Suggested to Mrs. B. B. Barnard.
A son of Charles Bullock of Calais disappeared the night that John Wood's house and barn were burned and had not been seen since. Some bones were found in the ruins of Wood's barn which are thought to be those of a man. Young Bullock's parents fear that he was burned in the barn. He was at his way home from town, where he had been on a spree.

Election of Officers.
At the regular weekly meeting of Albany Lodge Tuesday evening, the following officers were elected for the coming year: Chief Templar, R. H. Mackay; Vice Templar, J. M. Davies; Secretary, Sister A. Pond; Financial Secretary, Jas. Wilson; Treasurer, J. H. B. Beattie; Chaplain, H. L. Conthard; Marshal, Charles Gray; Grand, R. O'Connor; Sentinel, J. R. Haines.

The Boyer monument fund.
It is proposed to erect a suitable monument at the grave of the late Rev. A. B. Boyer, of Balmain, India. Contributions are solicited. They may be sent to the editor of the Intelligencer, and they will be acknowledged in the paper as received. It is believed that many will desire to help erect a modest stone at the grave of the beloved brother who gave his life to the mission work. Already $22.25 have been received.

A Success.
The illustrated historical lectures by Mr. John A. Nyholm in the City Hall Monday and Tuesday evening drew large houses and pleased everybody, being one of the most magnificently illustrated lectures ever given in the city. Mr. Nyholm will visit this city again next year, when his subject will be "The City of New York, its Streets and Byways." He will be heartily welcomed on his return.

Where the Cat Cost.
"Say, old man, where did you get that overcoat made? It fits you as if you had been made to order." "That's a fact, I never had a better fitting coat, and I bought it ready made at C. H. Thomas & Co., 224 Queen Street, for seven dollars and fifty cents, and they have them there in the 'Frederick Globe' shop." "Where I got my pointer, and I saved about seven dollars by it. That's the place to buy overcoats cheap."

Don't Like the Fair Sex.
S. J. Austin, a White's Cove, N. B. bachelor, has some very peculiar animals. He is the owner of a very fine large white rabbit named 'discriminating'. It will meet and pass a woman without showing fear. It is with great difficulty that Mr. Austin can get the animal to meet or pass a woman. He is greatly terrified at the sight of the fair sex. His cat and poultry are endowed with the same instinct, the latter especially. At the sight of a woman, they will fly for refuge and scream as though being pursued by a hawk.—Descon.

The rebuilding of the lumber mill of the St. Lawrence Lumber Company at Bathurst, began last Wednesday and will be rapidly pushed forward during the winter. The work is under the superintendence of Malcolm Currie of Hamilton, Me., and it is expected that everything will be in readiness for sawing by the opening of navigation in the spring. The new structure will be fitted up in a fast and clean manner and will be one of the finest in New Brunswick.

William Lawson was arrested by Detective King at St. John on suspicion of having broken into the store occupied by Messrs. Dinsell Bros., on Union street. The robbery took place late Wednesday night, or early Thursday morning, the chief suspect being the person who was seen leaving the store with a bag of goods, for which he must have had a key. About $5.50 was abstracted from the till, but none of the stock was stolen. The case was placed in Detective King's hands Thursday morning. The only clue was a 25c. piece missing from the stolen cash. It was secured heavily on both sides. The detective soon found that Lawson had changed this piece in Messrs. A. Chipman Smith & Co.'s drug store. His suspicious thus verified, he arrested him and took him up.

THE QUEBEC STEEL.
Merchandise Tolls How the $200,000 Was Distributed.

Quebec, Oct. 28. John J. McDonald, contractor, testified before the commission today that he had offered to build the road for $450,000 (1) less than the sum being received by the Cooper syndicate; and he also reaffirmed his former statement to the effect that he had told the Pasqua he was to receive $50,000, and the latter had replied it was not too much.

Count Morrice's examination was also begun and he skinned lightly over the whole case. He scarcely denied anything of importance, and his cross-examination by Mr. Casgrain is expected to be of great interest.

The following is a summarized statement of the distribution of the $200,000.

CURED AGAINST HIS WILL.

After Ten Years of Suffering a Hamilton Man is Restored to Health.

A Case Miraculously the Marvellous Cure of John Marshall.

Hamilton Times, Saturday, Oct. 24th.

"A good name is more to be desired than great riches." The truth of this scripture quotation is proven every day. Once a person is cured of a disease, he achieves a good name in his own mind, and is short and sure, but to achieve a good name is quite a different thing. Not many months ago the Times brought to light one of the most marvellous cures that has ever been effected. Mr. John Marshall, after being for years afflicted with locomotoria, supposed to be incurable, and after having been paid $1,000 from the Royal Templars as being totally disabled for life, was permanently cured by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Mr. Marshall may be seen on the streets any day, a strong, healthy man, with no trace of his old trouble. The case gave Pink Pills a name throughout the length and breadth of the land, and vastly increased sales of the remedy followed. The results are being seen on all sides now in wonderful cures wrought.

The Times came across two yesterday. At No 188 York street, W. J. C. Clark, who is employed in Messrs. John Cahler & Co.'s clothing manufactory, was seen at his residence and was pleased with the opportunity of seeing a good word for the remedy that had put him in a position to enjoy life, after ten years of affliction. Mr. Clark is a young man of intelligence, and told the story of his case in an interesting manner. "Ten years ago," he said, "I got a very heavy cold, which settled in the lungs, and my back and legs ever since, up to a short time ago, defied all the remedies I could hear of and the skill of many doctors. At times I was so bad that I could not work and was seldom free from pain, whether standing, sitting, walking or lying. The only thing that gave me relief was when I got from a heretofore. For two weeks it relieved me and then the pains returned. I got more herbs, but whether they were the same or not, I can't say, but I got no more relief from herbs. Turpentine applied on hot cloths and taken internally gave me no relief for a while, but I gave it up. Several doctors examined me and said, 'Oh, it's nothing! They gave me medicine which would make me all right, right, but it didn't. After almost ten years of doctoring I came to the conclusion I would never be cured, and tried to resign myself to my lot. Some months ago I went into the country to see my father. He said to me, 'Will, I have something here I want you to try. It is called Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I tried to give you some, but I was afraid you would throw them out the door.'"

"I took them for my sake, Will," he said, "and I said I would do anything for him, though I had no faith in them—they are not worth that, I said, snapping my fingers."

"I took the box and really felt better. I gave me an appetite, at any rate and lessened the pain. So I used to stop. That is over three weeks ago, and I am now well and strong. The pain is all gone and I do my work like a new man. I am now working overtime until 10 o'clock, and stand it well. I have gained in weight and feel better in every way. It was no case of faith, cure with me, for I had no faith in the pills at all. I was cured by my own will, but I took Pink Pills to build up the system, and says he is much better, he certainly looks it."

"Yes," remarked Mr. Clark as the Times reporter was withdrawing, "any one who may have, and if you see any one who has been cured of locomotoria, or any other disease, let them try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills just mind him to me."

Another Case.
Mr. James Wright, No. 1294 Bay street north, is another of the great army of cures. For a year he has been afflicted with diabetes, but was restored to health under the attention of Dr. Anderson.

The disease, however, left behind it a fearful state of nervousness, debility, loss of sleep, loss of appetite, and loss of weight in the arms and head, which times drove Mr. Wright frantic. From 115 pounds he came down to 110. He was well acquainted with Mr. Marshall and knew of his trouble. Hearing of his cure he decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

After taking one box, all these troubles began to vanish and eleven boxes completely cured him, appetite returned and sleep was no longer a stranger to him. In two months he recovered eighteen pounds of his lost flesh and is still gaining. Mr. Wright is now as good as new and is able to do his work as well as ever.

In connection with the wonderful cures resulting from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, it must be gratifying to Canadians to know that they are the discovery of a Canadian doctor, a graduate of Edinburgh University.

Doctors the great cures effected in medicine have come to us from abroad, but Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have conquered disease hitherto declared by the works of specialists as incurable, and are curing the wants incident to various mental, nervous or excessive of whatever nature. They stimulate the system, build anew the blood, and restore shattered nerves, removing the fruitless causes of premature decay and insanity. They are also a specific for the peculiar to women, such as suppression, bearing down pains, displacements, uterine, etc. They are a certain remedy for headaches, dizziness, of vision, palpitation, shortness of breath, and by restoring the blood to a healthy condition, bring back strength and the glow of health, where had been pale and sallow cheeks and broken countenances.

These claims are not exaggerated, as borne out by the remarkable cures investigated by the Times, as well as by hundreds of testimonials from all parts of Canada in the possession of the proprietor.

One thing in connection with the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is comparatively light cost of treatment. They are sold in boxes (never in bulk or by the hundred), at 50 cents a box, and may be had of all dealers or direct by mail, post paid, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont., or Morrisville, N. Y.

Nine bells were killed and several matadors had narrow escapes.

