A feature of the millfeed situation of late has been the good demand from luyers in the United States for bran and shorts, and as some permits were issued to millers here, sales of some round lots were made at higher prices. A weaker feeling has developed in the market for rolled oats, and prices have declined thirty cents per bag.

The tone of the egg market is strong, with an upward tendency for the best grade. The demand for strictly new-laid is somewhat in excess of the supply, and sales of such were made as high as
