

Miss Maybelle Symonds, supervisor of Victorian Order Nurses, gave an illuminating address on the work of the order in London at the Wortley Road Club meeting, telling especially of the free service available for those who cannot afford to pay fees, and the social service work that has been required in connection with this. Miss Floyd gave a solo, Margaret Crawford a piano number and John By-kirk a violin selection. It was redren's Hospital, and work is in progress on two dozen bed jackets and three dozen more wash cloths. The next sewing tea will be held Tuesday evening. Applause greeted the report that in three sewing teas the club has made seventy-two feeding bibs and twelve dresses for the War Memorial Children's Hospital, raising at the concerned. same time almost $5 for the club funds. The next sewing tea takes place Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. J. H. Watson, 1199 Florence street.
