THE BRIGHTEST LAND.

I orr have heard of other lands Across the swelling main, Where winter frost ne'er blights ike trees Nor desolutes the plaid, . ) 1;

And where the cloudless surprice sky is of a deeper blue, And all the flowers which paint the plain Of brighter-richer hue.

And where, o er sands besprent with gold. Thortvers roll their tides, And deep within the mountain's breast The sparkling diamond blicy

And of I've thought how beautiful Those sunny lands must be ; How pleasant wandering 'mid their groves And valleys, wide and free b

But sh, though bright and beauteous are Those lands neross the waves Tho plague of slu has reached them ton. And studded them with graves.

Yet we may find a brighter lands Where sortows never come; A land of love-a condless land. Where sin and death's unknown.

A city stands amid its plains-A city built by God. With walls of Jasper, gates of penal, And streets of purest gold.

Audithrough those over shining streets, A crystal river flows. On either side the tree of life by faduless beauty grows.

No flowers are there which fade and die-No joy's which pass away ; Fternal summer decks its plains; It's pleasures ne'er, decay.

And there the glorious throne is placed, And Jesus, too, is there, Even he who died that we might live, And in his glory share.

O, look to him-to Jesus now, While yet he waiting stands, Be his, and happiness is thine And thine that "better land."

Sin.—I avail inyself of the first opportunity of informing you, that for a very long period I was fallected with a dancerous gliddiness and frequent swimmings in the head, attended by loss of appetite, disordered stomuch, and generally impaired health. Every means had failed to give meany permanent relief and at longth it became so alarming that I was really afraid of going about without an attendant. In this melanchoiv condition I waited personally upon Mr. Hughes, Chemist, Harlech, for the purpose of consulting him as to what I had better do; he kindly recommended your Pills. I tried them without ticley, and after taking them for a short time I im happy to bear testimony to their wonderful efficacy. I am now restored to perfect health, and enabled to resume my usual duties. You are at liberty to publish this letter in any way you may think proper.

I am, sir your obedient Servant.
