DISCUSSING THE LEGACY.

MR. GOODERHAM'S $200,000 THE SUBJECT OF LIVELY DEBATE.

All Day Meeting of the Board of Regents and Advisory Committee of Victoria University—Mr. H. A. Massey Backing Down—Drs. Stafford and Stone Also.

The position of University Federation, the status of Victoria College, the probability of its removal to Toronto and the question of the injunction restraining the same afforded lively discussions all day yesterday in the board room of the new Methodist Publishing House, Richmond-street. There were meetings of the Board of Regents and the Advisory Committee and joint meetings, and the business was not despatched until 7 p.m.

And what was the cause of the heated debates and protracted discussions? It was primarily the Gooderham bequest of $200,000 provided Victoria University comes to Toronto. Not having the terms of the will there was much fruitless speculation as to whether Federation was involved in the transfer of site, also as to the date of the will. [The will had not been offered for probate up to yesterday.] Still, the bait was tempting and there was a perceptible weakening of the opponents of Federation; much as some of them loved independence they loved the $200,000 more. In the end a committee was appointed to confer with the plaintiffs in the injunction and with the Cobourg people and subscribers to effect, if possible, a just settlement.

Rev. Dr. Carman, general superintendent, presided at all the meetings and the others present were: Rev. Dr. Potts, Rev. Dr. Burwash, Rev. Dr. Ryckman, Vice-Chancellor Kerr, Rev. Dr. Burns, Rev. Dr. Stone, Senator W. E. Sanford, Rev. Dr. Parker, Rev. D. G. Sutherland, Rev. Dr. Dewart, Rev. Dr. Aylesworth, Bursar Cox, Warden Lavell, Dr. McLaren, H. C. McMullen, R. I. Walker, Hon. John Macdonald, B. M. Britton, Q.C., Rev. J. Griffin, Rev. Dr. Stafford, Rev. Dr. Hunter, and Messrs. Allen, Mills, Massey and Downey.

Condolence Over Mr. Gooderham's Death.

It was moved by Dr. Potts, seconded by Senator Macdonald, and carried unanimously by a standing vote:

That this Board of Regents desires to express its deep sense of the loss sustained by our church in all her institutions by the decease of the late Mr. William Gooderham.

His deep sense of responsibility to God and his unreserved consecration of himself and his wealth to all good works, made him a man of rare distinction in the Christian community. His sympathies included every interest of humanity and of Christianity, and the educational work of our church was not without a large and practical share in his regard.

While we mourn with sorrowing friends and with the whole Christian church the loss of a man so great in his goodness, we rejoice with them in the example and influence of his life, and pray that many such princely men may be raised up to follow him as he followed Christ.

Dr. J. E. Graham was appointed a member of the board in place of the late Mr. William Gooderham.

The Big Bequest.

The Chairman said that in the providence of God there had been put into the hands of the board a large donation, no less than $200,000. On purely financial grounds the circumstances were such that they could calmly view the prospect which had lately looked somewhat dark. By the grace of God and with the hearty co-operation and fellowship of the brethren they could avoid further scandal of presenting a divided camp, and unitedly through conciliation go on with the work of the university, which it was their duty to do. On the other hand if they continued finding fault with each other they were falling into a bottomless pit. "If you want to make a scapegoat of anyone make a scapegoat of me," said the Chairman with warmth; "but let us be united, let us arrange our differences and go on with our work."

Mr. William Gooderham has left us a munificent legacy, which will only be operative on Victoria College coming to Toronto. This and the federation scheme is in consonance with the General Conference policy; but is by no means ultimately excludes the idea of independence. The question arises: Can we not reach this which many of us desire by proceeding on the lines of the conference? Let us do this, and God who has unexpectedly placed this large sum at our disposal will provide for the future. When the majority see that it is for the benefit of the Methodist Church to have an independent university effect can be given to their wishes, for there is nothing in past legislation to prevent it.

Reviewing the Injunction.

The General Superintendent then reviewed the steps which led to the injunction passed on the Federationists. The prime question to be discussed was, could they reach any mutual ground on which and by which the injunction might be voluntarily dissolved? If this were done by brotherly conciliation it would be preferable to a dissolution by the court. "Can that be done honorably? I think it can. I would not ask any man to compromise his convictions. We have through this unexpected bequest a favorable opportunity, let us see what can be made of it."

Bursar Cox proposed that in view of Mr. Gooderham's bequest all legal proceedings be stopped. There had been enough litigation and the present was a time for an amicable compromise.

Rev. D. G. Sutherland thought it premature to take any action before the terms of Mr. Gooderham's will were before the board. At the same time he hoped the legal fight would cease.

The Chairman: "We are the body under injunction: it is difficult to see how we can pass any resolution about ourselves, but we can calmly talk over the matter in all its bearings and come to such an understanding that the desire of our Bursar may be carried out."

After further discussion Mr. Cox's resolution was withdrawn.

Dr. J. J. Maclaren thought the board was not in a position to act. Money had been left before and the expectations had not been realized. If this $200,000 is for federation it will work one way, if for independence quite the other. It would be time enough when the will was before them.

The Advisory Council in Session.

The time had now arrived for the meeting of the Advisory Council. The Board of Regents joined them and the united boards continued the discussion.

Rev. Dr. Potts, General Secretary, gave a resume of the financial position of the Federation scheme. He then said that owing to the information in the newspapers he waited on one of the executors and found that Mr. William Gooderham had left $125,000 for the building fund and $75,000 for the endowment fund of Victoria University, both on condition that the institution be removed to Toronto. Mr. C. H. Gooderham stated that his brother, Mr. George Gooderham, one of the executors, is in England and that it was not thought advisable to make the terms of the will public until his return.

