The Hon. and Reverend Lord Augustus Fitz-Clarence has made a present to the Church of Amherst, N. S., a magnificent Communion Table Cloth, of crimson silk velvet, circumvested with a band of woven gold, and ornamented in the centre with Scripture devices, exquisitely wrought in silver and gold. The cloth is accompanied by two volumes of Altar Services, bound and printed in a most superb style, and bearing an appropriate inscription. This beautiful gift arrived in the last steamer from England.

By Proclamation in the last Royal Gazette, the Legislature of this Province is prorogued to the 19th January next, then to meet for the dispatch of business.

It is stated in the London papers that Sir Henry Pottinger is to demand from the Chinese as the basis of a treaty of peace, "the opening of the China ports to all European nations," thereby excluding the Americans.

We rather guess brother Jonathan will think their exclusion from participating in the privileges granted to other Nations "tarnation hard." In sober seriousness we will tell him the reason.—There was a time when England looked upon the United States as one of the civilized nations of the earth, and treated her as such; extending to her the right hand of fellowship, and would gladly have continued to do so up to this period, had not the fallen state of the "Sovereign People" rendered it not only impolitic, but unjust in regard to her political relations with the other nations of the earth. Sovereign Republicans may stand aghast at this charge against their "people," and lest they may be inclined to dispute the correctness of our position, we will help their memory to a few of their national picadilles. First then we would point to the cowardly, treacherous and ungenerous act of declaring war with England when the whole of the nations of the Earth were leagued against her, under the shallow pretence that the "right of search" which England put in practice, and which she now pows practice, and which she will continue to practice, was an indignity to which they as a nation could not submit. And how did that unprincipled act terminate? why as it began, by America being compelled to forego her unrighteous pretensions—and when England had settled her differences with all other nations, and found America at her feet, and at her mercy, how did she treat her? did she say die villain for thy perfidy? No, but she stretched forth her mighty arm, raised her and forgave her. "England conquers to save." Again we would point to their treachery, faithlessness, and brutally barbarous conduct on the Canada border. When the Arsenals of America were thrown open to supply a horde of murderers with missiles of destruction, and when those miscreant monsters in human shape, under cover of night, murdered in cold blood and without discrimination innocent babes and helpless women, and fired their habitations in the most rigorous season of the year. How did America, that boasted land of freedom act in this business? why she sheltered and aided secretly the butcheries of those lawless demons; and so far degraded themselves as a nation, (in order to escape the just vengeance of England) as to acknowledge that they had not the power to control their people, or to enforce their laws. Again recently in the State of Mississippi, the trifling sum of $200,000,000, lent them by the good natured simpletons of England, has formed a subject of debate in the State Legislature, which body are equally divided as to the justice (American justice be it remembered) of cheating the parties who in a luckless hour placed confidence in a people utterly devoid of all principle. It has also been acknowledged, and boasted of by the American prints, that the whole of their Banking system of that country, both Governmental as well as individual has been an organized system of fraud of the blackest character. How then we ask can America expect to be classed with civilized nations, or treated with by them? Her national character, or rather her want of it, has become notorious, and her perfidy and faithlessness proverbial.

Should any civilized nation henceforth attempt to treat with her, what guarantee can her authorities give that the "sovereigns" will allow them to keep their faith.—In all future treaties with America, let the contracting parties fully understand that it is not with a Plenipotentiary they have to arrange, but with 11 milligns of visionaries, whose caprice at any moment can revoke all treaties, and whose lawless propensities, and utter disregard even of their own choice of officers, would cause them to think it sport to tar and feather or flay and roast them into submission to the wills of eleven millions of infallible Sovereigns. This then is the reason, and a just one too, why England cannot permit America to participate in the privileges she grants to nations who have faith in treaties and reverence for authorities.

Hoax.—An infamous hoax has been played on our Western neighbours by some unknown hand, who professed to give an account of a skirmish which he stated to have taken place between the British and American troops on the Disputed Territory. As our readers may wish to see the invention, we copy the article, which was published in an extra of the Boston Mail:—

"On the morning of the 27th of November, Captain Kennedy, commanding at Fish River, received a note from an individual calling himself Major Stockburton, of her Majesty's Royal 68th Regt. ordering him to abandon the post within twenty-four hours, and repair to that part of the country heretofore under the jurisdiction of the United States.

Captain K. returned an answer refusing peremptorily to leave his post until ordered to do so by the power which placed him there. The British major replied that he should take immediate measures to remove him, peaceably if he could, forcibly if he must. Accordingly, on the afternoon of the same day, placing himself at the head of a battalion of troops, which were in the town of Madawaska, and recently from the Fort at Temiscouta Lake, he proposed to carry his threat into execution.

When his men were within a few hundred yards of the American encampment they were discovered by the sentinels, and ordered to halt, which refusing to do, the troops were paraded, their muskets loaded with ball cartridges, and they were ordered to remain silent till the intention of the enemy was made known, which was done by the discharge of a musket, the ball from which passed through Captain Billing's left hand.

