OCEAN TRAVEL
AND THE
COLONIAL EXHIBITION
IN LONDON.

At this season of the year many are preparing to cross the Atlantic, and the question naturally arises, What Line shall we go by? We notice advertised supposed Cheap Fares, but upon examining we come to the conclusion they are the most expensive in the long run, and in some cases more expensive than last year, and as our time is limited we naturally prefer going by a Regular First-Class Line, whose average time is seven days, in preference to low-priced Lines taking from 12 to 17 days, and by so doing we have at least two weeks longer in the Old Country, and thus save time and so more for our money, and taking all into consideration we conclude to go by the old reliable CUNARD STEAMSHIP LINE, whose rates are as low as any First-Class Line, and where we find discipline complete; and to any of our readers that wish particulars of this magnificent Line, we advise them to apply to
