INDIGESTION CAN BE CURED.

An Open Letter from a Prominent Clergyman.

C. GATES, SON & CO.,
Middleton, N. S.

Dear Sirs,—Please pardon my delay in answering yours of weeks ago. Yes, I have no hesitation in recommending your Invigorating Syrup.

During the fall and winter of '96 and '97 I was greatly distressed with indigestion. I tried several remedies, each of which gave me no relief. I was advised to try your Invigorating Syrup, which I readily did, and have felt grateful ever since to the one who gave such good advice. The very first dose helped me, and before half of the first bottle was used I was completely cured. Have not been troubled with the disease since. I have taken occasion to recommend your medicine publicly upon several occasions, and heartily do so now. You are at liberty to use this in any way you please.

Yours truly,
Pastor Baptist Church, Bridgetown, N. S.

Useful Hints.

Various useful hints for the household are found in the current number of the Housekeeper, and almost every family will find some of these immediately useful.

To remove walnut and fruit stains from the fingers dip them in strong tea, rubbing the nails well with it. Wash off in warm water; the stains come out instantly.

Tar, varnish, and fir balsam may be removed from hands or clothing by rubbing well with lard and then thoroughly washing in soap and water.

Russet shoes may be kept clean and shining by rubbing them with a slice of banana and polishing with a cloth.

Tarnished gold embroidery may be cleansed by dipping a brush in pulverized and burned alum, then brushing the embroidery thoroughly.

Perfumed oil, such as olive oil, sprinkled on library shelves, will prevent mold on books.

Mud stains can be removed from black goods by rubbing them with raw potato.

The juice of a raw onion applied to the sting of an insect will remove its poison.

Cane chair seats that have sagged may be made as tight as ever by washing them in hot soapuds and leaving to dry in the open air.

To make paper stick to a wall that has been whitewashed, wash in vinegar or strong soda water.

Old, loose kid gloves, worn when ironing, will prevent many callous places on one's hands.

Cocoonut oil is a pleasant as well as an effective help for many pains the flesh is heir to, such as stiff neck, lame shoulders, dry, fevered skin, colds, inactive kidneys, etc. It is highly recommended for use by persons having weak lungs.

A few drops of ether dropped into a bottle of oil will prevent its becoming rancid for a long time.

Cut a raw potato in half, rub quickly over the surface of an oil painting, after which polish with a silk handkerchief to remove dust and dirt.

Add a drop or two of oil to the shoe blacking to prevent the leather from cracking. It is also fine to use on lamp boots or shoes.

To polish patent leather, remove every particle of dust, and apply a mixture of one part linseed oil to two parts cream. It should be well mixed and applied with a flannel. Rub leather well with a soft, dry cloth.

Apply magnesia to the wrong side of silk to remove the grease spots.

Some other suggestions come from a domestic science teacher of large experience. To keep the nickel utensils of the bath-room bright, they may be rubbed with a paste made from whiting and lard, moistened with a little alcohol or ammonia. Aluminum does not readily tarnish, and is easily kept bright with whiting, or with any of the fine pastes used for silver.

How to Wash Flannels.

A writer in the Evening Post says: "To shake flannels thoroughly lessens the difficulty of washing them. An expert in laundering flannels advises the soaking of those that are very much soiled, for half an hour, in a strong solution of soap water that is lukewarm and contains a tablespoonful of powdered borax. The vessel should be covered to hold such heat as the water possesses. After soaking, squeeze and pull gently between the hands, immersing frequently, taking care only that no soap is rubbed on the flannels and that no board is used with them. If very much soiled, they should be washed through two soapy waters kept at the same temperature, then rinsed through two more clear, but no cooler waters. It is better, after pressing out as much water as is possible, to shake them for the riddance of further moisture. If they are passed through the wringer they should be smoothly laid, and not subjected to the greatest pressure of the rollers. Dry them in the house, or in a bright, breezy air. They should be very lightly pressed in ironing."

Chinese Dressmakers.

The Woman's Home Companion gives an interesting account of a Chinese tailor and his usual fidelity in following a model set before him: "The sewing as well as dressmaking, is all done by men tailors in China. There are many amusing stories told of them as copyists of the American's way of making up garments. A friend had need of a dozen undergarments. As she came over on shipboard a button was lost, and an exceedingly clumsy and ugly one replaced the lost one, which was of pearl. On reaching Shanghai she desired a tailor to copy from this garment, which was placed in his hands as a model. He brought the garments, exquisite creations in lace and tucked muslin, and each of the dozen adorned with a button exactly like the one on the sample garment. Upon having his attention called to the ugly button, his reply was, 'Likee Missy,' and he was greatly disappointed that his efforts to please were not appreciated. He had spent many hours in search for 'likee' buttons, and no doubt was greatly disgusted with the unreasonableness of the foreign lady."

Dyspepsia's Victims.

THE CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE AND HOW TO OVERCOME IT.

It Frequently Produces Headache, Heartburn, Dizziness and Other Distressing Symptoms—A Victim Tells of Her Release.

From the Telegraph, Quebec.

The primary cause of indigestion or dyspepsia is lack of vitality; the absence of nerve force; the loss of the life-sustaining elements in the blood. No organ can properly perform its functions when the source of nutrition fails. When the stomach is robbed of the nutriment demanded by nature, assimilation ceases, unnatural gases are generated and the entire system responds to the discord.

A practical illustration of the symptoms and torture of dyspepsia is furnished by the case of Mrs. A. Labonte, who lives in the village of Stadacona, Que. When interviewed by a reporter of the Quebec Telegraph, Mrs. Labonte looked the picture of vigorous health, showing no traces of the malady that had made her life for the time miserable. Speaking of her illness, Mrs. Labonte said: "For about two years I suffered dreadfully. My digestive organs were impaired, and the food I ate did not assimilate, and left me with a feeling of flatulency, pain and acidity of the stomach, and frequently heartburn. This condition of affairs soon told on my system in other ways, with the result that I had frequent headaches, dizziness, and at times a dimness of vision with spots apparently dancing before my eyes. I became so much run down that it was with difficulty I could do my household work, and at all times I felt weak, depressed and nervous. While I was at my worst, one of my friends, seeing that the doctor was not helping me, urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. My husband then got me half a dozen boxes and I began taking them. After I had used two boxes I began to enjoy my meals and the various symptoms of my trouble began to disappear. I continued the pills until I had used the half dozen boxes, when I again felt perfectly well. My stomach was as healthy as ever it had been. I could sleep well and my head was clear and free from the dizziness and aches that so long helped make me miserable. It is more than a year since I stopped taking the pills, and health has continued better than it was for years before." Mrs. Labonte added that she will always feel grateful to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for the misery they have released her from, and she always advises friends who are ailing to use them.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure by going to the root of the disease. They renew and build up the blood, and strengthen the nerves, thus driving disease from the system. Avoid imitations by insisting that every box you purchase is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full trade mark. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.
