VISITORS CROWDED EXHIBITION CAMP

Thousands From Out of Town
Went Thru Park
Yesterday.

PLEDGES BEING SIGNED

Special Services Were Held Yesterday — Lectures on Discipline.

Thousands of visitors, many of them from outside points for the holidays, were shown over the military camp at Exhibition Park yesterday afternoon by their soldier relatives and friends. Christmas carols were sung by the camp choir at the morning service, and Christmas airs were played by the camp band. Rev. J. Russell Maclean, divisional chaplain, preached. He emphasized the importance of the fact that all great movements, including battles for human freedom, had religion as their basis. Each man in daily life, as in his military duties as a member of the contingent, had his place to fill. Each should try to serve the other. This was the great message brought home by the Christmas season to all. An impressive Roman Catholic morning service was held in the dairy building.

The auditorium was crowded by over 1200 troops at the Y.M.C.A. service last night. It was addressed by Rev. Perry Park, the young Anglican Y.M.C.A. chaplain, who made such a great success of his portion of the work at Valcartier. He is about to leave for foreign mission work among the native tribes of Northern India.

Over a hundred members of the Second Continental Christian Endeavor Society held a forty-minute service last night in the Y.M.C.A. recreation rooms. Secretary Hagerman, of the Ontario Y.M.C.A., boys' section, was the leader. Captain George C. Ellison will give an explanation of the latest army supply arrangements in the field, to the officers of the division on Wednesday afternoon.

Special Evening Meetings.
Captain Best is arranging for a special series of evening meetings, to commence on January 4, and to last for two weeks.

Major H. C. Bickford lectured to the officers of the contingent on Saturday upon "Military History," with a special reference to the Franco-German war of 1870.

Frank Veigh gave an illustrated war talk on Saturday night to over a thousand members of the Royal Templars and Sons of Temperance. Harry Whitesides, of the Central Y.M.C.A., is conducting a temperance pledge-signing movement at the camp. Over a hundred new signatures to the pledge were made last week on duplicate cards. One card was for the wife, or mother, to be made home by the soldier, and the other retained as a register by Whitesides.

Members of the contingent who belong to St. Andrew's Church will be granted leave to attend a Brotherhood reception there tomorrow night. A lecture on Discipline will be delivered by Major-General Lessard, C.B., in the women's building at 5 p.m. today. All officers except those of the 10th and 20th Battalions will attend. Bayonet exercises and musketry drill will be the chief features today.

A special reminder was posted up on Saturday afternoon that the shooting to the east of the live stock building was out of bounds.

General Lessard has issued orders for the incoming picket to consist of 5 police officers and 100 men every day from now on.

I. R. C. Challenge Match.
The future of the shoot of the Irish Rifle Club at the armories on Saturday was a challenge match between A. A. Campbell, D. Spence and P. Vance. The first shot was in the tie, each scoring 46 in a possible 50, but in the second shot Captain Spence proved the winner by 48 to 46. Practice will continue on Tuesday evenings at the armories.

PARKDALE RIFLE CHALLENGE.
The Parkdale Rifle Club wishes to arrange a shooting competition, to take place at the armories some Saturday afternoon between ten of its members and ten members of any other rifle club in the city. Members who joined those who are members of the regular militia are barred. Other conditions are to be arranged by the club committee.

SOLDIER SHOT AT WIFE DRUNK, MISSED MARK

Pte. Norman Graham Charged With Shooting With Intent to Kill.

Norman Graham, Scotch, 28 years, a private in the 48th Highlanders, is said to have imbued too much Scotch whiskey Saturday night, with the result that when he reached his home revolver at his wife, Laura, it is alleged that when he drew his revolver he pulled the trigger twice. But the cartridges did not discharge. The third one did. The bullet passed close to his wife's neck. Powder from the discharge burned the flesh.

Graham's brother-in-law notified the police of the shooting. The brother-in-law said to have had a hard fight to subdue Graham before the police arrived. Graham is charged with shooting with intent. He was on a thorough from the Exhibition Camp.

