DELIGHTFUL SUMMER ALONG THE RIVER

A maple tree at Public Landing is partially clad in gold and crimson. A yellowish tint is showing on the birches, and along the wayside brown and purple shades are here and there visible, the harbinger of autumn.

This has been a wonderful summer along the river. With the exception of one steady week the weather was for the most part fine, so that out-of-door life was enjoyable to an unusual degree. Now the season draws to a close. The last of this week will see the return to the city of the majority of those who summered along the river beyond Westfield. The tents are still on the shore at Bely's Point, however, and this will be a delightful week at all river points because it is virtually the last. Week-end parties will go up through September, but not in such numbers. Friday and Saturday were two of the hottest days of the summer at the Landing, but yesterday was cool. A great number of motor boats were out. There was dancing at the pavilion several evenings last week, which the glorious moonlight made most enjoyable. The Ocean brought down a large number of people this morning, calling attention to the fact that the vacancy on the board, caused by the term of George P. Day having expired, had not been filled although vacant since June 30, 1919. Mr. Day was appointed to the board in 1907 and after having filled a six year term was reappointed for another six years. The reappointment of Mr. Day was suggested and also the appointment of E. R. W. Ingraham to the vacancy, and after some discussion the council decided to leave the matter over until the next meeting.

A VARIETY OF MATTERS BEFORE COMMON COUNCIL

John Dempster appeared before the committee of the common council this morning and said that he bought twenty-five acres of land from the city, 14-16 chains, at Lech Lomond, on the southeastern end of the Raymond property in Garnettown. He said that recently when the city's lines were run, the dimensions of his property were changed so that the plot was only 7 1/2 chains wide. He paid $8 an acre. He asked that the city change the dimensions to those in the original deed. The matter was left to Commissioner Jones with power to act.

Only one tender was received for lumber for the harbor department and it was referred to Commissioner Bullock. It was from J. M. Driscoll and was for spruce deals, 642.50 a thousand, and spruce boards, $47.50.

Mr. Bullock reported that he had received no tenders for piling and he moved that he be given authority to purchase seventy pieces for east side work. He was asked to bring in a report as to prices.

Mr. Bullock also asked for authority to purchase lumber and piling for the repairs in Union street, West St. John through the cheapest service, estimated at $8,000, and for repairs to the Pettigill shed at an estimated cost of $1,500.

"These will all be charged against the harbor commission when it comes in, I suppose," remarked Commissioner Frink.

The mayor said that these matters were not included in the harbor bill but an effort was made to have them included.

Commissioner Bullock said the repairs should be done by the city workmen. Authority for both purchases was granted.

Regarding the First street sewer diversion, Commissioner Jones read a report from the city solicitor in which he said under the act of 1914 that the commissioner may lay down the sewer through the land referred to but must first ask permission from the land owners, though their refusal need not hold up or delay the progress of the work. The city must pay any damage done to the property.

On suggestion of Commissioner Frink, it was decided to leave the matter over until next meeting when Commissioner Jones will bring in a recommendation that the sewer be extended through the street and not through private property.

Commissioner Frink referred to a recommendation introduced by ex-Commissioner Fisher regarding a contract for 10,000 feet of granite curb with Morrison & Newlands, 5,100 feet of which had been delivered, contract for the balance, 4,900 feet, to be varied to give the contractors thirty cents a foot more than the contract price. Commissioner Frink said that there was no record of this recommendation passing council and on his recommendation the original motion was passed.

An application for permission to erect an electric sign was received from Geo. Ling, 18 King Square, and was referred to the city engineer for report.

On motion of Commissioner Frink the common clerk was instructed to obtain an assessment from D. J. Purdy to erect a retaining wall on his property in Bridge street.

Commissioner Thornton asked regarding the status of the Shamrock grounds and Armstrong & Bruce property. The mayor reported that the deeds were being prepared and the city engineer said that a change in the boundaries of the Shamrock grounds had been arranged. Metcalf Street Extension.

Commissioner Thornton said regarding the Metcalf street extension that he understood the deBury estate was willing to deed the strip to the city. The city engineer said there was a piece of the Hazen estate required which could not be obtained as one of the heirs was not of age.

Commissioner Frink asked if the engineer had made a sewerage plan or drainage for the Newman Brook area. He said that there should be room for considerable development there and he would like to have a plan prepared. He moved that, so soon as convenient, the city engineer prepare a plan of sewerage for this area—carried.

The Mill Pond.
 Commissioner Bullock reported regarding the Carleton mill pond. He said the engineer had suggested a small drain to retain a foot or so of water in the pond at all times. The extension of sewers which empty into the pond would cost $80,000.

Mr. Bullock said he was in favor of sewerage extension so that no sewerage would empty into the pond. Commissioner Frink said that the holding of a foot or more of water in the pond could not make the pond a worse cesspool than it is now and might improve matters. He suggested that the matter be left on the table until an expression of opinion of the west side residents be received. This was agreed to.

Commissioner Thornton said his attention had been called to the fact that some of the streets name signs had become dimmed. He thought something should be done.

Commissioner Frink said he would take the matter into consideration when making up next year's appropriations.

The mayor said that the fountain at the foot of King street was frequently out of commission and Commissioner Frink reported that he was having a new connection placed as refuse had been thrown in the fountain and plugged it.

KINDLY HELP OF WEATHER MAN ALL THAT'S NOW NEEDED

Final arrangements have been completed by J. D. O'Connell, the orphan friend, for his annual picnic to St. John orphans tomorrow and it is hoped that the weather man will be kind. Mr. O'Connell wishes that every one kind enough to loan his automobile for conveying the little ones to Rockwood Park will call at the Royal Hotel tomorrow at one o'clock. There is to be no restriction as to age of the children, Mr. O'Connell says, but if any society worker who knows of a group of children, would gather the little ones together so that he would know them they will be treated the same as the orphans. Unless this is done the only benefit they will get will be from the bill of fare and the penny scribble on the grounds.

The programme will even be better than that at first expected and a good time for all is guaranteed. A banner bearing the inscription "O'Connell's Picnic" with the name of the society to which it is presented has been given to several societies in this city and this banner will be carried by a child while the other children will each receive a flag.

The Lantern Lifting Epidemic Has Broken Out Again in the City

During that period which has now gone down into the realm of ancient history, but often referred to as the "Good Old Days," when wine flowed freely and many a tired business man was delayed in the office at spasmodic intervals during the week, it was not unusual to see a section of the city small hours of the morning wending his corkscrew way along the city streets, guided by a guttering lantern. These lanterns were usually lifted from the barriers surrounding some piece of work that was being done in the city streets.

However, with the advent of prohibition and the consequent reduction of long overtime office hours and circuitous homeward routes, the lantern-lifting habit declined alarmingly. But it has cropped up again and this morning Commissioner Bullock reported to the city council, that five of the lanterns, hung on the street repair job in Union street, west side, had disappeared through the still watches of the night. Commissioner Frink also reported one absentee in his light battalion.

It is not known what interpretation will be put on this new outbreak, but it is likely to cause the prohibition inspectors some little apprehension.

Mr. Bullock also asked for authority to purchase lumber and piling for the repairs in Union street, West St. John through the cheapest service, estimated at $8,000, and for repairs to the Pettigill shed at an estimated cost of $1,500.