The Chairman: Did he say anything about federation being a condition of the bequest?

Dr. Potts: He did not; but I gathered that federation was involved from another reliable quarter. I do not know the date of the will.

Mr. B. M. Britton, Q.C., Kingston, solicitor to the board, gave a detailed statement as to the legal proceedings, the present injunction and the probabilities of the trial.

The Chairman hazarded the opinion that one point which would be decided at the assizes would be that Cobourg had no right to interfere with the removal of the university. In case of the opposite view being taken the board would have to compensate the town of Cobourg, the amount to be determined by a reference.

Rev. Dr. Hunter: "What have the legal expenses been up to date, and what are they likely to be if the matter goes for trial?"

Mr. Britton: "At present probably $1000, but the cost has only commenced. This $1000 is for interim motions."

Vice-Chancellor Kerr thought the injunction would be made perpetual and that the court would restrain the board from breaking their obligations to the town of Cobourg. At the same time he did not think that Cobourg intended to ask for any indemnity. They merely wanted what they bargained for. They say that by promises, agreements and pledges they are entitled to ask that the college and its educational operations be carried on at Cobourg. The Vice-Chancellor was absolutely certain that the preliminary expenses would be fully $2000.

Rev. Dr. Griffin: "Can the Vice-Chancellor suggest any way by which we may come to an amicable settlement?"

Dr. Kerr: "I am on the aggressive side; therefore it is not for me to suggest anything. Still, I would never insist on an action going through the courts if it could be fairly and honorably settled outside. The cost, if the case goes for trial, will be $5000 or $6000. I would suggest that this board appoint a committee to confer with the town of Cobourg to see if there is any means by which they may meet each other half-way and not have a trial. I believe it is possible for an agreement to be reached. The plaintiffs should speak their minds freely, and not be branded as disloyal for doing so. The Independents feel that if federation is a good thing it will stand being flogged. If the next general conference should pronounce in favor of federation I for one would feel it my duty to my alma mater to bow to their decision, although I should think it a mistake. The trial, if carried from one court to another, may cost $10,000 before it is finished.

Chancellor Burwash's Propositions.

It was moved by Dr. Burwash, seconded by Rev. Dr. Dewart:

That in view of the importance of unity to the interests of our church and of our educational work we would request the Board of Regents and all parties concerned to accept the following terms of settlement:

1. That so far as the litigation lies between members of our university and the Board of Regents that we unite in a settlement without further litigation.
2. That so far as the town of Cobourg is concerned, a committee of this Board of Regents be appointed to confer with Cobourg and Cobourg subscribers to effect if possible a just settlement with them.
3. That we unite in giving effect at once to the action of the last General Conference.
4. That in doing so we faithfully carry into effect all those provisions of the federation scheme which secure to the church in the future the option of independence, and that no step be taken which would in any way interfere with the power to exercise that option.

Vice-Chancellor Kerr said that if the third clause were carried it might invalidate Mr. Gooderham's legacy.

Rev. Dr. Burns was satisfied that peace would come from arbitration or a committee. "There is," said he, "no spirit of fight left in the opposition now. Let the litigation stop and terms be arranged."

Rev. Dr. Ryckman supported the resolution. Delay would be dangerous. Electioneering tactics would be resorted to. It would be a loss to the Methodist church and education every year the college remained at Cobourg.

Rev. Dr. Dewart also supported the resolution as moderate and conciliatory. He objected to the matter of federation being regarded as an open question.

Rev. Dr. Burns said the third clause was illegal. They could not take action while the injunction existed without flying in the teeth of the court and breaking the terms of the injunction.

Mr. Massey Backing Down.

Mr. H. A. Massey had thought that Mr. Gooderham's legacy would induce some of them to take a different position as regards federation. He had hoped that a reconciliation would be brought about and that there would be an end to litigation, but the third clause of Chancellor Burwash's resolution would irritate rather than conciliate. He approved of the first two clauses. No progress could be made with federation while the suit is pending. The matter should be allowed to rest for the present, and their one object should be to unite to prevent further litigation. Any more legal proceedings must have a serious effect upon the contributories to the fund, who would object to their money being spent in the courts. "We should not lose this $200,000 whether it be for independence or federation. We should unite to carry out the scheme for which the money is left."

Warden Lavell said Mr. Gooderham's bequest practically settled the whole question. He might be regarded as backsliding, but he would ask, would the town of Cobourg insist on the board sacrificing this gift of $200,000? ["No."] He would not for a mere sentiment abandon such a legacy. Let a committee be appointed to talk the matter over with the Cobourg people and he ventured to say that the opposition to Toronto and federation would give in.

Must Not Drop Federation.

Chancellor Burwash added that if the injunction were made perpetual they would lose all the money which had been promised. They were trustees for the Methodist Church, and it was their duty not to imperil the half million dollars at stake. If they entered into any kind of compromise that looked like dropping federation they would drop the subscriptions and be liable to refund the money.

Rev. Dr. Stone, although he was against federation, bowed to the conference decision, supported Dr. Burwash, was for dropping all litigation and utilizing Mr. Gooderham's money.

Bursar Cox supported the Chancellor's proposals. The scheme towards which $650,000 had been subscribed must go on.

Dr. Potts spoke to a similar effect, and after further discussion Dr. Burwash withdrew the objectionable third clause and substituted the following:

3 That as soon as these negotiations have been completed a meeting of this body and the Board of Regents and the Senate be called in Cobourg to determine the action to be taken.