The house of Farmer John Cummings, near Pentaugashene, Ont., was burned on Sunday. Three of the children perished in the flames, and the mother was probably fatally injured in rescuing one child. The children set fire to the house. The father had taken the eldest child to Sunday school and the mother was out milking.

A revolting murder was unearthed the other day in the discovery of John Whalen's mutilated body in a lonely wood in the town of Washington, Me. Officers immediately took charge of the case and arrested Wm. Coy on suspicion. During the summer Whalen had been with Coy and had been August 29 he suddenly disappeared and since then his friends have searched for him in vain.

ROUND TO DIE.
Banker Evans Shoots Himself Twice Unsuccessfully.

SUNCOCK, Oct. 18. Irving A. Evans, son of Hon. Alonzo Evans of Boston, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself at the summer residence of Byrnes Evans in Allenstown.

Boston, Oct. 18. Mr. Evans was one of the most prominent bankers in Boston and the announcement of his suicide created a sensation in the financial circles. The firm's name was Irving A. Evans & Co., with offices at 89 State street, the Fiske Building. Mr. Evans had been losing money heavily of late, and it was unable to meet his liabilities, and rather than face a financial collapse, took his life.

All banks, it is said, have at least 20 per cent margin on their loans to Evans & Co., and the losses on the contracts in both the New York and Boston exchanges will show a surplus for the firm. Mr. Evans has of late been so dependent over his losses in the stock market as to have been mentally unbalanced.

SUNCOCK, Oct. 17. The news of the suicide of Banker Irving A. Evans created a genuine sensation in this little mill town and the matter has been the prevailing topic of conversation ever since its occurrence. Evans was known here as a boy, but of late years he had been lost sight of in his movements in big financial circles in Boston. A Mirror report was early on the scene of the tragedy and learned its facts and particulars as follows: Evans came to the old family homestead, known as the Mary E. Evans place, Monday morning unexpected and unannounced. His wife followed him on Tuesday. He was nervous and irritable all the week, and on Thursday received a telegram from Boston which decided him to return to the Hub Friday morning. A team was to take Mr. and Mrs. Evans that morning to Suncock to take the train and they arose early and after drinking a little coffee Mr. Evans went out alone. He walked up and down the driveway for a little while, and then returned to the house, and going down the road about 300 feet to an old schoolhouse found him in the yard lying on his back bleeding fearfully. Her husband brought the inmates of the house to the scene, and it was found that Evans had a knife in his hand, placed a revolver to his right breast and fired two shots, one above and the other below the heart. The dying man recovered consciousness in a moment or two and tried twice unsuccessfully to rise. He was then carried into the house, but utterly refused to allow anything to be done for him, and died two hours later, having literally bled to death. He was determined to die and would not listen to any attempts to save his life.

HACKED TO PIECES.
Farmer Whalen, Murdered and Horribly Mutilated.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Oct. 20.—Wm. Coy this morning confessed to the murder of John Whalen, whose body was found buried on a mountain side at Washington last Tuesday. Coy says that he learned last August that Whalen had planned to elope with Mrs. Coy. On the night of Saturday, August 29, he found Whalen's trunk in his room. He opened and discovered his wife's clothing in it. While examining the trunk Whalen came in and a quarrel arose between the two men. This was between 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning. Whalen stepped outside and returned with an axe and a club. He struck Coy with his fist, knocking him down, and then seized the axe and struck twice at him. Coy grappled with him and succeeded in getting possession of the axe. Whalen seized the club and as he tried to strike Coy the latter hit him with the axe, smashing his skull. Whalen died. Coy then defiled the cutting up of Whalen's body and his carrying it up the mountain and burying it. He declares that he killed Whalen in self defense and exonerates George Kelly and his carrying it up the mountain and burying it. He admitted that Whalen had given him money in consideration of his saying nothing about Whalen's intimacy with Mrs. Coy. Coy's story contradicts many of his previous statements.

DIABETES FINE.
Halifax Sufferer Another Loss From Fire of About $40,000.

Early Tuesday morning the slight watchman in James Dempster & Co.'s planing mill discovered a fire in the mill's short distance from the boiler room. Something being wrong with the alarm it was half an hour before the fire was discovered before the engines were on hand, and the fire had made such headway that the whole sky was brilliantly illuminated. The battle with the flames had lasted less than two hours when the whole rear of the mill and the wooden proprietor immediately to the north and south were in flames. The fire was discovered before the origin of the fire. This is the third time they have been burned out. They estimate the loss at $25,000. The only insurance on the mill was $5,000 in the Queen office. The total loss will amount to about $40,000.
