

THE DUTY OF DREYFUS

Was Pointed Out to Him by His Noble and Faithful Wife.

LIKE A MAN HE TOED THE MARK

On Thursday He Told the Whole Patriotic Story in the Court at Rennes—Faced Degradation and Death's Fate Imprisonment for Years Because It Was His Duty—The Proceedings.

Rennes, Sept. 1.—The court-martial of Captain Dreyfus opened behind closed doors yesterday and lasted until 9.15 a.m. Majors Hartmann and Ducros and General Deloye, all of the artillery, were present. The court discussed the secret documents relating to the artillery subjects of the bordereau.

The public were admitted to the court at 4 a.m. The first witness called after the public session was President Cassation, repeating the terms of the alleged confession of Dreyfus.

"I am innocent. In three years they will recognize my innocence. The Minister knows it. I delivered documents to Germany to have to have more important ones in return."

The Alleged Confession. The witness explained that he did not refer to the confession of Dreyfus during his interview with President Cassation, because he overheard a conversation in the course of which he was called "traitor," "canaille" and "cur," and it came as a surprise, for he did not mention it.

Well Built But Has Queer Eyes. Capt. Lebrun-Renaud, who was dressed in the uniform of the Republican Guard, is a well-built man of medium height, broad-shouldered and wearing a well-trimmed mustache, but as he has queer eyes. He spoke in a loud, clear voice.

Dreyfus, replying to the witness, began by calmly declaring that Captain Lebrun-Renaud's statement that a certain Captain D'Atel was present during his conversation with the captain Lebrun-Renaud, was inaccurate.

The witness, however, maintained that Captain D'Atel was present, whereupon Dreyfus said that he was present, but the prisoner did not speak to him. Dreyfus then raised his voice excitedly, and accompanying his words with short, emphatic gestures, he said that he was protesting that Captain Lebrun-Renaud's statement that he had spoken to Captain D'Atel, was untrue.

"Those are manoeuvres," cried the prisoner, "which must fill all honest men with indignation." The Ministers who were seated in front of him, looked at each other with surprise, and Dreyfus spoke the last words through his teeth, and was evidently laboring under the greatest excitement and indignation.

His brother, David, was also a Senator and was succeeded by the late Hon. J. G. Ross. The deceased was also a brother of William Price, M.P.P. for Chateaufort and Saguenay. In 1895 he received the honorary degree of D.C.L. from Bishop's College, Lennoxville. He was always looked to as a leader of every-thing conducing to the prosperity of Quebec.

The Parisian in Trouble. Montreal, Sept. 1.—An accident occurred to the Parisian, which left port yesterday morning with a full cargo and passenger list. While passing through the St. Mary's current, the Allan Linder's steering gear jammed, and losing control, she was driven into the wharf, where she was damaged.

Major Foranetti. Major Foranetti, who was governor of the Cherche Midi Prison during the time Dreyfus was imprisoned there, and who testified in behalf of Dreyfus, declaring that he never heard of the confession next witness called. He repeated his testimony that he had frequently met Captain Lebrun-Renaud and Captain D'Atel, and that neither of them ever alleged the alleged confession. The witness declared that he only met Captain Lebrun-Renaud when he was speaking to the witness (Major Foranetti) and that he never saw Captain D'Atel.

Major Pages Goes to Quebec. Kingston, Ont., Sept. 1.—Major Pages returned yesterday from Quebec. Asked about his reported removal to Quebec, he stated that it was quite true. Major Hudson of "B" Battery will be here in the course of a few days, and Major Pages will hand over to him the command and the stores of the battery here. On account of Major Pages speaking the two languages, his services in Quebec will be of great value on the staff.
