WALL-STREET RELIES ON DIVIDENDS

World Office, Friday Evening, Aug. 17.

Nothing small about Harriman. He ran a New York insurance company until compelled to desist, and has since given greater attention to the stock market. Fancy a straight 5 per cent. dividend on Southern Pacific! This is not fiction, but absolute fact. Very seldom, if ever, has Wall-street witnessed such a daring adventure as this. It is usual among directors to pay dividends parl passu with earnings. Harriman has adopted a new procedure. A graduated scale of dividends is cyldently not suited to his taste. A declaration of 2 per cent., or even 3 per cent., might have been acceptable to the market, and recognized as, perhaps, justified by earnings. It would seem as the necessity has given place to justification. Blocks of Southern Pacific and Union Pacific had to be unloaded on the market. Brokers of judgment were opposed to the highest grade of stock market financing, and opposed to the advance in these two securities. Yesterday witnessed a contest between the two forces, and, to appearances, Harriman won out. Surface indications are not always a guide to success, and the pool operating against market sentiment may yet ignominiously succumb to common prudence, as opposed to stock jobbing of the veriest type. With the placing of Southern Pacific on a 5 per cent. dividend basis, Union Pacific was increased from 6 per cent. to 10 per cent. Union Pacific stock advanced 16 3-4 points from the opening to-day, and Southern Pacific 6 points before the forces behind the market showed any desire to give quarter to the shorts. To-day's developments define clearly the method by which public interest is to be again riveted on the New York stock market.
