

Rheumatism Gone, Says Montreal Hotel Man

F. A. Mongeau Tells How He Recovered Strength After 8 Years Of Rheumatism

F. A. Mongeau, popular night clerk at the Prince of Wales Hotel 17 and 19 McGill College Ave., Montreal, Canada, lends his name to further the cause of Tanlac, the treatment that has proved of such great benefit to him.

"After all Tanlac has done for me," said Mr. Mongeau, "I just feel like praising it to everybody. Eight years of muscular rheumatism had just about made a cripple of me. I got to where I simply had to limp around on a cane. My nerves became affected, my sleep unquiet and I felt completely knocked out.

"Six bottles of Tanlac, taken eight months ago, made a new man of me and I have had no further trouble with rheumatism, or my health, since. My nerves are steady as a die, I sleep fine and fell the same way. Anyone wanting to know of me what Tanlac will do, just phone me here at the hotel."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

ST. CROIX COVE.

Mr. Edward Marshall and daughter Mandy, Mr. Rose spent the 4th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall.

Mr. Herbert Dixon and Frank Graves, Port Lorne, visited friends here recently.

Mrs. Ada Risteen, who had been spending the winter in Mass., arrived at the home of Mr. Wm. C. Hall, Monday 5th, as housekeeper.

The late Mrs. Wm. C. Hall, left a bequest of forty dollars to the church here, which was put into an arc window. It was designed by Mr. Melbourne Charlton, Port Lorne, and made in the factory owned by J. H. Hicks and Sons, Bridgetown. It is a very nice piece of workmanship and is a great addition to the church.

OPERA VANQUISHING JAZZ.

Chautauqua Managers See Decline of Old-Fashioned Humorist and Orator Chicago.—No more magic, no more jubilee singers, plays instead of impersonators; less jazz—more grand opera, and lectures with a purpose by men who have achieved, are demands which indicate changes in the tastes of the American public, according to the Lyceum and Chautauqua Managers Association, in convention here.

"We haven't had a call for a 'humorist' in five years," said one manager. "The public wants humor, but there must be something more—a religious or educational value, though it can't be labeled as such. And the old-fashioned orator is gone, too."

More than 15,000 towns in the United States have a winter Lyceum course, and over 5,000 have the Chautauqua circuit in summer.

ZANE GREY TO VISIT NOVA SCOTIA.

Zane Grey, the well-known novelist, is to visit Nova Scotia this summer, spending his entire vacation practically along the south shore. The great portrayer of western life has become keenly interested in the possibilities for tuna fishing in Nova Scotia. A lover of all kinds of exciting and strenuous sport he is coming especially equipped to capture one of these fighting sea monsters with hook and line. Moreover, he has been persuaded to include a movie outfit with his other gear and if good films can be secured the novelist is willing to give Nova Scotia the benefit of the excellent publicity made available there.

Mr. Banks, of the Gold Hunter, says that L. D. Mitchell interested Zane Grey in the possibilities of tuna fishing off Port Medway, and understands that C. E. Millard is building a large motor boat to be used by Mr. Grey and Mr. Mitchell.

ACADIA ANNIVERSARIES.

The Acadia Anniversaries promise to attract an unusually large number this year. The graduating class will be one of the largest in the history of the University. The usual exercises will be of more than usual interest. An unique interest will attach to the laying of the corner-stone of the new building. The ample proportions and the beautiful outlines of this building are becoming more apparent every day. The foundation is completed, the steel for the superstructure is in position, and the floors, with the exception of those in the side-gallery of the auditorium, are laid.

The baccalaureate sermon will be preached on Sunday May 25th by Professor A. L. McCrimmon, ex-Chancellor of McMaster University. Dr. McCrimmon is one of the best known of Canada's public speakers, an educationist of recognized ability, of sound scholarship, and a speaker of unusual force and brilliance. The evening address, under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., will be given by Rev. S. S. Poole of the German Street Baptist church.

Dr. Poole is too widely and favorably known to require an introduction to Maritime audiences. His name is a guarantee of the quality of his address.

It will be a matter of delight to the friends of Acadia to know that President Cutten, of Colgate University, and formerly of Acadia, will officiate at the laying of the corner-stone.

The program for the week is as follows:

- Saturday, May 24th, 8.15 p.m.—College Play.
- Sunday, May 25th, 11.00 a.m.—Baccalaureate Sermon, Prof. A. L. McCrimmon, M.A., LL.D.