This was carried with one dissentient, Brother Kerr, who protested against what he said underlay the whole proceeding.

Rev. Dr. Stafford said he had been an anti-federationist, but he should, in view of this Gooderham legacy, offer no further opposition to federation. He should at the earliest opportunity tender his resignation as he had been elected by graduates to support an independent university.

Rev. D. G. Sutherland: I too, in view of the legacy of Mr. Gooderham, withdraw my opposition to federation."

The following were appointed the committee to carry out the resolution: Dr. Carman, Mr. George A. Cox, Mr. Britton, Q.C., Dr. Potts, Chancellor Burwash, Dr. J. J. Maclaren, Warden Lavell.

The "Antis" Should Yield Gracefully.

[From The Globe of Yesterday.]

Among the bequests of the late Mr. William Gooderham were $125,000 to the building fund of Victoria College and $75,000 for the endowment of the college—payment of the two latter sums being made contingent on the removal of the college to Toronto. These splendid gifts to the college will, we presume, cause the university federation scheme to be accomplished with all possible speed.

The "antis" will, we dare say, have the wisdom to yield gracefully now that their principal practical objection against the removal of Victoria to Toronto has been done away with by Mr. Gooderham's liberality. Once more we shall see the educational authorities of the great Methodist Church working heartily together as of old—a consummation devoutly to be wished. That Mr. Gooderham provided for this reunion of his brethren will be long remembered as the crowning beneficence of his good and generous life.

Not To Be Sneezed At.

Hamilton Times: The Methodists are not, we believe, enamored of the removal scheme, but $200,000 is too much money to be sneezed at these days.

A NEW NATIONAL PARTY.

THAT IS WHAT MR. CHAMBERLAIN THINKS IS NEEDED.

He Says the Gladstonians are Breaking Up and their Centre of Gravity is Now in their Tail—A Conference Concerning Strikers and "Blacklegs."

LONDON, Sept. 18.—In his Huddersfield speech Mr. Chamberlain agreed with the suggestion of Lord Hartington that a new national party ought to be formed, pledged to effect internal reforms in Great Britain and Ireland, and whose policy should be the maintenance of the unity and the strengthening of the Empire. The Gladstonians, he said, are breaking up. Their centre of gravity is now in their tail. Their head has lost all its directing energy. The sections of the Gladstonian party are adopting political heresies and favor resistance to the law and socialism. If a new party was formed its program would be as far removed from the doctrines of the ultra Radicals as from the fossil Toryism of the past. He was confident many Gladstonians would be glad to adhere to such a new party, which would constitute a strong parliamentary power.

Strikers v. "Blacklegs."

LONDON, Sept. 18.—A conference was held to-day between Cardinal Manning, the Lord Mayor and the directors of the dock companies relative to the attitude of the strikers. Cardinal Manning promised that he would exhort the strikers to observe their agreement not to molest the "blacklegs." The Lord Mayor said he would issue a proclamation against riotous demonstration by the strikers.

A Profusion of Candidates.

PARIS, Sept. 18.—No one expects that anything political really will be decided next Sunday. The trouble lies in the multiplicity of aspirants for legislative honors. It is evident from the great number of candidates in the field and the confusion which must result in many localities that the elections of the 22d must necessarily fail to fix the eventual composition of the Chamber of Deputies. The political complexion of the new Chamber will no doubt be decided only upon the second ballots.

A perfect army of billstickers is engaged in this city every day posting appeals to the people to vote for one or the other of the candidates. The number of electoral manifestos is bewildering.

SALOON-KEEPERS BEFORE THE BAR.

Hamilton's Liquor Sellers in the Police Court—Firemen Asking a Raise.

HAMILTON, Sept. 18.—Sixteen licensed liquor sellers appeared at the bar of the Police Court to-day to answer to charges of selling liquor contrary to law, and with them were thirteen defendants charged with selling liquor without a license. The prosecution were not ready to proceed and all the cases were remanded until Sept. 28.

Bayside toughs broke into twelve of the stalls in Bastien's boathouses last night and stole various articles of clothing.

The firemen are agitating for a raise of pay. At present first-class men get $1.47, second-class men $1.31, third-class men $1.18. The third-class includes men serving their first three years, second-class four years, and first-class seven years and over. They now ask that the pay be: First-class, $1.85 per day; second-class, $1.75, and third-class $1.40.

THE BIG ARBITRATION.

Collingwood Schreiber Gives Evidence in the C.P.R. v the Dominion Government.

The arbitrators in the now famous dispute between the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Dominion Government held a session at Osgoode Hall yesterday forenoon. Chancellor Boyd, T. C. Keefer, C.E., and C. C. Gregory, C.E., the arbitrators, were present. The counsel for the C.P.R. were Hon. Edward Blake, Q.C., Walter Cassels, Q.C., and George T. Blackstock. Ex-Judge Clark, the general counsel of the railway, was also present. The Dominion Government was represented by Christopher Robinson, Q.C., B. B. Osler, Q.C., and W. Hogg of Ottawa.

Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, Chief Engineer of Government railways, was examined on behalf of the Government. His evidence was largely of a technical nature. The commission will meet again at 11 a.m. this morning and take the evidence of other witnesses on the Government's behalf.

Mr. Schreiber and Mr. Pottinger, General Manager of the Intercolonial Railway, who was in court during the evidence of the chief engineer, left for Ottawa last night.

The arbitrators have held several sessions in different parts of the Dominion: in British Columbia, Ottawa, Toronto and Dalhousie, N.B.

Ex-Ald. John E. Mitchell Seriously Ill.

