

I N D E X.

	Page
Fox , Mr. thought it would have been better Lord North had never been born	33
pronounces Lord North deserving an Axe	35
disdains the Idea of joining Lord North	37
pronounces Lord North impertinent and insulting ascribes the raising an illegal Army in Ireland to the ill Conduct of Lord North	37
Lord North would rather have him for an Opponent than Commentator	38 thinks the Influence of the Crown ought to be entirely destroyed	38
alarmed at the Conduct of Lord North towards the East-India Company	40
condemns Lord North's System	42
cenfures Lord North for the Contract for Rum made with Mr. Atkinson	43 describes Lord North's Country Gentlemen	44
his Opinion of Lord Thurlow	45
charges Lord North with difguffing the Army and Navy	45
arraigns Lord North of Misconduct, Blunders, and Misfortunes	46 cenfures Lord North for fending Commissioners to America to treat for Peace	51, 52
attacks Lord North for his Abuse of his Loans	52
affigns to Lord North Reasons for continuing the American War	54
exclaims againft touching the territorial Revenue of the East-India Company	55
accufes Lord North of Robbery	55
cries out againft Lord North's Mode of calling in the Balances of public Accountants	56
reprefents Lord North as being fuckled with the Milk of the Treafury	56
charges Lord North with acting impudently	58
reprehends him for his Audacity	58
threatens Lord North with the Scaffold	60
reprefents Lord North as a Shuffler	63
compares him to a Murderer	64
reprefents Lord North as a Cheat	64
accufes him of Bafenefs	65
calls him a Puppet	65
Motives imputed to him by Lord North	66
charges Lord North with accurfed Obftinacy	67
fpreaks againft Coalition	68
would think himfelf the moft infamous of Mankind fhould he join Lord North	68, 73, 74