

cese, which is placed in a room projected from the north-side of the Chancel, used also as a Sacristy. Of the valuable books which it contains, a number were contributed by the University of Oxford, Mrs. HUYSHE of Exeter, Mr. COLERIDGE, and others; but the great bulk, to the number of 1700, were the generous gift of the Rev. R. PODMORE, the present Librarian.

Among the benefactors of the Cathedral, special mention should be made of Mr. GEORGE HEATHERLEY of Bristol, England, who by unwearied personal efforts has raised and transmitted to the Bishop the sum of £500 sterling.

After the services of the morning the Bishop received the visiting Bishops and the Clergy of his Diocese at his residence. After exchanging congratulations, the company sat down to lunch. At the close of the generous repast a cordial welcome was extended to his brethren from abroad by the Bishop in a very neat address, in which his Clergy heartily joined, and an unanimous desire was expressed for the publication of the Consecration Sermon of Bishop SOUTHGATE. The Bishops of QUEBEC and TORONTO and the Rev. Dr. HAIGHT responded to the kind sentiments uttered by the Bishop.

The Cathedral was again opened for Divine Service at 6 o'clock, when the Rev. Mr. MOUNTAIN, of the Diocese of Quebec, and the Rev. J. D. L. STREET, said Evening Prayer. The Proper Psalms, the cxxxii and cxxxiv were chanted to the 5th tone. The First Lesson was read by the Rev. Mr. BACON. The chant for the Magnificat was Battishill in E. flat. The Second Lesson was read by the Rev. W. H. DEVEBER. The Nunc Dimittis was sung to a composition of the Bishop of FREDERICTON. The Anthem was by Dr. BOYCE, and taken from Job xviii v. 12—Et Seq.: "O where shall wisdom be found?" &c. The sermon was
