ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 26, 1902.

JOHN WESLEY.

In all the Methodist churches yesterday notice was taken of the anniversary of the birth of John Wesley, two hundred years ago. This remarkable evangelist and organizer has his monument in one of the largest protestant churches, but the effect of his preaching, writing and pastoral work went far further than the bounds of his own societies. John Wesley desired to quicken the spiritual life of the church in which he was born, and to whose ministry he had been called. Whatever may be said on the question of his attitude toward the Church of England in his last years, there is no doubt that during the greater part of his life John Wesley hoped that the Methodist societies would recognize and be recognized by the Church of England. Some of the preachers who were closely associated with the Wesleys retained their regular connection with the Anglican church. Vast numbers of the Methodist converts and members of the Methodist churches became communicants of the Church of England, as John Wesley, during the greater part of his ministry desired them to be. The work of Wesley and his associates within the Church of England in stimulating its religious life, then at almost its lowest ebb, has sometimes been overlooked. John Wesley would have made a great Episcopal bishop, but the church did not recognize its opportunity, and he became another kind of a bishop. The separation as it finally came, was forced upon him, if the work that had been begun abroad was to be continued, and if the societies which had been organized at home were to go on and fulfill their mission. But he himself was not a sectarian, and if he were alive today he would be less concerned to know how many Methodists were in the world, than to see whether the societies were fulfilling their mission to spread scriptural holiness throughout the land.

The case of Milligan versus Crockett has ended and the Rotherhays forgers have not been discovered. But it has been discovered that certain men of influence in Kings County politics have an objection to giving evidence. It is also evident that Solicitor General McKeown is not more anxious than the attorney general that the facts concerning the crime should be brought to light. The conspiracy which produced that remarkable forgery has apparently led to several other conspiracies for the suppression of the facts.

The Telegraph does not know what the government plan is in respect to the trans-continental railway. In the meantime the Telegraph has no preference but cheerfully announces that "when the government is prepared to announce its plans, they will, we are sure, be acceptable to the country."

It is certain that they will be acceptable to the Telegraph so long as that journal gets $10,000 a year from the railway department.

The Ottawa correspondent of the government organs say that the conservatives greatly fear Mr. Sifton. This is quite true. The conservatives could not review the record and notice the methods of Mr. Sifton without apprehension for the future. Some liberals also are afraid.

George Eliot has said that "a difference of taste in jokes is a great strain on the affections." This strain is likely to arise when men appear at the polling booth and offer as a joke to vote in the name of other men. That indicates an abnormal sense of humor.

Mr. Milligan thinks that he could name ten men who would include the Rotherhays forgers. He wouldn't for $1000 be regarded as one of them. Who are they?

The Toronto Presbyterian has discovered that "Mr. Stratton does not appear to be a man of high moral ideas." That is a mild way of putting it.

Who forged the Rotherhay list? Who induced Revisor and Councillor Gilliland to disregard the summons of the court?

Watch and see how many new government contracts go to Revisor Gilliland in preference to lower tenderers.

The way of the transgressor is easy.

JOHN STEERS.

John Steers died Saturday at his residence, Duke street, West Side. Heart failure was the cause. Mr. Steers leaves, besides his wife, a grown-up family of sons and daughters.

$1,000 DAMAGES.

The Milligan-Crockett libel case was finished on Saturday, the jury bringing in a verdict of $1,000 damages against Mr. Crockett on the charge of libelling Mr. Milligan.

THIS EVENING.

May Nannery in the Opera House.

Baseball—Clippers v. Y. M. C. A. on Victoria grounds.

MORNING'S N W.

LOCAL.

The Royal Canadian Yacht Club boats had a fine outing Saturday. Some of the larger ones carried big parties of lady and gentlemen friends of the owners.

Loyalist, of the Furness line, from this port, left Halifax Saturday for London. The Evangeline of the same line left London yesterday for Halifax and St. John.

Capt. Wm. McAllister here Saturday in command of the Eastern liner State of Maine. Capt. Thompson will go on the St. Croix.

Str. Fenchurch sailed Saturday at noon for Brown Head for orders. She is a coal-burner.

