COBALT NEWS

On the Tretheway at the 50-foot level two-inch vein has been struck. Like the other veins in this mine, it is of smaltite, carrying the usual high values of silver.

The Nancy Helen have now in their ore house two carloads of ore ready to be shipped. They expect to have their machinery on the ground on Monday and running in the course of a month. While sinking on their shaft a new find has been made on the Temiskaming. At the hundred-foot level a twoinch vein of calcite and silver was cut into on the west wall. So far operations at the mine have been entirely by hand; today a six-drill compressor and a 100-horsepower boiler, a big hoist and dynamo are on the way out to the camp. At Cobalt depot a carload of ore, 548,951 pounds in weight, and valued by the company at between $90,000 and $100,000, is awaiting removal.

The directors of the Nipissing Cen- maica, branch. tral Electric Road expect to have everything completed in a few days. and will then commence building their electric road from Latchford to Liskeard through Cobalt. The exact route of this road has not yet been determined upon, but the directors state that they expect at an early date to complete their plans and let the contract. There is no doubt that this road will be built this summer. It will be of great benefit to the public in that part of the district, and will doubtless of such a road has long been felt and town cafe. its construction at an early date will

The enormous wealth that has been discovered on the surface is only a very small indication of the enormous untold wealth that lies below. Those who have been on the property are perfectly satisfied that stock they hold should remain in the safe for some time.

TEACHERS HOLD OUT FOR EXAM

The East Middlesex Association Favors Continuation of Public School Leaving.

At the meeting of the East Middlesex Teachers' Association yesterday afternoon, a report on the public school leaving examination was presented on behalf of a committee by Miss McKenzie. Letters were read from teachers, all declaring that the fifthclass examination was profitable, and it was agreed to have it next year, and to ask the county council to make a grant to meet the expenses incurred by it. It was also agreed to follow a timetable for work in department regulations.

A committee of teachers was appointed, with Inspector Thompson, to prepare papers and also to examine the written papers of the pupils. Mr. Scott, principal of the Toronto Normal, gave an address on "Some new pedagogic theories and their application." He said there are really no new theories, but teachers understood the old theoriest better. Most of these theories originate in a book on child study, which made the teacher wish to know the child, as well as the subject taught. Modern pedagogy has revealed (1) that the attitude of teacher to child has been entirely changed, and the teacher studies the child so that the abstract child has ceased to exist; (2) that the so-called stupid children have troubles which cause them not to hear or see or talk well, and there should be a surgical examination to ascertain what is wrong; (3) there is no development without the fuctioning of the nervous system; the fundamental principles should lead to tial faculty in the child is that for action; repetition is necessary in teachthis is attended with serious consequences. The mind wearies if the body the accessory; (4) the strongest potening, and simultaneous teaching should not be neglected; (5) that each organ has its growing period, and neglect of is tired. Play is necessary to dispel mental fatigue. The time of physical growth is the time of mental growth, and this is the time of most rapid progress, and all progress is an advance from the definite and the indefinite. Modern pedagogy shows what can be taught children. The child must perceive and show what he knows. Create an interest in the object, and lead from that interest to a further knowledge. Some children are eyeminded, ear-minded, motor-minded, so that no one way of teaching a thing will do for all children. Children forget abstract lessons on bravery, selfishness, etc., but these ethical truths

New York, May 23.-Henry C. Frick lost many more will come on this morn- $30,000,000 in the Wall street slump, accordcluded a detachment of 25 from Totoday. The authority for this statement tached to the 8 o'clock C. P. R. train is one of the best-known bankers of America, a man of the highest standing and the head of one of the greatest banks

He asserted Mr. Frick was loaded with high-priced stocks when the turn in the market came, and was forced to dump large holdings at whatever they would

Mr. Frick's holdings were largely in Union Pacific, Atchison and United States Steel shares. When these crashed all other stocks were crushed along with them. Sets Record as Plunger.

It is said Mr. Frick was the greatest and that the story of his operations, if it ever becomes known, will be one of the most amazing financial deals on record: Mr. Frick is something of a man of mystery, and he never lets the public into his confidence. It has been known, however, that he was piling up millions with great rapidity, and it was supposed he was shrewd enough to escape with his gains. Now it appears that his fabulous winnings were "on paper.

It is estimated in financial circles that Wall street in bleeding Mr. Frick for $30,-000,000 has got back all it loaned him for several years past. Wall street had an interesting series of Gates and his friends, and that the $80 said to have been received was considerably more than the average price which he and his friends paid for the same, for it is understood that they and the Schley-Hanna syndicate began accumulating Tennessee Coal and Iron stock at below $40 a share.

Agree to Quit Market.

"The sale to J. P. Morgan & Co. is suposed to be under the agreement alleged to have been made with associated bankers by John W. Gates and Charles G. Gates & Co. to liquidate and retire from the stock market as active and aggressive factors." Later in the day Morgan & Co. denied this report, but Wall street thought the denial might be "technical."

Rumor has it that Charles M. Schwab recently has disposed of large holdings of his United States Steel Corporation common stock, and to this is attributed partly heaviness in that stock. The is said to have been necessary