Ex-Ald. John E. Mitchell, the well-known accountant who was recently appointed to the treasurership of the Toronto Industrial Exhibition Association, is now lying dangerously ill at his residence. The complaint from which he is suffering is typhoid fever, complicated with congestion of the lungs. It is supposed that his illness is partially the result of his arduous duties and the excitement of the exhibition.

He was taken ill on Friday and on Saturday night Dr. John Elliott of 34 Wilton-avenue was called in. The patient's condition became most serious and Dr. Elliott decided to hold a consultation with Dr. H. H. Wright. Last night Mr. Mitchell's condition was rather more favorable than in the morning and both practitioners now have some hope of his recovery.

The World learned from an independent source, however, last night that Mr. Mitchell had been advised and had accordingly called in his lawyer, Mr. Charles Ritchie, Q.C., to prepare his will.

At the Theatres.

Miss Vernona Jarbeau and her excellent company of comedians will be at the Grand Opera House all next week, presenting for the first time the brilliant musical comedy "Starlight," the play contains many choice gems of the comic opera order: Original music, witty sayings and comical situations. Miss Jarbeau sings English songs, French songs and a topical song which was written by herself entitled "That's enough, don't you think." Miss Jarbeau's costumes are exquisite, being designed by herself. She has nine changes. As this is the little lady's first appearance in Toronto, and coming so highly spoken of, she will no doubt meet with a cordial reception.

"Standing room only" is the order of the evening at both theatres this week. "Daddy Nolan" is crowding the Grand and "Under the Lash" is doing the same for Jacobs & Sparrow.

HEALTH MATTERS IN ONTARIO.

Everything in a Satisfactory State—The Provincial Board's Report.

From a conversation with Dr. Bryce, secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, yesterday The World learned that the health of the province is fairly satisfactory, in fact it has been much better this summer than last. There have been occasional outbreaks of typhoid fever, but not to any serious extent. These cases have enforced the importance of a pure water supply, for in many places the wells are year by year becoming more polluted. These towns are constructing or have just introduced waterworks systems: Barrie, Galt, Chatham, Kincardine, Campbellford, Cobourg, Collingwood, Brantford. Guelph and London are extending their waterworks systems. Other towns are considering the advisability of waterworks construction.

The annual report of the Provincial Board of Health for last year, which has just been issued, states that abundant evidence has been furnished of the beneficial results of the diffusion of sanitary information by the board, and the education of the people in regard to the best means of preventing or limiting the spread of epidemic contagious disease. The work of the organisation of local health authorities goes bravely on. There are at present no less than 520 local boards of health and 350 medical health officers in Ontario.

Chairman Dr. Rae, in his report to the Lieutenant-Governor, Sir Alexander Campbell, points out a great desideratum. He maintains that the board should be furnished with the means wherewith to carry on practical experimental work in bacteriology, and in testing the purity of specimens of water, air, food, etc., which are from time to time sent by local health officers. In this way the usefulness of this board would be very much increased by furnishing the necessary information to assist in limiting the spread of outbreaks of disease. This desirable end could be obtained here by a comparatively small outlay for the necessary apparatus and by making such arrangements as would enable the executive officer of this board to devote his entire time to sanitary work. Many valuable lives would be, no doubt, saved and much unnecessary suffering and disease would doubtless be avoided by such a course of action.

The increasing interest that is being manifested in the great question of the disposal of the sewage of our cities and towns is strongly indicative of the progress which is being made in the direction of sanitary reform. Several of our towns have constructed systems of sewerage and others have the matter under consideration. The town of Brockville has been the first to construct what is known as the separate system, that by which the sewage and the storm water are carried by separate pipes, and the example of Brockville will doubtless, as it deserves, be followed by other towns in the near future. The Government have established a system of sewerage at the Asylum for the Insane, at London, known as the intermittent downward filtration plan, which will thoroughly test the system in a practical manner in our province, and if successful, as it can scarcely fail to be, will give an impetus to the construction of sewerage works and the proper disposal of the sewage of our cities and towns which is in many instances most urgently called for.

Much interest has, of late, also been manifested in the vital question of an abundant supply of pure water to the people in our cities, towns and villages, and it cannot receive more attention than it deserves. It is highly necessary in the interest of public health to substitute a supply for that now so generally derived from wells which are so frequently rendered impure by surface contaminations from the filth by which the ground in their immediate vicinity becomes saturated when proper precautions for its removal are not observed. A number of our towns have recently established excellent systems of waterworks, and others have plans for their establishment now under consideration.

Dr. Bryce, in his report to the chairman and members of the board, congratulates them on the present position of the province in the matter of public health, and states that notwithstanding the fact that infectious diseases have appeared in a very considerable number of instances, they have not, except in one or two localities, gained more than a temporary foothold. Another matter on which the secretary congratulates the board is the valuable work of the Association of Executive Health Officers of Ontario. Instituted in 1886 the organization has increased in numbers and importance.

The report gives particulars of the outbreaks of contagious and infectious disease in the province, also on the abatement of nuisances, inspection and regulation of milk supplies, sewage and its disposal, school hygiene and quarantine. Altogether the annual report shows the Provincial Board of Health is doing valuable work and that its functions are yearly increasing in importance.

IT DEPENDS ON THE BERTH.

A Peculiar Lumber Action in the Civil Assize Court.

The trial of Cockburn v. the British America Assurance Co. was concluded in the Civil Assizes yesterday morning. But the question was submitted to the jury: Did defendants receive the plaintiff's letter notifying them of his acceptance of the policy? The jury returned an affirmative answer, which practically meant a verdict for plaintiff. Judgment, however, was reserved to allow certain points of law to be argued out.