The Civic Campaign

The number of organizations desirous of election time of telling the people how to vote, but which are dormant the rest of the year, despite their high sounding protests that their sole aim is civic welfare and efficient municipal government, seems to be on the increase. It would be impossible for any one man to receive the endorsement of all for any particular office; perhaps indeed some of the candidates who are entirely ignored by these mushroom bodies are to be congratulated in having been left off the "plate." An organization that lives only during the two weeks of the campaign is hardly worth serious consideration as a factor in the civic life of Toronto.

Of all the absurdities perpetrated at election time we recommend the card evil as among the worst. Candidates are compelled to spend in the aggregate thousands of dollars for printing and posting and the only result is to make the voters an even more ignorant and stupid body. Very few read the great, ugly, disfiguring signs placed on every vacant space by the dozen, and upon the majority of other store fronts in certain sections of the city, and some one should have the practice stopped. On one store in the downtown section, forty cards were counted, under and around the windows; twenty to thirty are common on the business streets. They are kept in place by huge tacks driven into the woodwork by gunnash men who work quietly in the midnight hours. One wonders if the owners of the properties in question should not prosecute the candidates or their agents for malicious destruction of property. Police court prosecution would likely be the portion of a small boy who hurled a snowball thru a window; but here are dozens of bill posters and their men disfiguring the fronts of hundreds of stores, driving nails in the woodwork, and taking liberties with the property of citizens, and they are allowed to get away with it. The election card evil should be stopped.

This will be one of the busiest nights of the campaign for some of the candidates. The Y.M.C.A. meeting at central headquarters, College street, was the big event of the evening, representative of the 1914 campaign, and this year it is expected to be equally as important. It will be held tonight and tomorrow night at the Y.M.C.A. headquarters. The candidates for the board of education will all be there together with the candidates for the board of control. Other meetings include a gathering at Annette street school, West Toronto; a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. at the Occident Hall, Bathurst street; Riverdale Ratepayers' Association and a meeting at the Y.M.C.A. at the Occident Hall. How the candidates are going to cover them all is a mystery still unsolved.

The Globe: Mr. John A. Cooper's frank and reserved declaration that he is now and was when he was in the railway purchase issue was up against the campaign, will defeat the campaign, "beastly" business, against him. Mr. Cooper should make an excellent alderman, and the second ward should elect him. It is estimated that he will get the third seat as a special representative of the north end in council.

As a debater Ald. Maguire has no superior in the council, he is careful in marshaling his facts and in the presentation is convincing. It will be difficult to supplant the grip which he has on the council. In the city council, the strength which Alderman Maguire has developed has been gained by a steady and persistent campaign in the city's business, and has not been the result of a campaign for a seat in the council. Ald. Maguire and Sam McBride Ward Three has a strong team.

Meetings of the Catholic Municipal Association were held in the various parishes through the city yesterday, and candidates for council, board of control and the mayoralty were endorsed. It is the first year in which the Catholics of this city have organized a couple of weeks ago, and is hardly sufficient to make it. It is claimed that the normal Catholic vote in Toronto is approximately 8000, but it is claimed that this could be doubled by proper organization.

Never before have the various candidates made such a determined effort to capture the Jewish vote. It is to be seen in the Jewish vote in the election day is a valuable lesson in citizenship. The people of the ghetto are out long to pay their obligations of citizenship. There is a larger percentage of Jewish votes cast every year than can be claimed by any other section of the community. That value on the vote is indicated by the number who are printing their cards in Jewish this year. In Ward Three alone it is estimated that 1800 Jewish voters go to the polls. In Ward Five and Seven the vote is also a factor to be reckoned with.

Geo. Wellings writes to deny a report appearing in a contemporary that he has retired from the aldermanic race in ward one. He is still in the field and will go to the polls with the endorsement of the Trades and Labor Council.

G. A. Archibald, who is out for the board of education in ward six, is a son of Deputy Chief Archibald, a barrister by profession, and a man of the important body. He is a young man, 32 years of age, and if hard campaigner will win a place on the board next year he will be heard from.

Donald MacGregor is devoting every energy to his ward six aldermanic campaign and is supremely confident of the issue. A resident of Toronto since his fourth year, he has spent fifteen years of his life in the district. He is a member of the board of trade and other public bodies, has been chairman of Victoria Presbyterian Church for seven years, has 12

TOWER AND BELLS WERE DEDICATED

Memory of Rev. H. Sostly and Daughters of Alderman Dunn Honored.

