The Convener of the Committee on Established Church Sunday-schools thinks it a most melancholy thing that whenever people get married they think it necessary to give up Sabbath-school work: it seems to be one of the bad influences of marriage.

A telegram from Burmah, with the words "Lambert murdered," is believed to announce the death of an English missionary of that name who went out five years ago under the auspices of the China Inland mission, but afterwards undertook independent work, and recently went to the aid of some Baptist missionaries near Mandalay.

The Manchester Guardian says that one of the few remaining links of the Wesley family has passed away through the death of Miss Eliza Wesley, a grand-daughter of Charles Wesley, of hymn-book fame. All her life Miss Wesley has been associated with the Church of England, and for the past 40 years was organist in one of the London churches.

The Princess of Wales has inherited deafness from her mother, the Queen of Denmark, but the eyesight of both mother and daughter is exceptionally good. It is on record that a gipsy fortune-teller once foretold that the Princess of Wales would hereafter be a Queen-Empress, that one sister would rule over a large empire, and the other possess a queenly title without a throne.

The seceders from the Free Church held Communion service in Glendale, Skye, on a recent Sunday. It was held in the open air, close by the church lately built by the seceders. The day was fine, and about 1,500 people, some from long distances, attended the solemn ceremony. The Rev. Mr. M'Farlan, of Raasay, and the Rev. Mr. M'Kenzie, of Inverness, officiated. Time is not diminishing the ardour of this party in the island.

A GRATEFUL MOTHER.

RELATES HOW HER DAUGHTER'S LIFE WAS SAVED.

Anæmia and General Debility Had Brought Her to the Verge of the Grave—Physicians Held Out no Hope of Recovery—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Again Prove a Life Saver.

From the Ottawa Free Press.

A personal paragraph in the Free Press some time ago, simply stating that Miss Sophia Belanger, 428 Cooper Street, Ottawa, had recovered from a serious illness caused by anæmia and general debility, has apparently awakened more than usual interest and pleasure among her relatives and acquaintances. So much so, indeed, that a reporter of the paper found it extremely interesting to visit the family and enjoy a chat with Mrs. Belanger on the recovery of her daughter after she had for two years been considered irrecoverably a victim of this terribly enervating and dangerous disease. Mrs. Belanger is a very intelligent French-Canadian, wife of Mr. Joseph Belanger, whose wall paper and paint and glass establishment is at 146 Bank Street. Miss Sophie Belanger, the whilom invalid, vacillating between death and life, is a promising young lady of seventeen years. She is a student under the nuns in St. Jean Baptiste school on Primrose Hill. Over two years ago she fell sick and rapidly wasted away. The nature of her disease appeared to be a profound mystery to the physicians as they were called in one after the other. Despair seized the family as they looked upon the once beautiful, spirited girl, laying day in and day out, weeks and months on her couch, simply slowly vanishing and they powerless even to raise a smile to her wan lips. Each succeeding medical man gravely told the parents to prepare for the worst. However, Mrs. Belanger is not one of those women who give up in despair while there is still hope, as her own words will denote.

"It was a terrible time," she said. "We had been told again and again that nothing could be done to save Sophie, and had almost been forced by appearances to believe it. I have now to say that but for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she would have been in her grave instead of attending school every day the liveliest of the lively. It began like this: the poor girl was coming to me three or four times a day exclaiming, 'Oh, ma; I have such a terrible headache. I cannot stand the pain of it.' This went on for a long time, weeks in fact, until we began to look at it in a very serious light. We had almost every French doctor in the city called in, but with no result. Sophie got worse and worse. Her face was small and yellow while her lips were as white as your collar. She was listless and apathetic and so weak she could not raise her hand to her head. A leading doctor forced her to take a certain kind of powder, which seemed to be taking the flesh from her bones. Her skin became hot and parched, her eyes sank into her head and she lay on that couch as one dead, taking no interest whatever in thing going on around her. Then it was we became confirmed to the popular belief that she was going to die. It was agonizing to look at her, but we became partially resigned to the fate that appeared to be overtaking us. She was watched day and night, but we could detect no change unless for the worse. All hope had gone. I had read of the cures by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and about this time I noticed a description published in the Free Press somewhat similar to Sophia's case. Something seemed to urge me to give them a trial, and now I thank God I did. I sent for some and began giving them to her one at a time. Before long we saw an improvement, and gradually increased the dose from one to two and then to three at regular intervals. It was incredible to note the change. Her colour came back, a different look in her eyes, her general health and appearance gave us all new interest in her. Before the fourth box was gone Sophie was able to be up and around again, and a further use of them fully restored her health, or rather snatched her from the brink of the grave. To Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is due all the credit for we had stopped doctor's medicine and simply gave her these, following the directions around the box. My daughter's life was saved by Pink Pills and no one knows better than her mother. I wish to tell everyone of the cure, as it is almost impossible to believe that the poor thing that lay there, and the happy rosy-cheeked girl who goes regularly to her classes are one and the same person in such a marvellously short space of time, and you may be sure I am advising ailing neighbours to use this wonderful medicine.

Just as the reporter was leaving Miss Belanger returned from school. She was the picture of grace, healthy and beauty, her lithe physique denoting health in every movement, while her face showed the warm, ruddy glow of health. She corroborated all her mother had said besides adding some new testimony. Happiness now abideth in that home where misery held sway too long, and Mrs. Belanger rests her faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which will do for other weak and ailing girls what they did for her daughter.

THAT purchasers of our matches may secure entire freedom from false representations and from substitution, E. B. EDDY'S name appears on every box.

There should be therefore no mistake about getting the best.

Monsignor Capel, has, notwithstanding his changed relations with the ecclesiastical authorities at home, never seceded from the Roman Catholic Church; nor (as he himself has frequently asserted) has he ever contemplated such a step. He purposes, ere long, returning to London life once more.
