KING GEORGE HAS WRECKED ANOTHER PRECEDENT; GOES TO COMMONS FOR ADDRESS

Unescorted, Britain's Democratic Leader Met in Gallery of House With Commons and Lords.

LONDON, Nov. 19 .- Another prece dent went the way of other precedents today, when King George, accompanied by Queen Mary and the Prince of Wales, went to the palace at Westmin- Will Provide First Transportaster to receive and reply to the loyalty address passed by the Houses of Parliament yesterday.

Hertofore it had been the custom of the Parliament to go to the king on such an occasion. The royal party drove to the palace at Westminster without escort, and was loudly cheered along the route.

Arriving at Westminster the king the queen, and the prince went immediately to the gallery of the House of Lords, where the commoners and the lords, the latter with the officials of the Houses in their robes of office, awaited them. The king was in morning dress. The lord chancellor and the speaker of the House of Commons prespeaker of the House of Commons pre-sented the addresses.

King George, after expressing hi-thanks, in a speech alluded to the pa-played by the whole empire "in th-long and terrible struggle now bein-brought to a close."

Expresses His Thanks.

In expressing his thanks to the House of Lords, and the House of Commons, the king said he was glad to meet the members of Parliament and the representatives of India and of the dominions beyond the seas, "that we may render thanks to Almighty God for the prize of peace, now near at hand, and that I may express to you, and through you to the people whom you represent, the thoughts that rise in my mind at a time so solemn." you represent, the thoughts that rise in my mind at a time so solemn."

The king said he was grateful for the spontaneous and enthuslastic expressions of loyalty and affection he had received in the metropolis, and from all parts of the British Isles, as well as from every quarter of the empire. He added that during the last four years of national stress and anxious processing the search of the control of the second of the search of 'my support has been faith in God Lucas, who has recently returned from and confidence in my people."

The king declared that in the future he would strive to the utmost to discharge the responsibility laid upon him charge the responsibility laid upon him to have a figure to the charge of the empire. OTTAWA, Nov. 19.—Validating legislation will be submitted next session, it is expected. In regard to prohibition. The order-in-council on which Dominion action was taken found its authority in the war measures act. The order itself for a period of twelve months afterwards. The war measures act, however, expires on the proclamation of peace in the Canada Gazette.

The question how far the order-in-council is valid after the war measures act has ceased to exist is now before the justice department. The same point has a risen in Great Britain in regard to orders-in-council passed there under has arisen in Great Britain in regard to orders-in-council passed there under authority of the defence of the realm act, or "Dora," as it is more commonly called. A special committee, which had the question under consideration, decided that war would cease to exist on the exchange of formal peace ratifications, and that orders-in-council passed under the defence of the realm act would not be valid after expiry of the act itself, unless validated by Parliament.

It is probable that the Canadian justice department will reach a similar conclusion in respect to orders-in-council passed under the war measures act.

While the Government has not yet taken the matter up, the suggestion is made of some lessening of prohibition restrictions when validating legislation is introduced. The same situation will arise in regard to other orders-in-council passed under the war measures act, which cover a period beyond the conclusion of
