

A notable technological achievement was realized with the successful deployment of the CanadArm - the Remote Manipulation system for the NASA Space Shuttle.

Elsewhere, Canadian firms have become established as successful suppliers of sub-systems and structural manufacturers and are steadily consolidating these external linkages having demonstrated the requisite competence in meeting the special standards required by this industry.

A prominent small business activity is the provision of consultancy services in overseas markets on space related issues.

EXEMPT
15(1)

Prepared by: A.J. Barker

Approved by: [Signature]