Burton v. Ontario Lumber Co. will occupy all day to-day. There are some heavy guns on both sides. The plaintiff is represented by Dalton McCarthy, Q.C., and Wallace Nesbitt, and the defendants by S. H. Blake, Q.C., and G. F. Shepley. The point at issue is practically one of geography. The plaintiff, J. L. Burton of Barrie, sues to recover the value of certain timber cut on his berth, No. 5, at the mouth of the French river. The defendants claim that the section cut over, and described as part of Berth No. 5, was in reality part of their berth, No. 7. If the section is proved to be part of the mainland it belongs to plaintiff and he is entitled to recover. If, however, it is an island, as defendants contend, it is attached to Berth No. 7 and their property. It is a non-jury case.

Flintoff v. Rauck, a non-jury case, was settled out of court.

TURNER SLAPS BACK.

A Writ Against F. X. Cousineau and Two City Detectives.

Mr. J. E. Hodgins, solicitor for Charles E. Turner, arrested at the instance of F. X. Cousineau on a charge of larceny, while employed at the Bon Marche, intends to get back at Mr. Cousineau and the Detective Department of the city. Turner, as it will be remembered, was arrested with two other employes on several charges of larceny at the Bon Marche and they stand committed for trial at the next criminal assizes. These men have claimed all along that Mr. Cousineau caused their arrest because he feared they would testify against him in the suit which several insurance companies are bringing to recover the large amount of insurance which they paid him after his big fire, unjustly they allege. Turner, therefore to keep even with Cousineau, instructed Mr. Hodgins to issue a writ in his behalf, the damages being placed at $5000. The parties to the writ are F. X. Cousineau, Sergeant-Detective Henry Reburn and Detective Alfred Cuddy, and the other parties are charged with "assault, trespass, false arrest and false imprisonment."

There will evidently be some startling developments in connection with these cases when they get into court.

Paying an Inspector for Nothing.

The inspector ordered to remain on the Spadina-road block-paving, by Assistant City Engineer Cunningham until Messrs. Farquhar had relaid the portion of the blocking he had ordered to be relaid, was taken off yesterday after having spent over two weeks doing nothing but walking up and down the road. The question is who is to pay him? The contractors had ceased work and if asked to pay will fight the bill in the courts, and it is now remains to be seen whether the city will be stuck for the amount.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PORTER.

A Funny Incident in Mr. Van Horne's Private Car.

When President Van Horne of the Canadian Pacific Railway was in the city last week his private car was lying at the foot of Simcoe-street. The President always carries a colored steward with him, whom he addresses by the handy name of John. Last Friday night, after the President had spent several pleasant hours at the Toronto Club, he went down to his car. A few minutes afterwards a knock came to the door, and John surmised, on opening the door and looking at the visitor, that Mr. Van Horne did not want to see this particular caller.

In this conclusion, however, John was very much astray, for the President was real anxious to see the gentleman in question, he being an official of an American road.

When John explained that he had refused admittance to the caller Mr. Van Horne reprimanded him vigorously and demanded a reason.

John straightened himself up to his full height and looking at the angry President said with great self composure: "Well, you see, Mr. Van Horne, we railroad men must lie sometimes!"

The President collapsed.

GATES AT LEVEL CROSSINGS.

The Railway Committee to Take Up the Question Forthwith.

This letter was received from Ottawa yesterday at the City Solicitor's office:

SIR: I am directed to inform you that the question of providing gates at certain street crossings of the G.T.R. and Canadian Pacific Railway at Toronto, referred to in your letter of Aug. 22, addressed to the Clerk of the Privy Council, will be considered by the Railway Committee of the Privy Council at a meeting to be held in the office of the Minister of Railways and Canals, Ottawa, at 11 a.m., on Tuesday, Oct. 1.
T. TRUDEAU,
Secretary, Railway Com., P.C.

City Solicitor Biggar has notified the special committee of the council of the letter and it is probable it will be called together shortly to take action. The committee is composed of Ald. Woods (chairman), Carlyle (St. Thos.), Galbraith, Shaw, Lennox, Bell, McMillan, the Mayor, City Engineer and City Solicitor.

A Galt Man Saw Him Jump into the Don.

The adjourned inquest on Herman Mehartel, who suicided Monday night by jumping off the Don bridge, was continued last night, the body having in the meantime been exhumed. The only witness examined who really saw deceased jump off the bridge was C. H. Griffin of Galt. He described how he had seen the man clamber over the railing of the bridge, let himself down by the flooring and dropped off into the stream. He had run down the bank and tried to save him by throwing out a trestle, but could not reach him and the man sank. Frank Mattman, the foreman of the lager beer department of Davies' brewery, gave evidence to the same effect as his statement in yesterday's World. The inquest was adjourned until next Monday night.

In taking up the body of the deceased, Detective Watson found that the coffin was not more than 18 inches below the surface of the ground, and directly on top of another coffin. Thus even the lower coffin could not have been more than three feet under ground.

Mrs. Blackstock's "Land of the Viking."

"The Land of the Viking and the Empire of the Tzar" is the title of a very charming volume of travel recently published by the Putnams of New York. The author, Mrs. G. T. Blackstock, a well-known Toronto lady, has made the most important recent contribution to Canadian literature, if indeed Canadian literature can fairly lay claim to it.

