BASEBALL

Brother vs. Brother.

In the first sixteen series between pennant winners of the two major league clubs there was not an instance of brother opposing brother. Last season the first case developed, when Jimmy Johnston played third base for the Robins and Wheeler Johnston played first base for the Cleveland Indians. Now comes the second brother vs. brother feature in two years. Bob Meusel will play right field for the Yankees during the series, and Emil Meusel will play left field for the Giants. Emil, the elder of the brothers, went to the Giants in mid-season after several years with the Phillies. Bob went to the Yankees a year ago last spring from the Vernon club of the Pacific Coast League. Both are heavy hitters who have done much to bring pennants to their respective clubs. Bob hits harder than Emil, though he is not so consistent in garnering his hits. Bob also excels Emil as a thrower, but Emil is the more finished fielder. Bob is a left-field hitter and Emil hits often to right, so the play of "Meusel field to Meusel" may be repeated frequently during the series.

WINS $100,000 BASEBALL BET

James O'Brien Said World's Series Would be Fought Out in New York—Picks Yankees to Win.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 5.—James O'Brien, a New York stock operator, gave a dinner party at the Ambassador Hotel to celebrate his winning of a $100,000 bet on the world's series contestants.

While attending the Dempsey-Carpenter fight at Jersey City on July 2, O'Brien declared that the world's series battle would be fought between the Giants and the Yankees and that he was rooting with all his might to that end.

Arguments to weaken O'Brien's loyalty to the home team caused him to place $25,000 with a syndicate, betting that the pennant in the National League would be captured by the Giants and that the Yankees would win the American League flag. As neither team was leading at the time the syndicate gave him odds of four to one.

He says the Yankees will win the series, but nobody at the dinner was rash enough to take him up.

The alleged thief to a tree till cop comes.

Hamilton, Ont., Oct. 5.—R. Gidley is alleged to have been caught stealing from a farmer over the mountain. When asked by some children to clear off the premises he is said to have brandished a knife. Some husky young farm hands chased the man, caught him and tied him securely to a tree until police officers arrived.

The Trocadero's lost all four points to the C. N. R. in the Wellington League fixture on the G. W. V. A. alleys, last evening. The scores were:
