British Newspapers Bitter in Condemning Senate's Action With Regard to the Panama Canal.

A London cable says:

Burton's amendment to the Panama Canal Bill, this morning's Post says it is to be regretted that this decision has been reached, since nothing can be plainer than that the discrimination in favor of American vessels using the Panama Canal is a violation not only of the strict letter of the Hay-Pauncefote Treaty, but a repudiation of pledges made by the United States to the British Government at the time the treaty was negotiated. Neither legally nor morally, The Post says, can discrimination be exercised against shipping under the British flag unless the United States violates the good faith that it pledged itself to observe under the terms of the treaty.

The Daily Mail, in an editorial this morning on the senate's vote, says: "That idea would put back the whole