Captain K., then ordered his men to fire, which they did, killing or wounding some half dozen. The British then retreated about one hundred yards, loaded, as is supposed, and again advanced, discharging their muskets without doing any mischief, our men being protected by their log-house or fort.

After this discharge they advanced in quick time, our men reserving their fire until they were within two or three rods of the fort, when they fired upon them killing and wounding some 20 or 30. The British scattered in confusion, and ran some one way and some another, save one officer who vainly endeavoured to rally them, who was shot.

They returned from whence they came. Our company lost but one man killed, and four wounded, one supposed mortally. This act of British aggression in time of peace, calls loudly for satisfaction. The company of troops stationed at Fort Fairfield, are probably at Fish River before this, and Colonel Pierce, who commands at Houston, has sent two companies from that fort."

Loss of the Steamship Savannah.—A letter received in New-York from Mr. Phillips, the mate, gives information that the steamship Savannah, Capt. B. Crane, which sailed thence on the 26th ult. was totally lost off Cape Hatteras in a severe gale, on Sunday night, the 28th. She sunk immediately. The letter was written on board the brig Rowena, lying off Cape May. It adds,—"We have succeeded in reaching the brig Rowena, bound to Philadelphia," and gives the following names of the persons saved: Capt. Crane, lady and son; Mr. Phillips, mate; the steward and his wife; Lydia, the chambermaid: Mrs. Moore, Mr. Murray, and Mr. Harth, (supposed passengers); and two firemen—in all, twelve. The Commercial says—Upon this we infer that these were all on board the boat. The Savannah had four large and substantial boats, and we presume they divided the passengers and crew equally. It is supposed that there were on board the packet, when she left New-York, between thirty and forty persons. There were only six or eight passengers. The Savannah was put up in handsome style, to run between New-Orleans and Galveston, Texas. She was commanded by Capt. Crane, well known as the navigator of the iron steamer Stockton across the Atlantic, some two years ago. She was owned by Charles Morgan, John Haggerty, and Capt. Crane, and was valued at about $20,000. No insurance.—Boston Courier.

From Buenos Ayres.—Bark Cowper, Captain Upton, from Buenos Ayres, October 2, arrived at this port yesterday. By her we have received the British Packet of October 2, which, however, contains nothing respecting the operations of the hostile naval forces of Buenos Ayres and Montevideo.—The Packet says—

"The last accounts from the interior left General Oribe within twelve leagues of the capital of Tucuman, a squadron of his under the command of Col. Lagos having completely routed a division of 400 men of the revolutionary troops. Private letters would lead to the belief that Lavalle had abandoned the territory of the Republic.

General Pacheo, in conjunction with the division of Cuyo, was in pursuit of La Madrid, whose march appears to be in the direction of Mendoza. The vanguard under the command of General Benavides and Colonel Flores, was already harrassing his rear. Intelligence of important results is, therefore, hourly expected."—Ib.

PRAYER AND THANKSGIVING OF THE JEWS.

The following is a form of prayer and thanksgiving of the Jews, which was on Sunday used at the different synagogues throughout Great Britain, in the Hebrew language, on the accouchement of her Majesty the Queen, and the happy birth of a prince royal;—

O Lord God, King of Kings and Lord of Lords, whose dominion is everlasting, in Thy great goodness dost Thou bestow Thy kindness on all the inhabitants of the universe; through Thee kings reign and princes administer justice; on them hast Thou placed the kingly diadem; with songs of thanksgiving do we approach Thee, and with praise and blessings for Thy favour shown to us, that Thou hast vouchsafed to visit our Sovereign Lady the Queen Victoria with mercy and salvation. Thou givest to the weary strength and to the feeble power. In her travail Thy help was nigh. Thou didst release her in safety from her suffering and hast granted unto her a son. O Lord, bestow on him length of days in health and prosperity, and may his name be praised and extolled; and as Thou poured water upon the thirsty soil, and floods upon the dry ground, so abundantly grant to him the spirit of wisdom and understanding, the spirit of counsel and of might. Thou O Lord, will be with him for ever. Amen.

Most High King, whose eyes are upon all created beings, as Thou hast in Thy goodness given the kingly crown to our Gracious Queen Victoria, so continue to bestow upon her Thy favour to strengthen her, and may her throne be established in mercy and in kindness; may her days be prolonged and her reign be continued in happiness; may the sceptre not depart from her posterity; and shield her and her offspring, and be to them a guard from all evil; may peace reign in their habitation and tranquility in their dwellings, and may the bounty of the Lord be on them. Amen. Let thy blessing attend his Royal Highness Prince Albert, the illustrious consort of our most gracious queen; may he live to behold his descendants to the third and fourth generations flourishing and populous in the fullness of Thy bounty. Amen.

Quebec, Nov. 29.

The General Post Office and nearly all its contents were this morning destroyed by fire—indeed nothing was saved except a portion of the contents of the Sorting Room. The Accounts and Records of every description have been burnt. The fire, which appears to have originated over the Messenger's Room, burst out at two o'clock. The whole upper part of the building was filled by fire and smoke by the time the alarm was given, and nothing escaped destruction but the Letters and Papers in the Sorting Room."