Travels in Scandinavia and Russia form the theme of the book, and the reader will hardly lay it down without finishing it. The illustration of the volume is perhaps a little disappointing but the excellence of the letter press and the charm of the author's style amply excuse this fault. The book has already attracted considerable attention in New York and it is to be hoped that Mrs. Blackstock will follow up her first literary success by others.

The Welcome to Oarsman O'Connor.

The gentlemen who have in hand the proposed reception to William O'Connor on his return to the city from England next week have decided to hold the banquet at the Albion Hotel on Thursday evening, Sept. 26. Mayor Clarke will be requested to preside. Tickets will be placed on sale at once at all the hotels, restaurants, etc. The subscriptions for the proposed purse are pouring in in goodly volume, and a handsome sum will no doubt be handed the gallant oarsman.

The citizens generally should join heartily in making this reception a fitting one, for although the Toronto man was defeated by a better oarsman he did great work in endeavoring to regain Canada's lost prestige in the sculling world. O'Connor will no doubt give a good account of himself at a future time.

The Queen's Own on Parade.

The Q.O.R. regular drill was well attended last night. Col Hamilton was in command, though unable to take charge, which office devolved upon Capt. Sankey. The men were put through general battalion drill. The march along King-street back to the Armory evoked many admiring comments from the vast throng en route.

The annual rifle match will be held on Oct. 5. Regimental practice begins next Wednesday morning.

They Will Have a Good Time.

Even the Undertakers can have a good time, or at least they propose to do so. The Toronto Undertakers Association met in Mr. McCabe's establishment, Queen-street west, on Tuesday night to make arrangements for the reception and entertainment of the international association, which convenes in Toronto shortly. Committees of reception, finance and entertainment were struck, and arrangements completed for a real good time for all concerned.

The Grand Jury's Doings.

The Grand Jury worked until 2.30 yesterday and then adjourned until 10 to-day. It is not probable that any presentment will be made this week, as there still remain many important cases to be completed. A true bill was returned against John Southworth for housebreaking, and no bills in the cases of John McNabb, indecent assault (2 charges), and Bertha Gray, larceny.

A Boy Thief's Family History.

The boy William Cranham, arrested on the Exhibition grounds on Tuesday for picking pockets, has some rather hard relatives. One brother is in Kingston under a 10-years' sentence, another is held in Buffalo for burglary, he has two sisters in the Mercer Reformatory and he himself served 5 years in the Penetanguishene Reformatory.

No Larceny Shown.

Lawyer Murphy applied to the Police Magistrate yesterday for a warrant against a local jeweler for larceny. The offence consisted in his not carrying out the provisions of a watch club which he had formed. The magistrate refused the warrant on the grounds that no larceny was shown.

Note This Invitation.

Every visitor coming into the city to-day should see the immense stock of hats and furs that is to be seen in Dineen's large establishment on corner of King and Yonge-streets. London, Paris and New York fashions in seal mantles, circulars and dolmans, fur wraps, &c.: men's, boys' and children's hats for fall and winter in all the new styles.

Accidents.

This is a year of accidents, the unfortunate effects of which are largely ameliorated by a policy in the Manufacturers' Accident Insurance Co., 83 King-street west, Toronto.

Remarkably Healthful,—Adams' Tutti Frutti.

FOUR JURORS SWORN IN.

AFTER TWENTY-ONE DAYS OF QUESTIONS AND CHALLENGES.

The First Step Forward in the Trial of the Cronin Suspects—Talk of Le Caron Testifying—The Spy is Said to be in Chicago—The Clothes Plot.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—From information received by the prosecution it would appear that a grocer named Rody, who had a store in North Sedgwick-street and disappeared shortly after the plans for the murder of Cronin were laid, was the one to whom was intrusted the task of carrying the tin box containing Cronin's clothes to London.

He waited in New York for many days until the assassination was consummated, received the box and saw it safely aboard a ship bound for Liverpool. It was landed there safely and transferred to London, where it is now. Until to-day it was thought the box was still in New York, but this does not appear to be the case. What disposition was made of the box and clothing is unknown.

A mail carrier in the post-office is said to be responsible for a story to the effect that Le Caron, the British spy, who testified in the Parnell case, is once more in Chicago. The tale as published is that while O'Brien was assorting his mail a man came to the window and asked the address of a certain Englishman who used to be connected with The Western British-American. O'Brien had a friend standing there at the time and he at once declared "Why that's Le Caron!" He claimed to know the spy very well and at once rushed outside to greet the man supposed to be Le Caron. When he got into the corridor, however, the fellow had disappeared. O'Brien's friend said he could not be mistaken, and that he would take an oath that the man was Le Caron.

There has been some talk of the spy's giving testimony in the Cronin case, and this story told by Mail Carrier O'Brien gives some color to the rumor that Le Caron will appear on the stand.

Four jurors were accepted by both sides and sworn in to-day.

Beggs May Confess All.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—John F. Beggs, the Senior Guardian of Camp No. 20, Clan-na-Gael, who is under indictment for complicity in the murder of Dr. Cronin, was the man who brought the murdered man's clothes to this city. Here he met Bill Starkey, and together they concocted a scheme for shipping the clothing to England.

Bill Starkey was again in New York a few days ago, having returned from Canada.

It is well understood that if Beggs is pressed hard he will make a clean breast of everything. He is not a genuine Irishman, but one of the Le Caron type, and therefore has no deep sympathies with the Irish cause, right or wrong. Prosecutor Longenecker has most convincing evidence of Beggs' guilt, and he is considered "softer" than any of the other prisoners. His private record is a very bad one.