Str. Davenport arrived Saturday evening from Boston to load deals for the U. K.

The Furness liner Gulf of Venice, Capt. Cook, sailed yesterday for London via Halifax.

Court Log Cabin, I. O. F., has elected the following delegates to the high court to meet at Moncton on July 3: James E. Arthur, F. W. Jenkins, J. S. Seaton and J. V. Russell.

Robert McAllister fell in a fit on Main street yesterday afternoon and struck his face on the pavement. A bad gash was cut in his chin and he was taken into Dr. Christie's office for treatment.

By permission of Lieut. Col. Sturdee and officers of the 6th Fusiliers, the band of the regiment will play at St. Peter's church garden party on Dominion Day. There will be a long series of games and sports on the grounds by American and home talent. See advt.

The members of the Natural History Society held the last of their weekly outings in the Park on Saturday afternoon. The outing was a most enjoyable one, the members studying the plants with Dr. Hay as a guide. These gatherings, it is hoped, will be resumed after the summer holidays, when several field meetings will be held.

The death occurred yesterday of William John Addison, in the 62nd year of a life almost all of which was spent as an invalid. He leaves two brothers, Edward of this city and Thor, D. of Boston, and four sisters, Miss Rachel of Connecticut, Miss Edith of Weymouth, Mrs. Annie Hall of Taunton, Mass., and Mrs. Moore of Montreal. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 15 Meadow street, at 2:30 p. m. today and will be officiated by Rev. Mr. St. John.

At St. Joseph's hall, Sydney street, on Tuesday evening, the Saint Vincent's Alumnae Association will be "at home" to the graduating class of St. Vincent's High School, Sydney street. A first reception given by the society since its formation, and the members are looking forward to the event. An interesting musical and literary programme has been arranged.

Police Sergeant Hipworth on his vacation, and Policeman George Corbett is doing coast duty in the sergeant's place. Policeman Reay has been transferred to the northern division, to fill the vacancy made by the transfer of Policeman Corbett. Sergeant Henry McPatrick has gone on his vacation, and Policeman John Smith is doing sergeant's duty on the northern division.

The Beulah Camp meetings will commence at Brown's Mills, near the river, on Saturday, July 4. Rev. B. Corradine, D. D., of St. Louis, Mo., a celebrated evangelist and author, will be the chief speaker.

SYDNEY STARTS ON ANOTHER BOOM.

HALIFAX, June 27.—"Sydney has experienced a slight depression," says a local paper, "but she is shaking it off and is now about to enter on the most prosperous summer of her history."

This is about the way a number of prominent Sydney business men, who were in the city this week, expressed themselves in regard to the commercial life of the city. "The cause of the depression," they said, "is partly due to the loss of a number of citizens who have speculated rather too freely in stocks, but principally to the general feeling of anxiety that was felt, for a time, however unjustly, as to the fate of our great industry. This feeling affected all classes and especially the employees of the mills, who, with the possibility of losing their positions before them were more canny than usual in their spending. As a result money did not circulate as freely as it was wont to and a slight slackening off in trade was noticeable. With the practical assurance of government aid, however, this feeling of anxiety has vanished. It is generally believed, also, that James Ross will in future devote a large part of his time to the affairs of the company. He is thought to have his Scotch raised by recent events and to be determined to make a success of the undertaking of which he is at the head. In the meantime Mr. Dugan is giving good, but principally to the general feeling of anxiety that was felt, for a time, however unjustly, as to the fate of our great industry. In the meantime Mr. Dugan is giving good, but principally to the general feeling of anxiety that was felt, for a time, however unjustly, as to the fate of our great industry. This feeling affected all classes and especially the employees of the mills, who, with the possibility of losing their positions before them were more canny than usual in their spending. As a result money did not circulate as freely as it was wont to and a slight slackening off in trade was noticeable. With the practical assurance of government aid, however, this feeling of anxiety has vanished. It is generally believed, also, that James Ross will in future devote a large part of his time to the affairs of the company. He is thought to have his Scotch raised by recent events and to be determined to make a success of the undertaking of which he is at the head.