Yesterday morning at St. Barnabas' Church, corner of Hallow and Givens streets, Rev. Bishop Reeve dedicated the Sostly memorial tower and the Dunn memorial chiming. Special prayers were rendered and Bishop Reeve took for his text the following exhortation from the 115th psalm: "The Lord has been mindful of us, and will bless us." He spoke of the year that has just passed and reviewed the work of the nation and their influence and the outlook for the Christian in the coming year.

The chiming were donated by Ald. Dunn, in memory of his two daughters who were prominent workers in St. Barnabas' Church. The tower was erected by the congregation in memory of Rev. Henry Sostly, who was assistant rector of St. Barnabas' for five years. Rev. H. Sostly was a retired clergyman who gave his services to the church gratuitously for five years.

Large property interests in the ward, and is running as a straight business man's candidate.

Among the elements who like to have a little wager on the outcome of the elections, substantial odds are now offered for anything up to a majority of five thousand. A week ago little better than even money could be had on the result. Joe Thompson is generally picked as the man who will head the board of control vote. There is lively speculation as to the outcome in ward three.

A correspondent writes, saying there is a very general impression that Jos. E. Thompson, board of control candidate, is a bachelor, and he asks "The World" to set him right. Mr. Thompson was married some years ago to the daughter of a prominent public man, but has been a widower for several years.

Joe Gibbons looks like one of the men to secure one of the aldermanic vacancies in ward six. He will get not only the solid labor vote, but has the endorsement of many business men and other citizens of the ward, who believe that the business agent of the union is a valuable man in council. He was recently entrusted with a commission by the government to look into the unemployment problem, and has filled many responsible positions of a similar nature.

The name of Dr. Caroline S. Brown was inadvertently omitted from The Sunday World as a candidate for the board of education in ward five. Dr. Brown is well known, and is in the field to stay.

BUT MR. SINGER PROBABLY WILL WIN

Editor World: Per me, sir, to inform you and your readers that the remark passed in your paper, dated Sunday, Dec. 27, in reference to the candidacy of H. S. Dworkin as alderman for ward four, that he represents a certain element in the out of it is not correct. The informant of the same has just detailed to you fully his candidacy.

Let me, if you allow these few lines to appear in your paper, to express my own personal opinion of the situation in ward four.

Most of the Jews of Toronto are tried their strength in the city council. I would like to go as far back as 1907, when the first gentleman, J. S. Granatstein, sought the candidacy for ward three, who was followed by Paul Levy, then Louis Gurofsky in ward three and two occasions by Dr. John Shyne in ward four. They have paved the road for the present candidates, sought election, and represented ward four, the Jews of that ward, at an opportune time to endorse the candidacy of L. M. Singer as a representative of ward four.

All parties united and helped him to be elected. Knowing that he possesses the knowledge of law, and that he would raise his voice at opportune election time on behalf of his electors. He was placed as alderman in ward four. It is with sorrow that I have to state the error. Not only during his time in council did he not raise his voice for ward and from others, but he was not a deserter of their interests.

With the approaching election of voters, the question arises as to whether they again in the same manner as they did in 1914. The matter was considered early. Most of the electors were asked their opinion, and they acknowledged that he is not fit.

The local Hebrew Journal, which has all other newspapers, a right to see that justice is given to every one and claim to be protectors of individuals who seek the mark of their party in the election. Mr. H. S. Dworkin responded to the same and was endorsed by the electors of ward four.

A public meeting was called and took place at the Lyric Theatre on Tuesday, Dec. 22, when over 1400 citizens, by a motion brought forward, endorsed H. S. Dworkin and none other as their candidate as alderman for ward four for 1915. So you can clearly see that he is not a deserter of their interests.

Therefore permit me to say and I believe you will rectify the same, and insert in your paper that Ald. Singer seeks re-election as an individual. The masses of Jews, however, have not and will not endorse his candidacy as alderman for 1915.

The endorsed candidate is Mr. H. S. Dworkin, and he has no doubt that every effort and force is made he will secure the future alderman representing ward four as it should be represented.
