

"The highest truth the wise man sees he will fearlessly utter ; knowing that, let what may come of it, he is thus playing his right part in the world ; knowing that, if he can effect the change he aims at—well : if not—well also ; though not so well."

HERBERT SPENCER.