Trouble in the Clan-na-Gael.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Dr. P. H. Curran, senior guardian of one of the twelve Clan-na-Gael camps here, has resigned because the camp refused to adopt a resolution denouncing General Secretary Ronayne, for not having turned over to General Treasurer Tierney the percentage received from camps throughout the country since May, when the exciting deadlock in the Executive Board began. Dr. Curran intimates the impression that Ronayne is using these funds in the defence of the Cronin suspects. The funds amount to $5000.

SUNDAY OBSERVANCE.

The Provincial Synod Petition Parliament for More Stringent Legislation.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—At the session of the Synod of the Anglican Church in Canada to-day the discussion on the Jesuit question was resumed from last night and the memorial from the diocese of Ontario was referred to a committee.

Mr. Thomas has been appointed Treasurer but he was unable to act and Mr. A. F. Gault was appointed instead.

Hon. G. W. Allan moved this resolution:

That this Synod do petition the Parliament of the Dominion at its next session to enact such laws as will secure the better observance of the Lord's Day in the Dominion in all matters pertaining to general railway traffic, the management of the postal service, and in the management of the railways and canals belonging to the Dominion, as well as in all other matters over which Parliament has control; and that such petition be signed on behalf of this Synod by the presiding officers of each house.

A general discussion followed and the motion was carried.

This committee on marriage and divorce was appointed: Rev. Dr. Partridge, Rev. Dr. Body, Rev. Dr. Carey, Rev. Dr. Roe, Mr. V. C. Harris, Sir John Allan, Hon. Mr. Hanington, Mr. J. A. Worrell, Mr. C. Jenkins, Mr. Walkem, Q.C. A conference committee to discuss the question of the consolidation of the various branches of the church was also appointed.

The diocese of Toronto presented a memorial asking that the use of the Revised Version of the Scriptures be considered, but the synod decided not to recommend it till the Church of England itself had taken such an action.

MAY BE A MURDER.

Barber George Williams in an Uncomfortable Fix.

Ten days ago a woman named Annie Wilcox was taken to the General Hospital suffering from a serious beating at the hands of persons unknown. She refused to make a statement, but in the early part of this week it becoming evident that she could not live, the police began to move in the matter. Detective Alf. Cuddy last night arrested George Williams, a barber of 32 Nelson-street, as the guilty party and felonious assault was slated against him. Williams was taken to the Hospital for identification by the woman, but the doctors refused to permit her being seen, as her condition would not permit it. Williams and the woman both came from Brantford. It is probable the charge of felonious assault will be charged to that of murder, as at midnight the doctors at the Hospital held out no hopes of her recovery.

THE WHOLE FAMILY CONVICTED.

Father, Mother and Three Sons—The Pearces Will Likely Go to Kingston.

Yesterday saw five members of one family on trial charged with housebreaking and larceny in the General Sessions. They were James Pearce, the father; Maria, the mother; and Thomas, George and Edward, the three sons, all young men. They were defended by Mr. N. Gordon Bigelow and Mr. W. G. Murdoch. There are in all five charges against the family, but the one they were tried on yesterday was that of breaking into W. J. Gibson's summer cottage, at Kew Beach, in 1888, and stealing therefrom $600 worth of goods. The greater portion of these articles were found in the residence of the Pearce family at 58 Power-street, concealed in the walls and cached in the yard.

It will be recollected that George and Edward Pearce were arrested on June 23 for the attempted burglary of the residence of Mr. E. Strachan Cox in Wellesley-place, and it was this circumstance which led up to the arrest of the whole gang. Besides the Gibson property the plunder of a score of other burglaries and stealings was found in the house. The trial was an all day one, the prisoners' counsel fighting desperately for their clients. It was 5 o'clock when the case was given to the jury, and in less than half-an-hour a verdict of guilty was entered against the five.

The three boys felt completely broken down at the result, not for themselves but for their father and mother, whom they confidently expected to escape. If the three had pleaded guilty the charge against the old folks would have been dropped, but the prisoners refused the compromise. This morning the other charges will be taken up.

While the jury was out in the Pearce case John Anderson was placed on trial for felonious assault on Sarah McGarry. A verdict of guilty was returned.

Farewell to the Commander.

The final farewell demonstration in honor of Commissioner and Mrs. Coombs was held in the Temple last night. The building was crowded with soldiers and spectators, who sorrowed at losing their commander and friend. Major Margetts, Major Glover and other officers delivered addresses, in which they paid high tributes to the worth of their chieftain. Commissioner Coombs, in replying, reviewed the history of the army in Canada since it came under his command. The police authorities were thanked for the protection they afforded the meetings. The press was praised as being the most impartial of any country the Commissioner ever lived in. After giving a glowing account of the ability of his successor the speaker closed.

The troops will assemble at the Temple at 11 o'clock this morning and proceed to Union Station to bid good-bye to their beloved commander, who will leave by the 12.30 train. At 3 o'clock Commissioner Adams will arrive.

Sympathy With Manitoba.

Delegates were present from various parts of Ontario at the meeting of the Provincial Council of Equal Rights Association yesterday afternoon. Principal Caven presided. Owing to the unfinished state of the business, which renders inadvisable the holding of the demonstration this evening in the Granite Rink, it was decided to postpone the affair for a fortnight. Notice of date and place will be duly announced.

This resolution of sympathy with Manitoba was passed:

This association approves of the policy of abolishing the separate schools and the official use of the French language in the Province of Manitoba and the Northwest Territories, and we pledge ourselves to promote and further the consummation of that policy in every constitutional way.

A Suit for Alimony.

