

PUBLIC RESPONDS TO SOLDIER NEEDS

Hospitals to Be Well Supplied
Thru Soldiers' Comforts.

"The response this year from a generous-hearted public has been tremendous. It is simply wonderful and never have we felt to be so great the privilege of working for the hospitals as we do this year."

This is the testimony of Mrs. Arthur Van Koughnet, honorary superintendent of Soldiers' Comforts, regarding the manner in which people are remembering the men in the military hospitals.

As Mrs. Van Koughnet spoke she was surrounded at headquarters by packing cases half filled, on several were lying rolls of brilliant red paper and glistening tinsel, while dozens of boxes bearing the name of the hospital and speaking loudly of the Christmas spirit stood tied ready for shipping to the various convalescing homes of the soldier-heroes.

Between the sentences with which Mrs. Van Koughnet told of Canada's appreciation, she signed letters, answered queries from rushing assistants, saw a motor start on its mission of gathering turkeys, gave orders for greenery, examined a parcel of holly, received and dispatched several callers, but by no means did she neglect to be a more busy spot in Toronto than the headquarters of Soldiers' Comforts.

Working Day and Night.

"Yes, we've worked every night during the past week and will have to do the same this week until Christmas eve," said the undying head of the institution, which is surely all that its name implies. "We want to make this Christmas a real victory festival, even more than last year, and so we are putting more shimmering, glistening bright things in our decorations than ever before. We placed 48 Christmas trees in one hospital alone," was the sample of work being done.

No soldier is to be neglected and the Nursing Sisters, too, are everyone to be remembered the boxes for containing some of the nice soap, powder and similar things that girls always love, in addition to the nuts and candies that speak of Christmas time.

The city hospitals decorated and feasted by Soldiers' Comforts are the Spadina, General and Western for soldier patients. This, however, is but a small part of the work. They have under their care and provision military hospitals in C. D. and F. districts, which include hospitals in London, Guelph, Hamilton, Kitchener, Kingston, Stratford and other centres.

GREAT CHRISTMAS DOINGS

This is the "red letter day" of the Red Cross in peace time. Beginning with the Orthopaedic Hospital, which they will visit at 8.30 a.m., they will distribute Christmas stockings. From 9 to 10 there will be the delight of seeing and stripping the Christmas trees; then comes a motor drive for the patients who are able to go out, and on their return a sumptuous Christmas dinner. This will be followed by vaudeville and other entertainment, the whole to end with a good old Christmas dance.

Other hospitals which will have a program something similar are St. Andrew's, the College Street Hospital and the Base Hospital. At Pearson Hall the festivities are arranged to take place on the 25th, when the Christmas tree and dinner will be their grand finale in the performance at Shea's Theatre, for which the men will be provided with tickets.

TRAVEL TO THE OLD COUNTRY

The steamship companies operating at present from New York and Montreal to England and the continent are having great difficulty in accommodating the large number who wish to cross the Atlantic. How long this condition will last, it is hard to say, but certainly there is no indication that the rush back and forth will subside in the very near future.

In pre-war times it was an easy matter to secure a passage in any class, on almost any ship, two or three weeks in advance, but now the traveler is lucky if he can secure what he wants two or three months in advance. Labor troubles and the ever increasing number traveling, of course, make this condition of affairs almost unavoidable, which not only affects Europe and all points south, as well.

F. Webster & Sons, 53 Yonge street, the oldest established steamship agents in Canada, report a great many bookings for the winter and spring, and are urging their friends to book as early as possible both for outward and return reservations.

BIGAMIST REMANDED

Robert J. Rae, a returned soldier, appeared in the police court yesterday, charged with bigamy. Accused pleaded not guilty. He claimed that he had been shell shocked and did not remember committing the crime. He was remanded till the 29th of this month. As he is in C. D. and F. district, he attempted to kiss his first wife, despite the fact that his first wife and little child were in the court, but he was restrained by a guardian of wife No. 2.

EMPLOYMENT RETURNS

Vacancies for Women Far Outnumber Applications, Especially in Factories.

The employment service of the department of labor of the Ontario government reports a slight decrease in the business of the bureau for the week ending Dec. 13. In agriculture, the placements were 48; in the building trades 140, a decrease of 31 from the week before; in general laboring, in spite of the decreased demand, 595 were placed; in lumbering, 374 placements are recorded, including 278 transferred from one part of the province to another. In the manufacturing industries, placements have increased, the greatest number for any one industry being 48 in the manufacture of metals. In all there were 2780 applications for work, and 1822 workers received employment (537 soldiers and 985 civilians).

In the women's department, the vacancies far outnumber the applications. The greatest demand is in the manufacturing, where applications for 203 workers were received during the week, and only 14 applied for these positions. In the domestic department there were 239 applications for workers and 95 applicants. In addition to this, 836 old orders are reported unfilled.

POLICE MAKE BIG

HAUL OF WHISKEY

Three men were arrested and twenty-five cases of whiskey seized last night by Plainclothesmen Ward and Clarkson. The greatest haul of whiskey was made from Peter street to a house on Oxford and when the driver started to carry in the cases they seized the whiskey and the arrests followed. Amos Rubenstein, 68 Oxford street, is charged with purchasing liquor; Sam Levy, 41-1-2 Terauley street, is charged with importing liquor into the province, while Ben Weinberg, 110 Baldwin street, a pressman, is charged with illegally having liquor in his possession. On opening bottles of Walker's Imperial, Rubenstein is alleged to have purchased the liquor from Levy.