SCENIC PHOTOS DESIRED

To the Editor:—Sir,—The Nova Scotia Publicity Bureau is undertaking a campaign to create greater interest in Nova Scotia amongst tourists and prospective summer residents. One of the best methods by which this interest can be aroused is the broadcasting of attractive pictures, illustrating Nova Scotia scenery and sport.

Amateur photographers possessing clear-cut photographs suitable for reproduction of beautiful spots in this Province are earnestly requested to send copies to the Secretary, Nova Scotia Publicity Bureau, Halifax.

These photos should, if possible, show some life. Scenes illustrating surf bathing are useful, also salmon or trout fishing, hunting, canoeing, boating, yachting, golf. In a word, photographs of persons having a good time in Nova Scotia.

Photographs of this character would help a good cause along, as they would demonstrate better than words the resources of Nova Scotia as a real vacation land.

A. J. CAMPBELL, Secretary N. S. Publicity Bureau, Halifax.

REV. P. R. HAYDEN TENDERS RESIGNATION

At the morning service, on Sunday last at the Baptist Church, the Rev. P. R. Hayden tendered his resignation as pastor. It is understood that he has accepted a unanimous call to become the pastor of the Bridgetown Baptist church. Mr. Hayden's decision to terminate his pastorate of the Baptist church here, will be received with very general regret. His five years of faithful work has greatly endeared him to his congregation. He has been a good citizen, taking an active interest in all that has made for the welfare of the town, and he is held in high respect and esteem by all. Mr. Hayden is a faithful, hardworking pastor, and a preacher of more than ordinary ability, and the Baptist church has grown and prospered under his ministry here. He has been especially successful in his work among the young people of his congregation, by whom he is much beloved.

It is understood that Mr. Hayden's resignation is not to take effect until the first of August.—Berwick Register.

SATISFACTION

A seemingly low price for an article is always attractive, but unfortunately frequently misleading. How often is heard the remark—"I would rather have paid a little more and got the quality I wanted."

As a matter of fact that "little more" was necessary to obtain the better quality. Good goods require a higher price to be good.

There are cheaper teas than "KING COLE"—but would you be satisfied with their quality?

LIQUOR VENDORS SALES DECREASE

Decline of Over Hundred Thousand Dollars Between Sept. 30 and April 30

There has been a decrease of over one hundred thousand dollars in the income of the Board of Vendors' Commission from the sale of liquor between September 30th, 1923, and April 30th, 1924. This was learned in the House of Assembly yesterday when Hon. D. A. Cameron, Provincial Secretary, tabled answers to a number of questions asked by Mr. MacDonald (Hants) regarding the administration of the Commission. The announcement of this decrease, which in exact figures was $110,219.25, was received with some satisfaction by members of the Government, who had been endeavoring to convince critics of the Government's policy that smuggling was the cause for much of the liquor seen about the Province, and smuggling of liquors into Nova Scotia was a matter entirely beyond the jurisdiction of the Province to control. This very extraordinary decrease in the receipts of the Commission would indicate that if liquor was still as evident in Nova Scotia this year as in previous years, it must be through smuggling that it was obtainable.

Mr. MacDonald had asked other questions, one concerning the number of appointments made by the Board of Vendors' Commission since September 30th, 1923. According to the answers handed down, there were three appointments—James Dawson, aged 62 years, on a salary of $1,200; Thomas Griffin, age 39, on a salary of $1,150; and Clifford Holland, age 50, on a salary of $1,150. They were store-keeper and warehousemen respectively.—Chronicle.

CREDIT VS. CASH.

An exchange tells the story of a grocer doing business in its city who offered to extend the credit of one of his customers if it was not convenient for him to pay cash at the time. The man had been his customer for some time and had been paying his bills as regularly as he found it possible, never being very far behind in his payments, so that his custom was considered desirable. When the grocer made the offer of credit he received a surprise. His customer told him: "I don't want to pay my bills. If I am left to myself I will run bills and a bill that will stagger me. You mean, all right and I appreciate your intention, but you are not doing me a kindness in getting me to buy from you without paying cash at the time or by the end of the week. I want you to keep after me until I become a cash customer. I know my failing, and you can help me overcome it."

An exceptional and a very unusual customer, perhaps, but he touched on a vital business issue. It is far better for a man to understand that he must face his financial obligations promptly. It is largely a matter of habit unless he happens to be overtaken by sickness or misfortune. Merchants who offer credit would often confer a favor on their customers if they were to point out to them instead the advantage of paying their bills promptly, for only those who do so are likely to escape the increasing burden of debt that ruins so many lives, and to accumulate savings and thus enjoy the prospect of a comfortable old age. A cash business enables the merchant to meet his own engagements more promptly, enabling him to buy more cheaply, and to contribute in no small degree to the general prosperity by diminishing the general volume of credit in the community.