Messrs. Blake, Lash & Cassels yesterday issued a writ against Dr. Frederick W. Strange, the well-known city practitioner, on behalf of Mrs. Rose Esther Strange for alimony. The amount claimed is a weekly allowance of $25. Mrs. Strange is now in England, and her Toronto solicitors have been under instructions for some time to move in the case.

Something Good.—Adams' Tutti Frutti.

He Preached at the Tallow Candles.

The late Mr. Gooderham made his first attempt at preaching many years ago in a little hall over the Don. An old Canadian lady, a friend of the family, went to hear him. She noticed that he neither looked nor talked straight at the sinners, and after the meeting said: "Billy, you'll have to do better next sermon; you were talking all the time at the tallow candles."

He Would Make a Good Run.

In case East Toronto is opened by John Small becoming Collector the Reformers talk of running Mr. C. J. Smith, the Wood King, as their candidate. He is wealthy, was born and bred in East Toronto, is a powerful speaker, and next to Hanlan and Harry Piper the best known man in Toronto.

THERE must have been at least 80,000 people at the Fair grounds yesterday. The weather was propitious, cool and clear, and all the country folk, for they seemed to predominate, enjoyed the various sights immensely. The Grand Stand and the enclosure around the Horse Ring were so crowded that at an early hour tickets were refused to would-be purchasers. There was but little change made in the attractions in the ring and on the platform, but the country visitors were not in any way disappointed and seemed to enjoy the program of side shows greatly. There was one disappointment, however. A dense crowd had gathered to witness the balloon ascension, the wind was so high that it was deemed necessary to strike this aerial performance off the list of attractions. This was the only disappointment, and it is safe to say that the outsiders who visited Toronto's Exhibition yesterday were thoroughly well satisfied. Since the opening of the fair no such crowd has been seen on the grounds. It was Farmers' Day, this generally being the largest day of the exhibition. The live stock, and especially the horse element, was seen in all its extensiveness and beauty.

The gate receipts yesterday aggregated the magnificent sum of $16,050, the largest sum by some $3000 that was ever taken in one day since the fair was inaugurated ten years ago. When the gates closed Tuesday night the receipts for the seven days were $2958 behind those of the same days last year, and the directors therefore began to feel gloomy. Yesterday's handsome receipts, however, makes the first eight days of this year $1446 over the same period last year. Just think of the crowd: eighty thousand persons on the grounds yesterday!

The weather promises fair for to-day and there is no doubt that 50,000 to 60,000 people will go to the grounds. There never was, by several thousands, so many strangers in Toronto as walked its streets yesterday and slept beneath its roofs last night. The hotels turned them away by the hundreds.

Speeding in the Ring.

While the judges were busily engaged in their difficult task of judging the horses in the centre of the ring, other animals were striving for honors on the track. The attraction was the trotting race under saddle, which brought out six starters and resulted as follows:

Open to all horses, trotting to saddle, that have not been entered for any other section in this class. Weight, 145 lbs. Mile heats; best three in five. Entrance fee, $5, to which will be added the special prize of $50 presented by Mr. William Christie.

Dan O'Connell finished first in the first and second heats but was disqualified for pacing.

In the trotting race between Master Willie Ketchum's dog Doc and Oliver Robinson's pony of Napanee, the pony won. The track was very heavy, which greatly favored the pony.

The Jumping Contest.

The jumping competition for hunters showing the best performance over five successive jumps, five feet high, brought together only three contestants. It was won by Moorhouse & Pepper's cream gelding Rosebury, with the same owners' bay mare Maud second. Both horses negotiated the timber very cleverly and surprisingly, so did Maud, who is not 15 hands high, but is an artist at the business. F. A. Campbell's chestnut mare Glenora cleared but one successfully and finally refused to cross the jumps at all.

THE LIVE STOCK EXHIBIT.

A Grand Display in the Cattle Sheds—Features of the Various Breeds.

Generally speaking is may be said the live stock exhibit this year excels that of 1888. In one case only, that of Polled Angus cattle, has there been any falling off. It is, however, only in numbers. The merit of the class is even greater than that of last year, as was fully proven by the admiring comments they evoked among cattle connoisseurs yesterday. In this class Mr. R. M. D. Craik of Montreal exhibited for the first time and shows a really splendid herd. There are also many magnificent animals in the Durham class. They seem, in fact, this year to take the front rank over any of the classes.

Men who ought to know told The World yesterday that they had never seen finer cattle either at the Toronto or at any other exhibition. Not only in quality and breed are they superior to those shown on any previous occasion, but in numbers they are also ahead. There are in all 77 exhibits and R. & S. Nicholson, Sylvan; James Leask, Greenbank; J. & J. B. Watt, Salem; J. & W. Russell, Richmond Hill; J. Morgan & Sons, Kerwood, should be proud of the magnificent showing they have made. The climate of Canada is evidently splendidly adapted to the Durham cattle.

The valuable breed known as the Herefords also makes a good show this year. The exhibits in this class were last year very fine, but those now at the grounds may truthfully be said to excel last year's show in every point of merit. All those who were capable of judging yesterday admired the beauty of the 48 Herefords entered. The exhibitors are Mr. H. Cochrane, F. A. Fleming, E. Judah, J. W. Vernon and J. O. Henry.

Those exhibiting the Galloways are W. Kough, Owen Sound, and Thomas McCrae, Guelph. This breed shows no falling off on the exhibit of last year, and there were those yesterday who claimed that over past exhibits the present show possesses many and undoubted points of merit.

In the well-known and highly-valued Devons 31 animals are shown. The exhibitors are Messrs. Harper of Cobourg and W. J. Rudd of Eden Mills.

There are no less than 100 entries shown in
