

THE RECESS.

DAY AND NIGHT.
(From Leigh Hunt's London Journal.)
Lightness and veiled darkness, sisters twin,
Hold momentary converse morn and eve;
Lightness attended by her gorgeous train Of sunbeams, and that single star, whose reign Lasts longest in the sky. The Plains grieve Around the grace of Night, Orion mourns, And dim Aquarius pours his flowing urn.
The comet's lurid homage decks her brow;
Upon the mountain heights the sister meet, When glistening pearl-dews cover their glowing They part—where vaporous vessels never plough Old Ocean's utmost waves.—Tis very sweet, To conjure up their greetings, voiceless given—Farewell, and welcome, blush'd across the heaven!

PUBLICATIONS BY
LILLY WAIT & Co. BOSTON.

To Parents, Teachers School Committees, and all who feel an interest in the improvement of Youth.

It is only one year since Parley's Magazine was commenced. During that short period the number of subscribers has increased to 2,200 and the work has received every where the most unqualified approbation. It has found its way to thousands of families, and while it has enlightened the social circle, its undisturbed influence has been felt in the most salutary manner on the juvenile mind and heart. It has also found its way to the school room, and many classes of young pupils have been cheered twice a month by the welcome voice of the teacher bidding them live and learn. For a few days, the class book which they have read over and over, perhaps twenty times, and read the pages of Parley's Magazine.
The demand for the work, to be used in schools, is rapidly increasing. Educated by each of our communities, the Publishers of this Magazine feel it their duty to meet the demand, and to not omit their exertions to supply the want.
The length and breadth of the work, and the number of subscribers, are evidence of the advantage of many a young man and woman in the study of the Bible, and the history of the world, and the principles of religion, and the duties of citizenship, and the rights of man.

It is proposed to revise the entire matter of the above works in weekly numbers, of fifty eight pages each, enclosed in a substantial cover, with good type and paper, and pegged in such a manner that each work may be bound separately at the end of the year—forming four octavo volumes of nearly seven hundred pages each.
The price of the whole will be $5 per annum payable three months after the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $30. Three of them are at present published. The London and the Edinburgh at $8 each, the Foreign, at $7, connected as it is with other publications.

Companies of six or more will be allowed a deduction of one dollar on each subscriber, if payment be made on the reception of the first number. Any individual procuring five subscribers, and remitting $25, will be allowed an additional copy.

PROPOSALS FOR ISSUING A REPRINT OF THE London, Edinburgh, Foreign and Westminster QUARTERLY REVIEWS.

In weekly parts of 48 royal octavo pages, containing the entire matter of these Journals, with the Index, &c. so pagged that each work may be bound separately at the end of the year thus forming four large volumes of nearly 700 pages each, for $5, being the cheapest and most valuable re-impression in this country.

The above journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their reputation. The well sustained reputation of the first, not only as an able defender of Tory principles, and the old order of things, but as the warmest and most entertaining of Reviews, will always command the attention of the literary and scientific. While the second, celebrated for the vigorous, burning and acrimonious which its articles display, controlled by, none of the principal influences of the modern Athens, is an equally valuable and interesting contribution to the literary and scientific world. The third, which occupies a neutral position, and is devoted to continental affairs. The Westminster is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Bentham-ism. It represents the principles of the party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

It is proposed to reprint the entire matter of the above works in weekly numbers, of fifty eight
pages each, enclosed in a substantial cover, with
end of the year—forming four octavo volumes of