WILL CUT PRICE OF FARM IMPLEMENTS

Toronto.—The Massey-Harris Company, Limited, the largest manufacturers of farm implements in Canada, announced that they will pass on the farmer in the form of reduced prices for machinery, the saving effected in the remission by the Government of the sales tax on farm implements and the lessened duties on raw materials. The new budget reduces the import duties on farm implements and machinery as well as raw materials entering into their manufacture.

APPEAL SUCCESSFUL

word has just been received by W. A. Livingstone, solicitor for Harry P. DeLap, in the case of DeLap vs. Hayden & Ray, that the appeal to the full bench of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia against the decision of His Honor the Chief Justice in the case has been fully allowed. The decision by His Honor in trial here was in favor of Hayden and Ray, but the full bench now disallows this decision and awards $200 damages to DeLap besides costs of trial and cost of appeal. The decision affects the entire coast of the Maritime Provinces as to fish weirs and trespass.—Spectator.

"Fisherman's Luck. Good Business."

"When you see a desk-ribbon jockey casting the fly on the French River, or exhibiting the skin of a Nipigon trout, you may know him for a good business man."

SOME men are stamp collectors, some play golf, yet others go off across the world in search of big game. Some hunt hidden treasures whether of an archaeological nature or the raw material as found in the Canadian mine. To some men these things are merely hobbies, to others a living.

Some businesses and some occupations call for a breaking down of the cast-iron partitions which we are apt to erect between what the world is pleased to call "a living" and a "hobby."

When we have worked for some time at earning a "living" we are apt to be suddenly aware that something of strength, something of alertness, some "virtue" has gone out of us. And in order to get back, we set about recreating that lost strength. By nature man is not a "specialist."

Yet we all know, to our cost, the tendency of modern business-life is to make him so. The pressure of "business" of which we boast, the system, the competition, of which we think so highly, as to be always in pursuit of it, is in reality a juggernaut, a fierce feudal overlord of the worst type, since we are in bondage to it without knowing it. We actually take our chains lovingly to our hearts.

Sometimes the awakening comes in the form of a rude shock. A physician's dictum. But as often as not in quite another form. That subtle and yet tangible shock received when some younger, fresher mind, some "mere chit of a fellow" beats us at our own game. That is the awakening that hurts. Because we know that at the club, other men are saying "Fell down on the job." Whereas the truth is, "Stuck to his job, not wisely but too well," would be so much nearer the truth.

When business first began its pressure. When business first began to be so intense we felt we "could not leave it," the number of "break-downs" was terrific. But just about that time we began to see that to go down and out was not playing the game, but surrendering, surrendering not altogether to pressure from without but to weakness within—a failure to stand-up against "fearful odds"—unexercised lunge.

And so we began to cast about for a means of strength—that iron-strength of nerve—which would stand up squarely under ordinary fire and rise like a well-trimmed ship to meet the waves of unexpected storms. This thing has been thought out and acted upon as a positive condition of modern life and business we may say within the past twenty years, and more firmly yet within the last ten years.

Men now go away and leave their business at least once each year. And the wiser take a vacation not only in summer but in winter as well. The more intense the business, the heavier the fire, the greater need for re-infusing that strength which is burned out. The greater need for the gathering up of new ideas.

So, when you see a business-man, a banker or railroad president, or a company official, or any other desk-ribbon jockey casting the fly on the French River, or exhibiting the skin of a Nipigon trout sketched on a board, pleased as any school boy who has carried his bat out at cricket, or kicked a goal for the school team, you know him not so much for a great sport as for a good business man. The very fact that he belongs to those who get back to Nature wins your confidence. You know him for a man who has the business situation of the day in hand. One who is about—steadfast—of that tide which surges in the affairs of men. "A live wire," competing youth, calls him.—Victoria Hayward.

KINGS CO. FARMER SHOOTS HIMSELF.

Kentville.—Early Tuesday morning George Spinney, aged 50 years, living in Harmony, committed suicide by shooting himself.

He leaves his wife and four sons, Alfred, the eldest, in the United States, and Kenneth, Wylie and Robie at home.

Several years ago he was under treatment for some mental disorder, but was apparently cured, and he had lived at home for the last two years.

He had been despondent at times, lately, and it is believed that it was during one of these periods he ended his life. He lived for nearly three quarters of an hour after shooting himself. Medical aid was summoned but he died soon after the arrival of the doctor.
