

A- I had been going over there previous. Since I had been in Camp Borden, sir.

Q- That would be approximately what date?

A- I would say I got here about a year ago, sir.

QUESTIONED BY THE COURT:

Q- I didn't quite understand what you were doing in civilian life before you joined the Army?

A- Well, sir, I worked in General Motors and the last place I worked in was Defence Industries Limited.

Q- Why did you stop working there?

A- I had forty girls under me and my head was bothering me at the plant and I had to leave.

Q- And you said you joined the Army just to get something to do?

A- Yes, sir.

Q- Did the fatigues they were giving you affect you the same way?

A- Yes, sir.

Q- What were the fatigues? Were they arduous at all?

A- I beg your pardon, sir?

Q- Were they difficult to perform; were they heave fatigues?

A- No, sir.

Q- Well, the point you are making is that you just can't stick at anything?

A- When I do anything, even when eating it comes onto me and it is just something, I don't know, I pick
